ARLINGTON, MASS., NOVEMBER 9, 1901.

THREE CENTS.

Exquisite Style in Dress

belongs to the man who has his clothing made to measure by an artist tatler who knows the value of perfect fit, beautiful finish and fine workmanship, and who selects his fabrics with an eye to please the taste of the well bred gentleman. "The tailor makes the man" is an old saying and we can supply all defects of form, and give you both style and satisfaction.

ALSO AGENT FOR THE

French Reform Skirt Supporter

JOHN D. ROSIE,

Merchant Tailor,

P. O. Building, Arlington. Repairing and Pressing Neatly Done.

Prevention Is Better Than Cure

It pays to keep your roofs well painted. A few gallons will save dollars. Steel, tin, canvas and paper roofs, fences, farm implements, electric poles. Black in gal. cans, 85 Cents.

STERLING RUBBER

G. W. Spaulding,

LEXINGTON.

Photographs

Arlington, Mass.

Portraits

Pictures.

Marshall & Grant.

THE WRONG WAY

to buy drugs, is the cheap way. If medicine is to cure the sick, it must be the best and purest, and skill and experience are also necessary in the art of compounding physicians' prescriptions. We are registered pharmacists and we employ registered clerks in our prescription department. There's a very pointed moral to this true tale. We simply give you our name and let you draw your own PERHAM'S Prescription Pharmacy Post Office Building, Arlington.

FRED A. SMITH, Watchmaker & Jewelei

Repairing French, Hall and American Clocks and all Grades of Watches.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED. CLOCKS CALLED FOR AND RETURNED. 489 MASSACHUSETTS AVE., - ARLINGTON.

Johnson's Arlington Express.

J. H. EDWARDS, Prop. Main Office, Monument View House.

Opp. Soldiers' Monument. Order Box Faneuil Hall Market. Baggage checked to all depots and steamboat wharves or trans ferred to destination. If you have any Expressing, Piano or Furniture 34 Court square 15 Devonshire street 36 Merchants' Row

Moving to do please give us a call. We have the largest business and can give better results than any other express in Arlington. Telephone, 13-5 Arlington

Two Trips Daily. Teams Due at 1.30 and 6.30 P. M

The Triumph of

and delicious loaves, baked here every day. We use nothing but the best flour, pure and high grade. and our bread is nourishing, wholehigh grade. and our bread is nourishing, whole-some and tempting to the most fastidious.

All of our Bakestuffs are unsurpassed for igh-grade excellency.

Our Ice Cream and Catering is the best.

N. J. HARDY,

657 Massachusetts Avenue, ARLINGTON.

HE TOOK HIS DEGREE.

Initiation Ceremony in Lexington Witnessed By Ladies-Harvard Man Gives Dissertation on "Why Does It Spin?"-His Courage Good.

Why does it spin?" was the subject of an address at a select gathering in Lexington, Thursday evening, by a Harvard college man. He gave a very able address, considering his subject, and then performed some peculiar feats by The affair was in the nature of a surprise and was very much enoyed by all except the performer.

About 8 o'clock in the evening, a young nan called at the home of one of Lexington's young ladies, why, by the way, was entertaining two other lady friends, and introduced himself by announcing that his sister had been acquainted at one time with another Lexington lady. The introduction being sufficient, the young man proceeded to enjoy himself as any other young man would under similar circumstances. Hardly had the quartet become acquainted when the doorbell rang, and two other young men were ushered into the room. They, were introduced to the first caller, and no sign of recognition passed between them. After a time, No. 2 requested No. 1 to deliver the address as stated above, which was done with as much grace as the circumstances would permit. Requests after that came thick and fast, and the performer did his best to entertain the company. He sang songs, danced, recited, gave exhibitions as best he could how he would feel and act in a railway wreck, stood in the corner to accommodate the other two young men, retired from the room as punishment for not perform until the others had been entertained to their heart's content.

Then he was ordered to come forward and assume his real role with his real name, for the cognomen he had given was declared to be false, and then the mystery which surrounded the affair was cleared away. The performer was a Harvard man who was joining a secret society connected with the coilege, called the D. U., or something to that effect, and his performance was a part of the initiation, and the other two men were officials in the order. The latter were well acquainted with the young ladies, and had, been granted permission to bring a friend with them on that occasion.

It appeared that the young man had been going through a course of "sprouts" ington's young ladies, why, by the way, was entertaining two other lady friends, bring a friend with them on that occasion.

It appeared that the young man had been going through a course of "sprouts" for the entire week, and would not be sufficiently tried until the week was up. He will, therefore, be regularly admitted to the order this evening if he has sustained the ordeal up to that time. It was stated that after he returned to college. Thursday night, he would be forced to accompany six other men to various parts of the city or outlying towns and there be submitted to other nerve-rasping ordeals. The young ladies, whose names are not disclosed for obvious reasons, were highly entertained throughout the entire performance, although their sympathy for the poor fellow could hardly be repressed.

ANNUAL POLICE BALL.

The seventh annual police ball in Arlington attracted a large number of people Wednesday evening, and the town hall where it was held was crowded. There were in attendance town officials of Arlington and police officers of neighboring towns and cities, and all were well received by the members of the Arlington Police Relief association, uder whose auspices the ball was given.
The stage was beautifully decorated with a profusion of palms, ferns and potted plants. A display of vari-colored electric lights added to the effect.
During the early hours of the evening a choice program of concert music was discoursed by Bendix's popular orchestra.

tra.
The grand march, at 9 o'clock, was led by Selectman E. S. Farmer, with Miss Katherine Russell. Next in line were Chief of Police Alonzo S. Harriman, with Miss May Donahue, Floor

CHIEF A. S. HARRIMAN, Chief Marshal, Arlington Police Bail.

Director James E. Whitten with Mrs. Whitten, followed by the other officers of the association, with their partners, and about 100 couples. and about 100 couples.

After the march a pleasing dance program of 22 numbers afforded the devotees of Terpsichore ample oportunity for enjoyment until the early morning hours. At midnight supper was served in Menotomy half

At midnight supper was served in action hall.

Chief of Police A. S. Harriman was floor marshal, James E. Whitten floor director, Andrew Irwin assistant director, and the aids were John Duffy, Charles H. Woods, Fred E. Smith and Robert Fall.

On the reception committee were Chief Harriman, John Duffy and Andrew Irwin.

win.
The committee of arrangements comprised A. S. Harriman, chairman and treasurer Charles H. Woods, secretary, Robert H. Fall, Andrew Irwin, Fred E. Smith, John Duffy and James E. Whitten.

The association will net a substantial sum from the affair, and the financial gain was equalled only by the social

James M. Thaxter, of South Framing-ham, formerly of Arlington, died Sunday, aged 80 years. He was burled in Arington Tuesday

BEST.

 Belmont and Waverley

Letters advertised at Belmont post-office, Nov. 2: Miss Mary Clark, Miss Violet Loomer, Mr. Donovan, Chas. Sawyer, Dannie Donovan (2).

Sawyer, Dannie Donovan (2).

The first debate of the Belmont High School Literary and Debating society was held in the assembly hall of the high school during the third and fourth periods, Wednesday. The subject for debate was: "Resolved that all trusts and general combinations tending to banish competition shall be ferbidden by law." Robert Ross's side had the affirmative and Olive Reed's side the negative. After the six principal debaters had read their papers the debate was thrown open to the gotety and an unusually spirited and interesting discussion followed. The judges rendered their decision in favor of the affirmative.

The Arlington Golf club observed

The Arlington Golf club observed Halloween at their clubhouse on Pleasant street. The house was filled, and various games suitable for the evening were enjoyed by the members.

The house on Leonard street recently vacated by Mr. Powers is now being occupied by James Ryan.

D. J. Moulton and family, of Myrtle street, have returned from New York state and will winter at Belmont.

Mrs. Geo. Warren, of Waltham, has been visiting, the past week, with her parents on Simond street. VOTING DAY AT BELMONT

VOTING DAY AT BELMONT.

Tuesday was a light day at the polls, as from a list of 585 but 380 votes were polled. Reuben L. Richardson, of Belmont, the Democratic candidate for senator, was defeated by Leonard B. Chandier, of Somerville, the Republican nominee. Thos. L. Creeley, of Belmont, the Republican candidate for representative to the general court, was re-elected by a combined plurality in Belmont and Watertown of 510. The vote in detail follows, the first mentioned being the successful Republican candidates:

Governor—W. M. Crane 275, J. Quincy 66.

Lieut.-Governor-J. L. Bates 264. J. W. Coughlin 65.
Secretary-W. M. Olin 270, W. B. Stone

Treasurer—E. S. Bradford 270, J. L. Chalifoux 49.
Auditor—H. E. Turner 254, J. F. Dean Attorney-General-H. Parker 251, A

Putnam 63.
Councillor—H. D. Yerxa 248, G. A. Sanderson 62.
Senator—L. B. Chandler 227, R. L. Richardson 115.
Representative to General Court—T. L. Creeley 310, J. H. McDonough 41.
County Commissioner—F. Bigelow 236, R. Lusk 19.

County Commissioner—F. Bigelow 286, R. Lusk 19.
District-Attorney—G. A. Sanderson 286, T. F. Rooney 30.
Clerk of Courts—T. C. Hurd 286, G. F. Ritchie 19.
Sheriff—J. R. Fairbairn 291, F. P. Finfegan 21.
Registered 585; votes polled 360.

PLYMOUTH CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

At the three services of the Plymouth Church. At the three services of the Plymouth Congregational church, last Sunday, by actual count there were over 300 people present. In the evening the audience room was taxed to its fullest capacity, and an interesting concert was given by the children of the Sunday school. The platform was decorated with autumn leaves, flowers, fruits and vegetables, and Mrs. S. Blaikie and Mrs. W. H. Poole had charge of the concert. It was to their efforts that much of the success of the harvest day is due. Two barrels of fruits and vegetables were shipped to the City Missionary society of Boston and distributed among the poor people. Next Sunday morning there will be a reception of members, followed by an observance of the Lord's supper. The ladles of the Aid society of the church are preparing to send a missionary barrel to a school of poor whites among the mountains of Tennessee. All articles of wearing apparel and dry groceries will be acceptable and may be sent to any one of the following houses: Mrs. Henry Wilkins, Myrtle street; and Mrs. C. B. Needham, Clematis Brook.

A free social was held in the church,

Brook.

A free social was held in the church, Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Ladles' Aid. Mrs. R. T. Brodrick, Mrs. Henry J. Wilkins, Mrs. J. W. Macurdy and Mrs. Wm. Poole had charge of the entertainment, and light refreshments were served. The room was prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns and flowers. There was a large attendance.

HARVEY-MacCABE.

An 8.15 evening wedding attracted a number of people to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. MacCabe, last week Wednesday evening, when Miss Jennie MacCabe and Arthur Embert Harvey were united in the bonds of matrimony. Though the contracting parties are were united in the bonds of matrimony. Though the contracting parties are prominent among the younger people, the ceremony was of the most simple nature, in the presence of but few relatives and intimate friends.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Geo. P. Gliman, of Waverley.

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The maid of honor. Miss Annie MacCabe, of Amherst, N. S., gowned in white muslin over blue, carried pinks. The best man was Ulysses S. Young, of Boston.

Wedding breakfast was served, and after congratulations were bestowed, the ter congratulations were bestowed, happy couple left on a wedding their whereabouts during the next days of their honeymoon being a secret.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Harvey will reside with the bride's parents on Leonard street, Belmont.

WAVERLEY.

WAVEKLEY.

Wallace H. Bate died at his home on Trapelo road, Waverley, at 2.10 Tuesday afternoon, after a lingering illness of some few months Mr. Bate was 61 years old, a Civil war veteran, serving during the war in one of the Massachusefts regiments, and was a member of post 15, G. A. R. In business, he was proprietor of the Grundy Brass works, of Boston, which business is now carried on by his son, B. B. Bate, Mr. Bate leaves a widow, three daughters, and two sons. The funeral was held at his late home at 1 o'clock yesterday, Rev. George P. Gilman officiating. The interment was at Wyoming cemetery, Melrose.

W. B. Walcott and family, who have been living in the upper tenement, cor-ner Lexington and Chandler streets, have moved to Newton.

Trapelo lodge, I. O. O. F., had a pleas-ant little extra at the meeting, Monday

(Continued on Page Five.)

the Baker's Art BUY NOTHING BUT THE IF YOU WANT ICE THAT IS PURE HANG OUT THE

BELMONT ICE CO.

W G. HADLEY, Proprietors.

STATE PRISON.

Eight to Ten Years.

ton Sentenced-His Counsel Says Swan Is Not the Only Culprit and Asserts $10,000 Is All He Took.

Roland A. Swan, of Arlington, was senenced to state prison for a term of from eight to ten years by Judge Lawton, at the superior court, in Cambridge, Wednesday morning. Thus ends the final chapter in the famous case which has tied up the town of Arlington unanciany for a time, and witnessed the assistant town treasurer go from his official staion to a term in state prison. One day will be spent in solitary confinement. When the case was called by the judge,

Counsel Richardson, for the defendant, said in substance: "My client has pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny of a much larger sum than he is really guilty of, and while I do not wish to make charges against other town officials, events will show sooner or later that Swan did not take the entire $30,000."

When Swan was brought from the jail when Swan was brought from the jail to the courthouse today he was somewhat paler than when he appeared last briday and pleaded guilty to 250 counts in the indictment charging him with larceny of town funds to the amount of $30,000. Attorney Richardson called witnesses residing in Arlington to testify to the previous good character of his client, among them Rev. Mr. Gill, pastor of the First Parish church.

Then Town Counsel W. H. H. Tuttle was called, and gave an extended account of the peculations discovered in Arlington after Swan's arrest last April. Dist. Atty. Wier then spoke very briefly, dwelling on the enormity of Swan's crime and referring to the trust that was reposed in him by the aged town clerk, whose confidence he had betrayed.

Attorney Richardson said in part: "I wish to call the court's attention to the fact that Swan never had any intention of putting the government to the expense of a trial. When accused he acknowledged he was guilty of taking some of the town's money. He went so far as to tell the chief of police that when wanted he might be found at his home.

"I do not wish at this time to accuse to the courthouse today he was some-far as to tell the chief of police that when wanted he might be found at his home.

"I do not wish at this time to accuse anyone else, but my client has pleaded guilty to larceny of a much larger sum than he really is guilty of, and future events will show what I say to be true. The whole amount of his stealings is not over $10,000. He has always believed that to be so and has always believed that to be so and has always said so. Swan had always borne a good reputation in the community until the time of his arrest. He is now 46 years old. would suggest that your honor take into consideration the fact that he placed himself in readiness to assist the town in straightening out the tangle and his willingness to abandon the right to a trial, thus saving expense. We are aware that a state prison sentence must be imposed by the court. In presenting his former good character we do so with the hope that the sentence will not be so long that the prisoner cannot by the time he reaches the age of 50, or soon after. come out into the world once more and make an effort to make a place for himself in the community."

Judge Lawton, in imposing sentence, said that he did not take into consideration the fire in the town hall, nor any suggestion insinuating that others were partially responsible for the monetary ioss of the town. It was proper for counsel for the prisoner to make public charges if he believed others were responsible. The court, however, could not take that feature into consideration.

Swan's coming forward and pleading guilty the court believed should be taken into consideration. If he had not done so the court would undoubtedly impose a severer sentence than it would do now. The judge then pronounced the sentence of not less than eight nor more than ten years in the state prison. The prisoner took the sentence coolly and was immediately removed to the fail to make preparations for his departure for Charlestown.

Among the Arlington neople at the court to witness the passing of the sentence were the Arlington se

ARLINGTON VOTE.

ARLINGTON VOTE.

The vote for governor was: Crane 516, Quincy 140, Berry (Socialist Labor) 14, Lewis (Prohibition) 9, Wrenn (Democratic Social) 4. The vote of the Republican and Democratic candidates of the remainder of the state ticket was: Lieutenant governor, Bates 509, Coughin 134; secretary, Olin 516, Stone 116; treasurer, Eradford 516, Chalifoux 114; auditor, Turner 494, Dean 121; attorney general, Parker 507, Putnam 128; councillor, Henry D. Yerxa 514, Sanderson 128; senator, Chandler 510, Richardson 156; representative, Crosby 617; county commissioner, Bigelow 549, Lusk (Democratic Social) 41, Merrili (Prohibition) 27; associate commissioners, Strange and Thompson (Republican) 461 and 419, scattering 163; district attorney, George A. Sanderson (Itepublican and Democratic) 546, scattering 71; clerk of courts, Hurd 560; sheriff, Fairbairn 560. As will be seen by the above there was nothing close enough to make an interesting election, and only 703 availed themselves of their privileges.

Before the polls opened Harvey N. Sears was elected clerk of the meeting for, as the town clerk pro tem, elected by the selectmen, he could not hold the position at the polls without a vote by the town. After the casting of ballots the polls were reopened to 2 lect a moderator. There were ballots for Warren W, Rawson and Walter A, Robinson but the friends of the former were out-generalled in the distribution of ballots and a number of men had voted before the Rawson tlekets were passed around. The result was: Robinson 37, Rawson 9, Mr. Robinson was then sworn into office and asked the voters what was their desire to do with the remaining articles in the result was: Robinson 37, Rawson 9. Mr. Robinson was then sworn into office and asked the voters what was their desire to do with the remaining articles in the warrant. William G. Peck moved that when the meeting adjourn it adjourn to meet Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock. He said he wanted an early meeting to hear the report on town affairs, and thought the meeting could not come too quickly. The vote was passed unanimously, and after the announcement of the election record the meeting adjourned.

LEXINGTON'S VERDICT.

Election day was a quiet one Tuesday in Lexington and but 366 voters attended to their public duties. Everything was one sided and no interest could be aroused by any of the committee. The vote for governor was Crane 273, Quincy 73. Berry (Sacial Labor) 4. Lewis (Prohibition) 5, Wrenn (Democrat-Social) 1. The votes for the Republican and Democratic candidates for other offices were: Lieutenant governor, Bates 273, Coughlin 69; secretary, Olin 273, Stone 66; treasurer, Bradford 272, Chalifoux 62; auditor, Turner 280, Dean 70; attorney general, Parker 271, Putnam 72; councillor, Howe 273, Fletcher 73; senator, Williams 280, Foley 73; representative, Crosby 300.

SUE TO RECOVER.

Roland A. Swan to Serve from Arlington Selectmen Advise Immediate Action.

> Former Assistant Treasurer of Arling- Lengthy Report on Town Finances Favorably Received, But Voters Want Time to Consider It-$30,000

> > The Arlington selectmen advised the town at the special meeting Thursday evening to bring suit to recover on the onds of the ex-treasurer and ex-collecor, B. Delmont Locke, to recover all osses incurred by the recent stealings for which ex-Assistant Roland A. Swan is serving sentence in state prison. The shortage so far as the selectmen have een able to trace is $30,907.21. The meetafternoon, was called to order at just 7.30 o'clock by Moderator Robinson, who nandled the affairs in perfect order and precision. His rulings were so absolutely fair and impartial that no one could criticise them in any particular.

Although the attendance was very arge, in fact so large that 200 were unable to procure seats, there was no disorder and no excitement save that which was manifest by perfect silence while Selectman Farmer read the special report of the selectmen. William G. Peck asked for the consideration of article 17, which had to deal with the existing shortage in the town's moneys, and with the suggestion of Warren W. Rawson that articles 18 and 19 be also considered at the same time, which were of a similar nature. It was so voted. Selectman Farmer then read the report from typewritten manuscript which had been carefully and thoroughly prepared.

The report reviewed the incidents connected with the fire in the town hall, April 29, 1901, and the discovery of the open safe and the absence of over $1450 in cash and checks. The finances were examined by Frank W. Hodgdon and James P. Parmenter, the latter acting for Town Treasurer B. Delmont Locke. Various demands were made upon Mr. Locke, James P. Parmenter his counsel, reported that the shortages were as follows: was manifest by perfect silence while sel, reported that the shortages were as follows:

sel, reported that the shortages were as follows:
Shortage in bank funds and various items, $7192.57; amounts paid for taxes, sewer assessments, water rates, etc., where payment has been proved, but was not credited, $19,920.96; amounts where payment is claimed but receipts have not been submitted, $2565.37; amounts claimed been paid, but receipts being lost, $1227.71; total deficit, $30,907.21.
The employment of detectives, safe expert, expert electrician and expert accountant, and the makir of the new collector's book and rewriting the same have cost the town about $300.
Oct. 26 the selectmen received the resignation of Mr. Locke as treasurer, collector and town clerk, and from all other offices heid by him, the resignation to take effect upon the appointment and qualification of his successor. The uncollected taxes amount to $22,886.01, and uncollected sewer assessments, $10,374.24.

collected taxes amount to $2,500.0, and uncollected sewer assessments, $10,374.24. All of the special funds in the hands of the treasurer have been found intact. The selectmen have appointed itarvey S. Sears town clerk, treasurer and collector, pro tem, and his bond of $20,000 will be filed at once.

The selectmen have secured the opinion of counsel that the bonds of the old collector and treasurer are 1, 2211. Ing., and have been advised to sue Bondsmen Henry J. Locke and Edward T. Hornblower, but not in advance of the town meeting. The bond of each year was for $20,000, and the amount of each bond is large enough to cover all losses. The report closed with a recommendation that the town order suit to be brought. The full text of the report will be found in the Enterprise next week.

C. T. Scannell moved the report be accepted, and this was seconded by R. B. Conant and carried, whereupon Mr. Scannell took the floor. He said he desired to offer a motion but would say previous to so doing that he was not present to "dig" anyone, but to try to find a way to solve the present difficulty, He said, "We face a solemn duty which must be performed. Let us approach it in such a manner as to allow no stigmat to rest upon Arlington's good name. Let us find out the disease and then let us determine how heroic must be its treatment. It is possible to go about this in such a way as to hold Arlington up to the world as a den of iniquity, or Tammany if you please, or it is possible to go about the sin such a way as to hold Arlington up to the condition of the treasury department and the causes leading up to the condition, in order to determine who is responsible, etc. and to also suggest a way to rectify future methods of handling the finances of the town. This was seconded by W. Rawson, who saft it was approved by the Arlington Improvement association. Mr. Conant the finance of the committee of the persons be not eligible the same individual, and that the office, if town accountant be provided with his during the finance of t adjourned meeting Monday evening. Nov. 18. This was seconded by R. J. Hardy.

Mr. Scannell said he was not to be changed in his purpose by any such talk, and while he was averse to rash action, he thought patience had been exhausted. He was voted out, however, for the motion to postpone action was carried by a vote of 120 to 47.

The proposed plan to change the name of Vine street, and that part of Appleton street near Massachusetts avenue to Paul Revere road was then brought up for action. G. W. Perkins, of Appleton street, said he had signed the petition to change the name of Vine street, but was opposed to the change in name of Appleton street. It was then voted without further discussion to change the name of Vine street as requested, but Appleton street will remain intact. It was voted to straighten the northerly boundary line between the reservoir property and the land of William H. Shay, but the motion to accept Summer street as a town way was defeated. It was also voted to refer the contract of lighting the town streets to the committee of twenty-one for consideration. The meeting then adjourned, to meet Monday evenis, Nov. 18.

William J. Daley, DDSK, of Winches-

William J. Daley, DDSK, of Wincheter, visited Arlington council, Knigh of Columbus, Thursday evening, a explained the new method of assessment

"WHAT'S IN A NAME?"

He who divided the great into three orders-those born great, those who achieve greatness and those who have greatness thrust upon them-reckoned but poorly. There is a fourth class, comprising a few who, having achieved a measure of greatness, are thrust upon with yet more.

Such men are often in their day looked upon as scourges of humanity and instruments of an evil power. One such was Alexander, the son of Philip of Macedon, born a prince, to be sure, but only of a wild region of northern Greece. His after greatness was, in achieved through indomitable will and a capacity for organization and control of men. Alexander the Great later conquered the world, carrying in his mind the great idea of Hellenizing it, of imbuing it with the spirit of Hellenic thought and civilization.

In so far he achieved greatness. But little did he think that his Hellenistic conquest, great as it was, was simply the preparation of the ground for a far greater Christian conquest to follow later. In this respect a much more significant greatness was thrust upon him. Napoleon Bonaparte, in his turn, of comparatively humble birth, achieved a greatness second only to that of Alexander. By the force of his will and the power of his imagination, with an Alexandrian dream of world-conquest, he held part of Europe in his hand and the whole in his fear. A united Germany stands as a monument to him. But his memory, and the memory of his great ness, are anathema and accursed.

The achievements of Alexander and of Napoleon were great, but they were, each in his day, assassins of thousands, and their greatness was devilish. With the adventitious greatness thrust upon them they personally had nothing to do. Providence prevails, but yet their names live and will live so long as lives the world, cursed even though they were by the men of their day.

Another of this fourth class of men has but just passed along. Of low birth, as we reckon birth, in a single second he achieved greatness of an unenviable and abhorred sort, to be sure, but yet greatness it cannot be gainsaid. So long as there is a memory of this country, so long will there be a record of its wars, for wars are the landmarks of history. So long as there is any record of the Spanish war, with its tremendous significance, so long will there be a memory of William McKinley. And with the name of McKinley must ever be linked that of his murderer. Cassius Brutus and the rest slew Caesar. Czolgosz slew McKinley. So the page must run. He slew a greater than himself, and by the act achieved greatness. The insignificant became significant.

backward, possessing the perspective of history, we can estimate exactly the greatness thrust upon Alexander and Napoleon. Who shall say how men looking at Czolgosz with our perspective towards Alexander may not regard him? Points of view change with changing He whom we execrate today the course of time, be called a martyr. Not the less should we execrate him today, however. And yet, his name, murderer though he be will doubtless live on into the ages, whether blessed or cursed of men, while we shall have been long forgotten. Providence prevails, but mysteriously.

Standing as we do with a long look

HER SLEEPING ROOM.

It was announced the other morning in one of the Boston dailies that Alice Roosevelt, President Roosevelt's eldest daughter, is to occupy the blue room in the White House, as her sleeping apartment. This announcement was made in glaring headlines, just as though it was important that the American people should learn where Miss Alice is to enjoy her fondest dreams. It is unfortunate and outside of all good taste that one high in official position cannot in his own home appropriate to himself and family that seclusion which rightfully belongs to every household. It isn't important that the American people should know where President Roosevelt's family sleep and whether they are safely "tucked up" for the night. The truth is, it is no one's business, outside of the immediate family, where they sleep. Why not allow our presidents to live their home life apart from the curious gaze of the crowd? Why should the American people always be peeking in at the windows of the White House, and this, too, in the night time?

AN ENCOURAGING SYSTEM.

The Elevated is not bound by a civil service law, in the management of its affairs, but many of its officers and employees have found that it acts upon civil service principles. The latest local illustration is the promotion of Mr. Pasho and Mr. Horgan, Mr. Pasho, formerly division superintendent, has been made superintendent of the overhead system, and Mr. Horgan will take the place left vacant by Mr. Pasho. Both men have worked their way up, step by step, and the recognition of their faithfulness and capacity will stimulate other ambitious employees to win promotions in the same way.

Why shouldn't our legislature take hold of the Boston harbor problems with some vigor? We want the steamship lines to send their biggest and best boats here, but the "Commonwealth" has recently been compelled, twice, to wait for a high tide to get up the channel. Other states do not expect the federal government to do all the work of improving harbors.

It is to be hoped that President Roosevelt will endorse his predecessor's mendation for the protection of the native Pacific races from the dangers of drink and firearms. The law came near passing the last congress, and public sentiment is steadily improving.

Every kind of business in the country showing surpassing prosperity, but Wall street has a fit of the blues and refuses to join the procession. Time was when Wall street counted for something in making national prosperity, but things have changed. Don't worry if you can't give the new names to all the old shades and colors in dress goods. You'll learn them in time. Really some of them are no improvement-lobelia instead of lilac, for instance.

The Buffalo exposition is over. It has given pleasure and profit to hundreds of thousands, and will mark an era progress. Two years hence the St. Louis exposition will continue the educational

The Buffalo exposition will always be associated with the great national

ROBBINS LIBRARY, ARLING-

New Books. Arnold, Augusta F. Sea-beach at ebb-Arnold, Augusta F. Sea-beach at ebbtide 592.4
Bacheller, Irving. D'ri and I 1612.2
Barnard, J. G. Analysis of rotary motion as applied to the gyroscope. 531.2
Barr, Amelia E. *Trinity ells: A tale of old New York 1709.26
Brady, Cyrus T. When blades are out and love's afield 2125.3
Caine, T. H. Hall. Eternal city 2421.8
Chambers, R. W. Cardigan 2607.4
Clarke, Rebecca S. [Sophie May.]
*Lucy in fairyland (Little Prudy's children) 2829.217

Hadley, A. T. Education of the American citizen
Haeckel, E. H. Riddle of the universe at the close of the 19th century ... 215.2;
Halsey, F. W. Old New York frontier. Its wars with Indians, etc., 1614-1800, 954.1;

Hamlin, Myra S. *Nan's Chicopee children. Sequel to Nan in the city, was young Mason, Caroline. A Lily of France, 6490 2

Official retrospective exhibition of the development of harvesting machinery for the Paris exposition of 1900, made by Deering Harvester Co., Cnicago.

Smith, Mary P. W. [P. Thorne.] *More good times at Hackmatack. Sequel to Jolly good times at Hackmatack, *

*Young and old puritans of Hatfield (Young angles) V. W. J. Autobiography of a 8754.90 .598.49

AUTUMN.

The ceaseless fall of withered leaves,
The young day growing dusk;
Earth, of its springtime's beauty stripped, In simpler grandeur lies.

The rats in the cellar of a postman did damage his stock, the story ran. He set a trap for to catch a rat, but caught instead a pussy cat. He picked it up and then did yell, for there arose an awful odor. The postman had to change his clothes, and everyone else would hold his nose. So ask him when you tip your hat, "When is a pussy not a cat?"

The chalk marks that are to be seen on fence and post throughout Arlington Centre are in no way ornamental. The policemen are hunting for the boys who are so disfiguring the fences.

Miss Ethel Tewksbury is having many customers in her marmalade business enterprise. She has achieved a reputation among the people in this locality as the leading manufacturer of the dainty, and the most successful one at that.

Arlington House

Arlington, Mass.

J. C. RAUCH, Proprietor.

Accommodations for transients and table boarders. Stable connected. Telephone 56-2, Oct7 1y

Aprons MADE TO ORDER.

Nurse and Waitress Gowns a Specialty.

D. F. COLLINS.

472 Massachusetts Avenue. ARLINGTON.

10 MILL STREET, ARLINGTON, Rubber-tired carriages for funerals, weddings and evening parties. Also a wagonette for pleasure parties. Tel connection. ARTIFICIAL STONE SIDEWALKS.

Driveways, Buttresses, Steps and Copings. Asphalt Sidewalks, Stable and Cellar Floors. ROOFING

Asphalt and Coal Tar Paving and Roofing Material for the Trade. WARREN BROS. COMPANY, Manufacturers Contractors 143 Federal St., Boston. Tei. 4064 Main. Factory: E. Cambridge.

J. W. HARRINGTON,

SUCCESSOR TO GEO. D. TUFTS. Business Established More Than 50 Years

Practical House, Sign, and Decorative Painter.

All kinds of hard and soft woods finished in the latest and most improved manner. Kalsemining Painting in water colors. Graining, Glazing and Paper Hanging. Local agents for one of the argest wall paper houses in Boston. Drop me a card and I will call with samples. All sizes of glass on hand. Sign writing a specialty. Personal supervision given to all work and satisfaction guaranteed. I respectfully solicit a further share of your patronage.

Residence, 51 Lewis Ave. Shop, 450 Mass. ave opp. Medford st.

A. BOWMAN,

Ladies' TAILOR,

487 Mass. ave., Arlington.

LTERING, CLEANING, DYEING, PRESSING.

H. B. JOHNSON. Steam and Hot Water Heating,

Greenhouse Contractor, Steam Pump Repairer, etc.

PIPE AND FITTINGS FOR SALE AT BOSTON PRICES

BROADWAY and WINTER STS.,

ARLINGTON.

Boilers Re-tubed. Artesian Wells. Wind Mills. Roofing. In all work contracted for the latest devices and most approved appliances are used and personal attention given to every job. Estimates furnished on contracts of any amount and satisfaction guaranteed.

MRS. DALE, House and Kitchen Furnishings,

Crockery, Glass, China and Tin Ware, Preserving Jars, Toilet and Fancy Articles, etc., etc., at 466 Massachusetts Avenue, Arlington.

& CO., Broadway and Third Street, CAMBRIDGEPORT.

WM. H. WOOD LUMBER

And Building Material. Largest Stock in N. E. to Select From

Established 1826.

Arlington Insurance Agency

George Y. Wellington & Son, Agents.

Eight Mutual Companies Ten Stock Companies. Office open daily and Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

Savings Bank Building, Arlington Avenue. OFFICE HOURS: 1.30 to 4.30 P. M., Daily

You Can Rid Your House of Water Bugs and Roaches if

Barnard's Water Bug and Roach Exterminator. BARNARD & CO., 7 Temple Place

Sidewalks, Steps, Curb-ing, Coping, Walks,

Coping,

ALL CLASSES OF CEMENT CONCRETE

CONSTRUCTION.

Rock Asphalt and Trinidad Asphalt Floors and

CELLARS MADE WATERTIGHT.

Sidewalks, Walks, Drive-

MPBROS

J. C. McDONALD,

8 QUICK LUNCH 8

TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

D. BUTTRICK,

Confectionery, Hot and Cold Soda and Floors, Etc.

Asphalt.

ways.

Pavements.

Tar Concrete

Peirce & Winn Co. Granolithic

Coals, Wood, Hay, Straw

Grain, Lime, Cement, Plaster,

Hair, Fertilizers, Sand, Drain and Sewer Pipes, etc.

Teaming Pillsbury Flour, New England Gas and Coke Co's Coke Arlington, Arlington Heights, and Lexington

Post-office Box B, Arlington Telephone, 8-2 Arlington

JAS. A. McWILLIAMS, House, Sign and Fresco PAINTER.

All orders left with F. R. Daniels will be promptly attended to.

PAPERING & TINTING

Shop: Rear 467 Mass. Ave. Residence: 105 Franklin street. ARLINGTON.

VISIT Langen's Hair Dressing Room.

UP-TO-DATE AND POPULAR. Easy Chairs, Experienced Workmen, Centrally Located, Polite Attendance. All Tools and Towels Scientifically Sterilized. Ladies' and Children's Work.

Butter and Eggs,

Wholesale and Retail.

Orders by mail promptly attended to. Team will call once a week if desired. Residence, 15 Swan St., Arlington Tables supplied with latest popular periodicals

ARLINGTON SOCIETIES, CHURCHES, ETC.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK. E. Nelson Blake, president; Wm. D. Higgins, cashier. Corner Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street. Open dally from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.; on Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 8.30. ARLINGTON CO-OPERATIVE BANK.

Geo. D. Moore, president; R. Walter Hilliard, secretary; W. A. Peirce, treasurer. Meets in banking rooms of First National bank, first Tuesday in each month, at 7.30 p.m. Money offered at auction at 8.30. ARLINGTON FIVE-CENT SAVINGS BANK, Bank building, corner Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street. William G, Peck, president; H. Blasdale, secretary and treasurer. Open daily from 3 to 5.30 p.m.; Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 9.

ARLINGTON BOAT CLUB. Meets first Monday in each month at clubhouse on margin of Spy pond, Ad-mission fee, $10; annual dues, $15. ARLINGTON FINANCE CLUB.

Meets by invitation fourth Tuesday in FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS.

Hiram Lodge. Meets in Masonic hall, corner Massa-chusetts avenue and Medford street, Thursday on or before the full moon.

Menotomy Royal Arch Chapter. Meets third Tuesday of each month in INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS.

Bethel Lodge, No. 12. Meets in Odd Fellows hall. Bank build-ing. every Wednesday evening, at 8. Ida F. Butler Rebekah Lodge, No. 152. Meets first and third Monday evenings of each month in Bethel lodge room. ANCIENT ORDER OF UNITED WORKMEN.

Circle Lodge, No. 77. Meets first and third Fridays of each month in Grand Army hall, Massachu-setts avenue, at 8 p.m. KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Meets second and fourth Thursdays of each month in K. of C. hall, over Shattuck's store,

ROYAL ARCANUM Menotomy Council, No. 1781.

Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in Grand Army hall, 370 Massa-chusetts avenue, at 8 p.m. UNITED ORDER INDEPENDENT ODD LADIES, Golden Rule Lodge, No. 51.

Meets in G. A. R. hall, the second and fourth Tuesday evenings in each month. GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC. Francis Gould Post, No. 36. Meets in G. A. R. hall. Massachusetts avenue, second and fourth Thursdays of each month, at 8 o'clock p.m.

Women's Relief Corps, No. 43. Meets in G. A. R. hall, Massachusetts avenue, second and fourth Thursday afternoons of each month, at 2 o'clock. SONS OF VETERANS.

Camp 45.

Meets in G. A. R. hall, on the third Wednesday of each month, at 8 o'clock WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.

Meets in St. John's Parish house, Ma-ple street, second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. ANCIENT ORDER OF HIBERNIANS. Division 23.

Meets in Hibernian hall, corner Mystic and Chestnut streets, first and thir Thursdays of each month, at 7.30 p.m. Division 43.

Meets first Tuesday in each month, at K. of C. hall. FORESTERS OF AMERICA. Court Pride of Arlington.

Meets in K, of C, hall, the first and third Mondays of each month.

MASSACHUSETTS CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS.

St. Malachi Court.
Meets at Hibernian hall first and third Thursdays.

ROBBINS PUBLIC LIBRARY. ROBBINS PUBLIC LIBRARY.
Building is open to the public as follows: Sundays, 2.30 to 5.30 p.m.; Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, 10 to 12 a.m., 1 to 6 and 7 to 9 p.m.; book room, 1 to 6 p.m.; Wednesdays, 10 to 12 a.m., 1 to 9 p.m.; book room, 1 to 9 p.m.; Saturdays, 10 to 12 a.m., 1 to 9 p.m.; Saturdays, 10 to 12 a.m., 1 to 9 p.m.; Saturdays only, during the month of August.

Arlington Heights Branch. Open Tuesdays and Saturdays from 1 to 6; 7 to 9 p.m. Thursdays, 3 to 6, 7 to TOWN OFFICERS. Selectmen meet at their office in town hall on the last Monday evening of each month, for approval of bills. Regular meetings each Saturday evening.

Town clerk and treasurer, office hours, 9 a.m. to 12 m.; 2 to 5 p.m.; also Mondays, 7 to 9 p.m.; Saturdays, 9 a.m. to 12 m.

only.

Board of health, on call of chairman.

Engineers fire department, Saturday before last Monday, each month.

School committee, third Tuesday evening, monthly.

Sewer commissioners, on call of chairman.

Trustees of cemetery, on call of chairman, Water commissioners, first Saturday in each month.

FIRE DEPARTMENT. Hose No. 1, on Park avenue; Hose No. 2, on Massachusetts avenue; Menotomy hook and ladder; Hose No. 3, on Broadway; Brackett chemical; Eagle hose, Henderson street.

ARLINGTON FIRST PARISH.

(Unitarian.) Corner Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street, Rev. Frederic Gill, pastor. Boards with Mrs. J. C. Harris, 23 Academy street. Sunday morning preaching service at 10.45; Sunday school at noon, except July and August.

ARLINGTON BAPTIST CHURCH. ARLINGTON BAPTIST CHURCH.
Services on Sunday in Grand Army hall, Massachusetts avenue, Rev. Charles H. Watson, D. D., minister. Residence, 26 Academy street. Sunday service at 10.45 a.m.; Sunday school at noon hour; Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6.15 p.m.; evening church service at 7.15 o'clock. ARLINGTON HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH.

Cor. of Westminster and Park Avenues, Sunday services: morning worship and sermon, 10.45 a.m.; Sunday school, 12 m.; evening service, with short talk, 7 p.m. Weekly prayer meeting, Friday even school, 12 m.; Junior league, 3.30 p.m.; evening service, 7 o'clock. Prayer meeting. Wednesday evening, 7.30. Services in Methodist Union hall. Walter Grant Smith, pastor. Morning service, 10.45 o'clock; Sunday school, 12 m.; Junior league, 3.30 p.m.;

ORTHODOX CONGREGATIONAL, Corner Pleasant and Maple streets. Rev. Samuel C. Bushnell, pastor; residence on Maple street, opposite the church. Sunday services at 10.45 a.m.; Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.30 p.m.; Sunday school at noon, except during July and August Friday evenings, at 7.30, social service in vestry.

PARK AVENUE CHURCH,

(Orthodox Congregational.) Cornegational.)

Corner Park and Wollaston avenues, Arlington Heights. Rev. John G. Taylor,
pastor. Sunday morning service at 10.45;
Sunday school at 12.15; Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6.30 p.m.; Sunday afternoon at 3.70, Junior C. E. meeting; Friday evening at 7.45, prayer meeting.

ST. AGNES, CATHOLIC.

Corner Medford and Chestnut streets.
Rev. John M. Mulcahy, pastor; Rev. A.
J. Fitzgerald, Rev. A. S. Malone, assistants. Reside at parsonage, 24 Medford street, next to church. Mass at 7 and 9-a.m.; high mass at 10.30; Sunday school at 2.30 p.m.; vespers at 3.30 p.m. ARLINGTON LINE BIBLE SCHOOL

Corner Massachusetts Avenue and Tan-nery Street.
Services—Every Sunday afternoon at 3.30; preaching at 7.30 Sunday evenings;
Thursday evening meeting at 7.45.

ARLINGTON FIRE ALARM. LOCATION OF BOXES.

LOCATION OF

4-Jason St.

13-Cor. Henderson and Sawin Sts.

14-Cor. Mass. Ave. and Teel St.

15-Cor. Mass. Ave. and Lake St.

16-Cor. Mass. Ave. and Linwood St.

17-Lake St., opp. D. Wyman's house.

21-Union St., opp. Fremont.

22-No School.

23-Junction Broadway and Warren St.

24-Beacon St., near Warren. 22—No School.
23—Junction Broadway and Warren St.
24—Beacon St., near Warren.
25—On Wm. Penn Hose House.
26—Cor, Medford St. and Lewis Ave.
27—Cor, Mystio and Summer Sts.
28—Mystic St., near Fairview Ave.
32—Pleasant, near Lake St.
34—Cor. Pleasant and Gray Sts.
35—Wellington and Addison Sts.
36—On Town Hall—Police Station.
37—Russell St., cor. Russell Terrace.
38—Academy St., near Maple.
39—Cor, Mass. Ave., and Mill St.
41—Mass. Ave., near Schouler Court.
43—Cor. Summer and Grove Sts.
45—On Hightland Hose House.
46—Brattle St., near Dudley.
47—Junc. of Mass. Ave. and Forest St.
52—Crescent Hill—Westminster Ave.
54—Brackett Chemical Engine House.
61—Cor. Florence and Hillside Aves.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under The Sun."

All doctors have tried to cure CA-TARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a Treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonder ful remedy is known as "SNUFFLES the GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE" and is sold at the extremely low price of and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.
"SNUFFLES" is the only perfect
CATARRH CURE ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently, and is also wonderfully quick to relieve HAY FEVER of COLD in the HEAD.

CATARRH when neglected often leads to CONSUMPTION—"SNUFFLES" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure CATARRH in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "SNUFFLES" the "GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE."

Sent prepaid to any address in the ly and permanently, and is also wonder-

Sent prepaid to any address in the United States or Canada on receipt of One Dollar. Address Dept. B 680 EDWIN B. GILES & COMPANY, 2330 and 2332 Market Street, Philadelphia.

SEASON OF 1901,

New Wall Papers

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

The Largest Stock,

The Most Artistic Designs, The Lowest Prices in New England Thomas F. Swan.

12 CORNHILL, BOSTON. Next Door to Washington St.

W. G. KIMBALL, Contractor and Builder.

All Kinds of Wood Jobbing and Repairing. Estimates Given.

> Shop, 1003 Mass. ave. ARLINGTON.

WM. BENDIX'S School of Music.

Violin, Flute, Clarinet, Guitar, etc. Any number of musicians, including a good prompter, furnished for all occa-sions at reasonable prices. For terms, address, WM. BENDIX, 2 Park ter., Arlington

ANGELO CATERINO & CO., DEALER IN

Money refunded if goods not satisfactory. Confectionery, Cigars and Tobacco. 479 Massachusetts Ave., ARLINGTON.

Will open for the Fall and Winter Season, Monday, Sept. 2, 1901. ARLINGTON HEIGHTS METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH. Thorough instructions given on Piano.

Foreign & Domestic Fruit

L. WINE, Fine Shoe Repairing,

Lexington and Boston Arlington Heights. FIRST UNIVERSALIST. Massachusetts avenue, opposite Academy street. Rev. Harry Fay Fister, pastor, Gray street. Sunday services in the morning at 10.45; Sunday school at noon, except during July and August; Y. P. Union at 6.30 p.m.

ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL.

Corner Academy and Maple streets. Rector, the Rev. James Yeames, Sunday services at 10.30 a.m.; other services according to church calendar.

BELMONT AND WAVERLEY CHURCHES, SOCIETIES, ETC.

FIRST PARISH CHURCH.

Belmont. Rev. Hilary Bygrave, pastor. Morning service, 10.45; Sunday school, 12 m. PLYMOUTH CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Belmont. Rev. Elbridge C. Whiting, pastor, Morning service, 10.39 o'clock; Sunday school, 12 m.; evening praise, 7; weekly trayer meeting, Tuesday, 7.45 p.m. ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH.

Belmont. Morning services at 8.30 and 10 o'clock; Sunday school, 3.30; vespers, 7.30. ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

(Episcopal), Belmont. Sunday school, 10 a.m.; morning serice, 11. Reginald H. Coe in charge

WAVERLEY UNITARIAN SOCIETY. Rev. C. H. Allen, pastor. Services every Sunday morning. 10.45; Sunday school, 12 m.; Young People's Religious union, first and third Sunday each month. 7 p.m. All invited.

WAVERLEY BAPTIST SOCIETY. Rev. H. S. Smith, pastor. Services in Waverley hall; Sunday school, 2.46 p.m.; preaching service, 7.45 p.m.; prayer meeting, Thursday evening, 7.30.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH Waverley.

Rev. Geo. P. Gilman, pastor. Morning service, 10.46; Sunday school, 12 m.; Young People's Society Christian En-deavor, 6.15 p.m.; evening service, 7.15; prayer meeting, Friday evening, 7.30.

ROYAL ARCANUM Waverley Council, No. 313. Meets in Lodge hall, Waverley, second nd fourth Tuesday evenings each month INDEPENDENT ORDER ODD FEL-LOWS.

Trapelo Lodge, No. 238. Meets in Lodge hall, Waverley, every Monday evening. FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS.

Belmont Lodge. Meets on the first Thursday of each month, at Masonic hall, Belmont.

BELMONT FIRE ALARM.

No School

Concord Ave., near syrtle St.
Cor. School and Goden Sts.
Cor. Clark and Thomas Sts.
Cor. Waverley and Common Sts.
Concord Ave. (Opposite E. A.

Hose House. Cor. Pleasant and Clifton Sts.
Prospect St.
Cor. Pleasant and Brighton Sts.

Cross St. Brighton St. near Hill's Crossing depot Cor. Common and North Sts.

Cor. Common and Washington Sts.
Belmont St. cor. Oxford.
Cor School and Washington Sts. Grove St. Town Farm.

Town Farm.
Waverley St.
Cor. Lexington and Beech Sts.
Cor. Church and North Sts.
White and Maple Sts.
Mill St. near J. S. Kendall.
Trapelo road, Aggasea St.
Spring lane.

ii. Spring lane,
ii. Spring lane,
iii. Spring lane,
iii. School St., near Hittinger,
iii. School St

H. H. RUSSELL, Engineers.

THE HOME GOLD CURE.

n Ingenious Treatment by Which Drunkards are Being Cured Daily in Spite of Themselves.

No Noxious Doses. No Weakening of the Nerves. A Pleasant and Positive Cure for the Liquor Habit.

It is now generally known and understood that Drunkenness is a disease and not weakness. A body filled with poison, and nerves completely shattered by periodical or constant use of intoxicating liquors, requires an antidote capable of neutralizing and eradicating this poison, and destroying the craving for intoxicants. Sufferers may now cure themselves at home without publicity or loss of time from business by this wonderful "HOME GOLD CURE" which has been perfected after many years of clustudy and treatment of inebriates. faithful use according to directions of this wonderful discovery is positively guaranteed to cure the most obstinate case, no matter how hard a drinker. Our records show the marvelous transformation of thousands of Drunkards into sober, industrious and upright men. WIVES CURE YOUR HUSBANDS!! CHILDREN CURE YOUR FATHERS!!

This remedy is in no sense a nestrum but a specific for this disease only, and is so skillfully devised and prepared that it is thoroughly soluble and pleasant to the taste, so that it can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it. Thousands of Drunkards have cured themselves with this priceless remedy, and as many more have been cured and made temperate men by having the "CURE" administered by loving friends and relatives without their knowledge in coffee or tea, and believe today that they discontinued of their own free will. DO NOT WAIT. Do not be deluded by apparent and misleading "improvement." parent and misleading "improvement."
Drive out the disease at once and for all time. The "HOME GOLD CURE" is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, thus placing within reach of everybody a treatment more effectual than others costing $25 and $50. Full directions accompany each package. Special advice by skilled physicians when requested without extra charge. Sent prepaid to any part of the world on receipt of One Dollar, Address Dept. B 680 EDWIN B. GILES & COMPANY, 2336 and 2332 Market Street, Philadelphia. All correspondence strictly confi-All correspondence strictly confidential.

TRY GROSSMITH'S Eau de Quinice

Hair Tonic. Sure cure for dandruff and falling hair.

C. W. GROSSMITH, Registered Pharmacist,

Mass. Ave., Cor. Mystic St., Arlington.

Pleasant Street Market.

CHOICE MEATS, FRESH VEGETABLES, CREAMY BUTTER, FRUITS.

12 Pleasant Street, Arlington. Atlanta Constitution.

THE NEGRO'S ADORATION.

His Love For a Steamboat Outdoes His Regard For a Mule.

"The negro's relation to the steamboat is peculiar," said an old steamboat man recently, "and my experience of twentyfive years or more on the Mississippi has convinced me that the negro has a much deeper love for the steamboat than he has for anything else on earth, except something that will satisfy his physical craving. The negro's devotion to the steamboat is really pathetic. There is a popular but erroneous belief that there is a strong affinity existing between the negro and the mule. The negro likes the mule, of course, and he can generally get more out of the mule than the white man, and I sometimes believe the mule looks upon the white man as being responsible for his place in nature and the many unhappy burdens he is forced to bear. But, getting back to the negro and the steamboat, the black man seems to have almost deified the boat.

"Go down on the levee or go to any steamboat landing along the rivers of the south and watch the negro when the boar arrives. From the very time the whistle sounds until the bell clangs to pull in the lines he is an abject but happy worshiper of the boat. The negro who has absolutely nothing to do with the boat, who has not even the remotest connection with the vessel, will delight in doing things to help the boat along and to see that she maintains her reputation for fleetness and reliability on the river. They do these things without any hope of reward. They do it just for the satisfaction of doing it. They do it out of pure love for the boat. If the boat happens to be a good speeder, she becomes the idol of the negroes along the river and in the territory where she runs, and really the rousters take more pride in the fleetness of the boat than the owners and would probably fight quicker if any man should be indiscreet enough to cast some slight aspersion upon the boat's good name.

"I have seen negroes at the way landings who actually took great pleasure in handling the ropes used in holding the boat to the landing, and they would work like Trojans when it came to hauling the line out, or hauling it in, as we say on the river. And there is another curious fact about the negro and the steamboat. The negro who works on a steamboat believes he is better socially than his less fortunate brothers who are forced to toil along other lines. There is a sort of black steamboat aristocracy, with the black man in the highest position in the service as a leader of the clan. Man, in his ingenuity, may go on devising steam engines that thunder across the land and huge and wonderful electric motors and automobiles and bicycles and all that sort of thing, but the steamboat that floats up and down the river is the thing for the black man."-New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE BARBER'S VICTIM.

He Was Passive In the Chair, but Had His Revenge.

"Shave," said the stranger as he settied himself in that mysterious mechanical contrivance commonly known as the

"Hot cloths?" suggested the barber as he made away with the relics of the shave.

"Guess not," sighed the victim.

"Hot cloths great thing. Never tried them?"
"No."

"Well, just let me fix you up." And the barber proceeded to the laying on of the hot cloths.

"Hair cut?" he hinted after the hot cloth ordeal. "No, not today."

"Your hair's rather long," persisted the tonsorialist as he toyed with the elongated fringe about his subject's ears.

"As you please, then," assented the man in the chair. "Your hair's coming out," pronounced the barber as he pulled out a handful as

"Want it singed?" evidence. "Singeing is just what it needs."

The victim yielded.
"Shampoo?" softly cooed the gentle barber a few minutes later.

"Oh, no." "Your head's quite dusty. The dust gets into the roots and ruins the quality

The victim surrendered. "Hair tonic?" sweetly coaxed the barber as he let up on the ragtime towel ex-

"I guess so," answered the stranger dazedly.

"Bay rum, sea foam, witch hazel, paris 'Yes, yes, yes!" "Face massaged?" quoth the barber.

Silence for five minutes. "There you are!" whispered the self satisfied, labor loving barber as he assisted the unfortunate out of the trap. "One dollar and sixty-five cents, please.

"Yes, yes; of course, old man!" faintly.

The stranger staggered slightly at the blow, his face kaleidoscoped the various colors of the rainbow in rapid succession and then:

"Here's ten cents for the shave. That's all I have."-New York Herald

Late. Indeed. The chairman of a lecture committee of a literary society sat restlessly on the stage before a large and waiting audience, wondering why the expected lee-turer did not arrive. Finally he felt that some sort of an excuse was necessary and stepped to the footlights.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "I regret this delay and am unable to account for the absence of Professor Smythe, who was to lecture here tonight. He told me that he would be on time if he was alive, and, as he is not here, we must conclude that he is dead."

Just then the professor rushed out on the stage all out of breath. "Ladies and gentlemen," continued the chairman, low me to introduce to you the late Professor Smythe, who will now address us on 'The Inferno.' "—New York Herald.

Older Than His Father. A curious tombstone has been discovered at Ilfracombe (England) churchyard by a correspondent. The inscription reads as follows: "In memory of Wil-liam Griffiths, died October 25, 1835, aged 127 years. Also Willm., father of the above, who died October 2, 1845, aged 72 years." According to the dates given, the son was sixty-five years older than the father.

Not a Hard Case. "Ever been in any trouble before?" asked the judge.
"Well, suh, I wuz run over by a railroad once, but I never hurt the engine."-

Electronic and a line of the l

A Story of 1825 and 1900

IN AUGUST. 1900. Under the afternoon sun the restless waters of San Francisco bay flung dia monds and opals at such human eyes a.

chanced to look on them. Two young people who strolled down to the Presidio beach, however, had ne glances to spare for anything so commonplace as diamonds and opals. For Lieutenant Anderson was gazing into the depths of the great, soft black eyes or Miss Pachita de Sola, and Miss Pachita de Sola was looking up into the ardent blue ones of Lieutenant Anderson. She seemed to like it.

The tall young soldier with the fair hair, broad shoulders and square, manly Saxon face had not been long released from the hard work and harder restraint of West Point, and in his new freedom of army life went at things with an energy of desire that was quite irresistible Miss Pachita de Sola found it so, as had half a dozen other girls within as many months. It was a wholly serious business with the lieutenant this time, though.

He had been in California but a few weeks, and this daughter of an ancient though decayed Spanish family, as American in education and thought as himself, was ravishing in her novelty. Altogether feminine, Pachita, at one moment childlike and clinging; the next worldly, witty and mocking; then, with the lids hiding those lovely, big eyes of hers, her whole aspect suggested-especially to a lieutenant with ample means to marry-possibilities of tenderness unspeakable.

No wonder that when Miss Pachita permitted Lieutenant Anderson to gaze down into her eyes and returned an answering look, giving a little sigh, too, his head went after his heart, which had been lost for an eternity—that is to say, for two terrific, sleepless nights.

But the young lady was discreet, and, gently clasping his fingers, removed them from her waist, saying demurely:

"Don't be foolish, John. Somebody may be looking." This in a city and in full sight of the ever vigilant garrison struck John as being not improbable. Instant in action, as became a soldier, Lieutenant Anderson executed a flank movement on a sand bank and seated Miss de Sola in its lee, on a large, water whitened, sun dried log of driftwood. Then this consummate tactician repeated the original attack with entire success. "Pachita, oh, my darling!" breathed the ecstatic lieutenant, straining her to his side and immediately showing a disposition to put a knee upon the beach. "Well, John?" and the smile of love and gratified vanity that smote his eyes blinded them. "Name the day, oh, Pachita; I cannot live till you do!" Pachita pursed her full, red lips, puckered the midnight eyebrows and considered profoundly, digging deep into the sand with his cane the while.

"The day, my own love-the day," "Dear me," Miss de Sola exclaimed suddenly, "what a beautiful shell!"

"Blast the shell!" cried Lieutenant Anderson, reaching for what she had unearthed, to cast it wrathfully out among the unnoticed diamonds and opals.

But he was restrained in wonder IN AUGUST. 1925.

The same sun was enriching the dancing waters of the same bay with diamonds and opals. A young couple who name the day," pleaded Lieutenant Anstrolled down to the Presidio beach adderson all a-throb. mired the view very much, and Senorita Pachita de Sola had no occasion to remind the lieutenant by her side that somebody might be looking. Lieutenant Juan de Echeandia would have liked greatly to coil his arm about that slim waist, but did not dare, though there was only a small and sleepy garrison and no city at all behind them-only the padres and Indians at the mission Dolores, far over the sand hills, and a cabin or two down at the embarcadero, entirely out of sight. Pachita de Sola was niece of Commandante Don Luis Antonio Arguello, and though he, Lieutenant Juan de Echeandia was a nephew of Don Jose Maria, of the same name, one, even though an aristocrat, has under all circumstances to show proper respect for his commanding officer. Besides, the Senorita Pachita had twice refused his friendly offered hand. It was bestowed upon Ensign Tiburcio Mendez at Monterey, though this was not known to a certainty at the Presidio. Lieutenant Juan de Echeandia and Senorita Pachita de Sola walked leisurely to the little wharf where that wonderful vessel, constructed but recently by a wandering British sailor, lay preparing for a voyage to Sausalito, four leagues distant. It was a marvelous boat, with oars and a sail, and capable of accommodating no less than six persons. Don Luis Antonio Arguello himself had commanded her in person on the dozen passages which she had made to the opposite shore for timber. Previous to the creation of this extraordinary ship, which annihilated distance and obliterated time, timber was hard to get from Corte de Madera. Soldiers were sent around by way of San Jose, armed with axes, who crossed the strait of Carquinez on rafts, and in the circuit of seventy leagues encountered hardships and consumed weeks. And the timber was brought over by Chief Martin, an aborigine given to cruising on a float of logs and tules, who alone knew the winds and currents of the bay. It was but a matter of a day now to sail over for the timber and return with it.

Corporal Pedro Sanchez had made all the voyages with the commandante and rated now as a superior navigator, his marine fame being dear to him. Don Luis had swollen him with pride by plac-ing him in command for this one trip. His enlargement became perilous when Lieutenant Echeandia suddenly proposed to Senorita Pachita that they make the voyage, and she, being young and thoughtless, consented.

Brave Corporal Sanchez sailed the Mejico superbly as far as Angel island, descanting eloquently on the art and mystery of seamanship. Issuing to his crew of three soldiers sundry orders in a commanding voice of thunder, he prepared to pass the point.

Alas, an eastern wind came whistling through the treacherous Raccoon strait, and in spite of all Corporal Pedro's sea-manship the Mejico was caught and whirled round and round and borne with the racing tide toward the Golden Gate. Senorita Pachita de Sola screamed, but there was no belp sent down from heaven, even on the appeal of those pretty lips, grown quite white, or of that pale face, with its big black eyes wild with terror. Lieutenant Juan de Echeandia sworeswore at Corporal Pedro Sanchez, but profanity, though frequently an adjunct to navigation, is not of use in imparting knowledge thereof.

So out to sea they drifted, far out, almost to the Farallones.

For eight days and nights they were as a chip on the waves, the Raccoon gusts having snapped the mast and carried away the sail. Corporal Pedro, famous as a mariner, had forgotten to bring oars. Senorita de Sola gave herself up to Mary, mother of God, as did the corporal and the three men in the bow, who passed the hours in shuddering prayer. But Lieutenant Juan had a soldier's soul. On the second day he drew his sword, and at its point the men yielded such food and water as the boat contained. These he bestowed where his body was between them and recapture. The corporal Pedro, though a fool and unfortunate, was loyal. With him the lieutenant kept watch and watch, and through all those awful eight days and nights (by my pen, it is true that the boat was gone that long, as you may read in Hittell's "History of California Senorita de Sola wanted for neither food nor drink, and the delicacy of Lieutenant Juan would have brought tears of gratefulness to any woman's eyes. He did wonders, as tradition has handed down, with cloaks and coats and stray bits of rope to cabin the lady.

On the eighth day-sincere prayer is ever answered—a blessed wind sprang up from the west and, tide assisting, blew the Mejico back through the Gelden Gate. The cruising chief Marin, on his tule float, was sent by Providence to tow her to the Presidio wharf, where the commandant and the cheering garrison awaited the return of the lost to life—the ones saved by an unquestionable miracle. The padres bore the lesson home in many

As the Senorita de Sola rose in the stern to disembark she tottered from weakness and agitation. Lieutenant Juan stretched out an arm and preserved her from a ducking. She gave a little scream, not at the public embrace, but because in throwing up her small brown hands she had broken a slender gold chain that hung about her neck-broken it, and over into the deep water it went, together with a locket that had rested on her virgin bosom.

"My dears," said Commandant Don Luis Antonio Arguello, when they had refreshed themselves at his quarters and related their adventures-"my dears, I think that under all the circumstances the best thing you can do is to get married, and at once."

"I'm with you," exclaimed Lieutenant Juan de Echeandia in Spanish, opening his arms.

And Senorita Pachita de Sola crept timidly into them, hiding her lovely, blushing face upon his happy, weather beaten breast.

IN AUGUST, 1900, AGAIN. Lieutenant John Anderson was restrained from throwing the abalone shell into the bay, after his indefensible language concerning it, because imbedded under a transparent, overlying, iridescent deposit he beheld an open golden locket, showing the face of a handsome young man, evidently Spanish.

Miss de Sola, excited, took it from him, scrutinized it intently, looked up with sparkling eyes and pointed a slim, triumphant, olive finger at a name beneath the miniature.

"There," she cried, "grandma did love that Monterey ensign, though she always denied it!" "But Pachita-Pachita, darling, do

"Oh, bother!" impatiently returned Miss de Sola, absorbed again in the abalone. "Name it yourself."

Work of Blind Sculptors.

There have been several cases recorded in which famous sculptors have been blind. Dr. Vidal, the well known French sculptor, was blind. He made a special study of animals, surrounding himself with pets of all kinds, which he would fondle until he was able to reproduce them in clay with a skill that surpassed any of his contemporaries. On one occasion, in order that he might make a true model of a lion, he obtained permission from the proprietor of a menagerie to enter (accompanied by the tamer) a cage containing a magnificent specimen of the king of beasts, which he stroked and caressed until he had acquired an exact conception of its shape and mien. Giovanni Gambasio, the sculptor, had been deprived of his sight for ten years before the idea came to him to be an artist. His fame as a sculptor spreading abroad, he was sent by the Grand Duke of Tuscany to Rome to model the statue of Pope Urban VIII. - Ladies' Home Journal.

An Amateur Brass Band. A well known band was practically two men short. It had its full strength numerically, but two of the regular members had not been able to come, and in their stead had been pressed a couple of "followers," who (in the vernacular) "could not play for nuts." Effectually to prevent their getting out a single sound, the conductor had jammed a cork into their instruments, or, rather, the instruments they carried. So that they were players and yet not players; they counted as two, but otherwise they were a source weakness rather than of strength. Handicapped though the band thus was, however, it succeeded in carrying off the first prize.-Good Words.

In the Bargain Store. Mrs. Barnes-Why, how do you do, Mrs. Howes? Isn't this the last place you'd expect to see me? I only came in just for fun, you know. Wouldn't think of buying anything here, of course, Mrs. Howes-Of course not. The idea of anybody buying anything in such a Later .- Mrs. Howes (solus)-H'm! She can't fool me. I'll bet she does all her shopping here. Mrs. Barnes - Now I've found out where that woman gets all her clothes. I might have known by the looks of them. -Boston Transcript.

Sultan and His Camera. The sultan of Morocco has a $10,500

And there is no doubt that when he says "Look pleasant, please," they all do.

If they don't, he takes their heads in another way.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

CHAMBERLIN AS HOST

DAINTIES FOR WHICH HIS CLUB IN WASHINGTON WAS FAMED.

Secret Recipes That Delighted the Lovers of Good Eafing-All Plain American Cooking Too-The Epicure's Wide Popularity.

In his most successful days John F. Chamberlin's club in Washington had three buildings, all communicating. They had once been residences of the old fashfoned kind. When in congress, the late Fernando Wood of New York lived in one of them. Ex-Governor Swan of Maryland lived in another. The cooking at Chamberlin's was always plain, but it was the very best imaginable when things were going right in the establishment. It was purely American.

"No French or German cooking in here," was Chamberlin's constant boast. "We can beat them all hollow. With sauce, gravy, spices and herbs they serve bad stuff. You cannot do it if you stick to the American way of cooking, and I will not have any other."

Chamberlin in his day asked the biggest prices charged in Washington. He had a method in it. "Why," he exclaimed one night, "if I sold two drinks for a quarter and beer at 10 cents a bottle it would not be a month before every Tom, Dick and Harry in this town would be dropping into Chamberlin's to meet prominent people. And, boys, you would not come in here if I ran a cheap place."

Chamberlin's cooks were negro women from Maryland and Virginia. He employed five or six of them. In addition to what they knew before entering his employ he taught them many new wrinkles in a culinary way. Unless some one can get hold of his recipes it is doubtful if another such place will ever be conducted in Washington. Many of the recipes were secret. Never did mortal man eat elsewhere such deviled crabs as were served at Chamberlin's. They could be obtained any day in the year. At the average place a deviled crab is sold for 10 or 15 cents. The price at Chamberlin's was invariably 30 cents. During the international medical congress, which was held here in 1886, the delegates from Europe simply went wild over the crabs and other good things served at Chamberlin's. They tried to get the recipe, but to no purpose, as it was a secret.

The plainness of the cooking at Chamberlin's was what really made it so popular. Men and women got there a homelike service. The supplies came regularly from certain localities. For instance, he bought turkeys in Rhode Island, declaring that they were the most delicious to be found anywhere in the United States. They were specially raised for his house and cost delivered 35 cents a pound. Jowl and spinach was a famous dish at Chamberlin's. The jowls he invariably got from Tennessee. Good old country sausage was furnished him by people in Maryland not many miles from Washington. The so called Blue Point oysters Chamberlin always maintained were a humbug, and he did not allow them in his "Baby oysters are served up for Blue Points," he exclaimed, "and I will not impose upon the public. Very few real Blue Points can be obtained."

The Lynn Haven bay oysters Chamberlin considered the best flavored, fattest and finest that could be set before a guest. He purchased them regularly in large quantities from a firm at Norfolk, Va. He never permitted a slider or alleged diamond back terrapin to get into his kitchen. "There is but one real terrapin," he used to say. "To call them all diamond backs is rot. You can get diamond backs from a dozen states. The Chesapeake terrapin is superior to any other public house who would palm off slider. or the fresh water terrapin, stewed in a loblolly sauce, with veal and goose liver added, ought to be sent to the penitentiary for ten years."

Mince pie was a delicacy that came high at Chamberlin's, but it was the best that could be had. That was another secret recipe. Thanksgiving and Christmas it was Mr. Chamberlin's custom and pleasure to send to the president of the United States and other friends among the prominent men of the capital city Rhode Island turkeys and his noted mince pies. He also sent each year to the American legation in London a liberal supply of good things for the Thanksgiving dinner, including turkeys, oysters, Kentucky mutton, Smithfield hams and mince pie.

Chamberlin's place was always run wide open night and day and Sundays as well. The police did not bother him. The lawmakers of the land who were inclined to be gay and sportive frequented his place in such numbers that he knew he was safe in conducting the establishment as he pleased. Policemen would pass Chamberlin's on Sunday afternoons in summer when the windows were up and the waiters served drinks and cigars to customers just as if it had been Saturday. You could see senators, representatives, governors and public officials at the tables. A merry crowd it was, and the genial host was flitting from table to table, chatting with this group and that and taking more drinks than any other man in the place.

Chamberlin was a most hospitable man. He cared nothing for money. If his income had been $1,000,000 a year, he would have spent it all on his friends. He knew that in being so generous and convivial he was shortening his life. That did not, however, trouble him. He would get up out of bed after a severe attack of rheumatic gout and give a big dinner to some prominent man to which he would invite the choicest spirits to be found in the land. He tried to drink with every body who came in, and that hastened his death. Nothing pleased him more than to have a lively gathering and sit up until broad daylight.

He was the great attraction of his place. Men liked him for his good, honest nature, his wit, his fund of anecdote and because he attracted to his establishment the most successful and entertaining men who were in the habit of visiting Washngton. Outside of railroad officers of the highest standing no one had more passes over the leading lines of the country than John Chamberlin. He could go anywhere he pleased without paying a cent. One pass issued by the president of a western road read, "Pass John F. Chamberlin: account, profound piety." Chamberlin used to show that piece of pasteboard with much glee and would then remark, "The beauty about this is the thing is true."-New York Sun.

THE REPORTER'S FIRST STORY.

Scored a Success Because He Did Not

Know When to Drop It. "When I broke into the newspaper business," said the veteran New York correspondent of a big western daily, "I made a hit on my very first assignment, and, oddly enough, my success was due entirely to my ignorance of my profes-

"I had long had an ambition to be a newspaper man, and when I was offered a position on a morning paper I jumped at the chance. It wasn't much of a tion, and for several months I hung around the office waiting for the news as signment which did not come. Now and then I would be sent out to get material for an 'obit.' note on somebody who had died or perhaps would have a chance at a late fire. But it was a red letter day when I got more than ten lines into the paper. Still, I turned up regularly every noon with the reporters and stood around waiting for that assignment.

"One day the city editor called me to his desk and gave me an anonymous postal card the paper had received calling attention to high assessments which had been put upon property in a certain street. He told me to look it up. It was one of those thirgs where the chances for a story were about one in a million, but with that blissful ignorance which characterizes the 'cub reporter' I started for the place. "Not knowing anything about the methods of reporters, I canvassed that street from beginning to end-it was about two miles long-and, although I met with many rebuffs, I did get som stuff that was really good, although I did not know it at the time. When I came in, I was told to write a column and a half, and by a bit of good luck I put the story together in the proper form.

'The story suggested that great abuses had been perpetrated by certain city officials, and after it was printed the next day two of the old reporters were sent out to follow it up. They came back without anything, and I was ordered out again. By following my method of the previous day I secured enough additional matter for another story, the paper opened a fight on the officials in question, and for several days that was our leading story. "That was my start. Not many years afterward I became the night city editor of the same paper. It was ignorancepure, unadulterated ignorance of reporters' methods that yielded my first story, but I had sense enough to discover very soon after that the same thing would not carry me any farther."-New York Commercial Advertiser.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Mold can be kept from bookcases by scattering here and there about them a few drops of oil of lavender. A piece of narrow webbing such as is used in furniture sewed on the inner side of rugs will prevent the corners from

To prevent soot from gathering in the chimney and range make a brine of common salt and pour it over the coals. It is said this will keep all parts beautifully clean. A shelf supported by brackets and from which falls a curtain is a good shelf may be embellished by a large brass or copper pot or a few pieces of bric-a-When marking blankets in cross stitch-begin by tacking a piece of canvas ov-the place to be marked and then work the initials over it in red wool. When the scheme to conceal a radiator. Then the work is finished, the canvas can easily be drawn out thread by thread. Papier mache and lacquered articles may be cleaned by rubbing them thoroughly with a paste made of wheat flour and olive oil. Apply with a piece of soft flannel or oil linen rag and rub strongly.

Then wipe off and polish by rubbing with in old silk handkerchief. Grease or gummy dirt stains on carpets may be removed by rubbing them with the following mixture: One bar of good soap to two tablespoonfuls of sal soda and saltpeter and four quarts of boiling water. When cold, add six ounces of aqua ammonia. Bottle and use as re-

Old Jewelry.

"It is foolish," says an assayer quoted by the Philadelphia Record, "for people to pay for having old jewelry remodeled. In many cases the jeweler keeps the old material and gives new articles in the style desired. In this business we see proofs of such instances every day. One particular case of the kind came under my notice some time ago. A man came from Mexico and brought with him a quantity of silver and a little gold ore. We melted the silver into a bar for him and kept the gold in payment for our labor. He took the bar to a silversmith to have it made into vessels, which he is now, no doubt, showing to his friends as being made from the silver he mined himself; whereas, in fact, that same bar of silver was brought back and sold to 1 only a few days after I had delivered it to its original owner.'

Had Wings, but Couldn't Fly. At an examination in a village school a class of infants was being questioned on natural history. After several questions, the inspector asked: "What bird that comes from Africa has wings but can't fly?"

The class was dumfounded.

Thinking to encourage them, the inspector offered a sixpence to the little boy or girl who could tell him. After a few seconds' hesitation a little girl of four years put out her hand. "Well, my little dear," said the in-spector, "what is it?"

"Please, sir, a dead 'un!"—London Tit-

Rattlesnake and Kingsnake The rattlesnake sheds its skin twice ear and at that time it becomes perfectly blind, is helpless and is easily cap-tured. At this stage it is assisted by a nurse or pilot, who guards and protects it. This guard is the young kingsnake. The kingsnake, however, is the first enemy the rattlesnake has and can easily kill it in combat. I have seen rattle-snakes fleeing from the old kingsnake to the young kingsnake for protection.

Littlewit—Oh, yaas, I've got a situa-tion, but it's pretty hard work. I'm after a good soft thing, though, and I'm going to get it, too, if I can only keep my head about me.

Miss Pepprey—I don't doubt it. You'll surely have a soft thing if you only keep your head about you.—Philadelphia

Telephone 301-2.

[Entered as Second-Class Matter.]

Saturday, November 9, 1901. THE ENTERPRISE IS FOR SALE IN ARLINGTON BY:

Arlington News Co., Postoffice Bidg. Arlington. Frank R. Daniels, 606 Mass, avenue, Arlington. Mrs. Margaret Deane, 65 Park avenue, Heights.

H. P. Longley, Elevated waiting room, Edward I. McKenzie, B. & M. station, Heights.

"THE SEASON IS NIGH."

President Roosevelt begins his Thanksgiving proclamation with the sentence, 'The season is nigh, when," etc. New along the critic declaring he "near" instead of have said 'nigh." What fools men and women can make of themselves in their hypercritical use of language! The American people are fortunate in having a president who dares employ the English language as he thinks best. It is said that ome one went to General Jackson when he was president, and said to him, "You have spelled a word wrong in your last Whereupon President state | paper.' Jackson replied immediately, "He is a fool who can spell a word only one way." And so may President Roosevelt reply, "You are a fool, Mr. Critic, in immaculate use of language. "the fools are not all dead yet."

SET YOUR RESIDENCES BACK.

If that portion of Massachusetts aveformerly known as High street would set its residences to be built back from the highway, then would the street be much improved in appearance. Too many of us, to save a foot of land, are quite willing to disregard the law of all proportion and symmetry. It was a mistake in our estimation, in building or remodelling the old Cutter schoolhouse into a private dwelling, to give it a site almost directly on the street, and this, too, very nearly in front of the new Cutter school building. A generous frontage to the private house is always an attractive feature in any locality, and what is more, it tells favorably of the esthetic taste of the householder. The private grounds about one's house should be ample, for they are not only a convenience and a picturesque bit of planning, but they are an educator to the children. That portion of Massachusetts avenue to which we refer has yet a lesson to learn in landscape gardening.

FENCE THEM IN.

The school board should lose no time in fencing in the grounds belonging to the several school buildings in Arlington. As now arranged, the grounds are open to the public as a common highway and as a convenient loafing place for the idle and mischievous. We have it from good authority that now all sorts of nuisances are committed upon the grounds, while we know for a fact that one day last week, as a little girl was making her way across the grounds The Russell school to see her sister, a pupil in the school, she was caught a lecherous tramp, who attempted to rudely kiss her, while he attempted other indecencies. The girl, however fortunately escaped. We have learned that Supt. Sutcliffe has long desired that the school grounds should be inclosed by a substantial fence, so that the grounds might be appropriated solely by the pupils and their teachers, and is desire and request Mr. Sutcliffe is right. Will the school board take action in this matter?

"DON'T MUMBLE."

In the last issue of "Success" there is an excellent article on the subject of "Speak Up" or "Don't Mumble." that hath ears to hear, let him hear" presupposes that the voice is to clearly enunciate the spoken word. An average volume of voice even a partially deaf man can hear, while the incoherent mumble cannot be understood even by the most acute ear. There is, there can be, no greater fault in conversation than an imperfect enunciation. Why will men and women swallow their voices when they talk? Why not speak up in an intelligible way? A clearly enunciated voice is easily heard. Why put your listener in so disagreeable and awkward position as to compel him to be forever asking, "What did you say?" And then, to clear yourself of that everlasting mumble of yours, swear that your friend is deaf as a post. Clear enunciation is an important part, if not the most important part, of one's education, and we are glad that the Arlington public schools are treating it as such. We now have in mind friends of ours when it is no little torture to listen to their conversation, simply because they speak in an undertone and smother the voice. Still we are compelled to listen, and answer at random. Dear friend, do speak up, and no longer mumble,

"YOU HAVE MY SYMPATHY."

The above is what we all say when the poor fellow is in ill luck, but how meaningless the saying unless our sympathy takes practical shape! That man who gathers about him an army of friends in the hour of his prosperity is too often left alone when adversity comes. This fact, for fact it is, is to be recognized in every community. It is as true of Arlington as of any other locality. Let misfortune come to one in a financial way, and then see for yourself how the professed friends scatter and run. een't matter that one be inflexibly honest if he has lost or is likely to lose his last dollar, the crowd will pass him by all the same. It is to the everlasting discredit and shame of our humanity that our substantial interest in our neighbor ceases the moment he is flat upon his back. When one is able to walk he doesn't need the help of anyone while journeying on his way. It is the lame man who needs a staff. Now, you reader of the Enterprise, just look about you, and you will be sure to find some poor fellow making good our statement of the nearly universal truth. When ncial loss comes to one, sympathy is only a hollow mockery, unless it be accompanied by the dollar to partially at least make good the financial loss. But to put one's hand in his pocket and to pen his purse is the only sympathy that counts. We now have in mind an instance where one would be doing God's service were he to relieve anxiety and distress by reason of a more than possible future, by the assurance we'll stand by you so long as we have a dollar, if the worst shall come to you. But no, not this; but, instead, we all plously exclaim, "You have my sympathy."

A TRIUMPHANT VICTORY.

That is a triumphant victory won by the people on Tuesday in New York city. All good citizens throughout the country, without regard to political preferences will rejoice with exceeding joy that the Citizens' ticket in the great metropolis has succeeded in winning such majorities that tell for all that is right and Partisan politics have had nothing to do in the candidacy of and election to the mayoralty of New York city of Seth Low. New York city has been redeemed, not through her politicians, but through the grand and determined uprising of her people. Crokerism had become a stench in the nostrils of all decent people, and so the cry for municipal reform went forth, and the people of the great city have in a manly, magnificent way responded. With that clean man, Seth Low, as mayor and with Jerome in the district attorney's office, and with the other departments of the metropolis headed by men of known ability and honesty, there will come to New York a new birth and a new life. Not only must Devery go, but the whole police department will be made over anew. The entire official school life of the city as it now exists will be cleaned out and a new beginning made in the school management of the city. The entire country from California to Maine has been deeply interested in the election that has made Seth Low, the chief executive of the Greater New York and now all good citizens are rejoicing over his substantial majority. Croker may as well pack his grip and betake himself to his retreat on the other side of the waters. It is to be regretted that so good and worthy a man as Shepard should nave allowed himself to be sacrificed in the hope of saving Tammany. But Tammany was so far gone that salt couldn't save the putrid organization. Shepard s a worthy man beyond question, but in this instance he has represented, as Mark Twain put it, "the good end of a rotten banana," and as the banana couldn't be saved. Shepard had to go under with Tammany. The Enterprise is glad that New York city has been saved to her people and by her people. Now will vice hide fiself, while the virtues in all righteous municipal administration of New York become again enthroned.

A WORD WITH YOU, BOYS. We want a word with you, boys, and with you, girls, too-we mean those of you who are pupils in the Arlington public schools. First of all, we need not assure you that we have great faith in the young folks. The future is in their hands. If the world is to be made better, it must be made so through the boys and girls of today, and this is just why we ask for a little chat with you this morning. We have been and are now a good deal in sympathy with the athletic sports in which the boys of the public schools engage so heartily. We believe in kicking the foot-ball with the greatest possible vim, and making the greatest possible score-and we believe as well in basket-ball for the girls. Any egitimate amusement which has for its bject the full development of these bodies of ours is to be commended and encouraged. But along with these amuse ments, why would it not be well for you boys and girls in our Arlington schools to band together now that the long winter evenings are so nearly upon us, and so organize yourselves into a literary society or lyceum, meeting once a week for the purpose of essay writing, declamation, and the discussion of local or current questions of interest? The public speaker can only be made by constant and studious practice, and this is why we believe in the Friday afternoon of the olden time, for declamation and original essays. But to return to the lyceum. How vividly we now recall that lyceum on the "Hill," so many years ago, when the pupils of the high school discussed with so much interest questions of importance, and when the girls read original papers upon a variety of subjects. The pupils of that high school which we now have in mind eagerly anticipated the meeting of that weekly lyceum-and out from that weekly or ganization there went a governor, mayors of three of our most prominent New England cities, lawyers who have become eminent in their profession, physicians who well understand the art of healing, and many distinguished teachers and clergymen. And from it there went out into the world women, too, who became prominent in the world of letters. In our estimation, it is a misfortune that the lyceum has so become an organization of the past, and equally is it a misfortune that the "declamation" and the "composition" are seldom or never had in our public schools. By this we mean the regular Wednesday or Friday afternoon set especially apart in our public schools for such rhetorical exercises. Now to you pupils in the public schools of Arlington we have this suggestion to make, namely: Early organize yourselves into a weekly literary society which shall meet one evening in each week for literary purposes. This arrangement will not interfere with your outdoor amusements, and why not be gin right here at Arlington Centre in the high school and in the Russell school? Who of the pupils in the schools has a word to say about the suggestion we make? Let us know through the Enterprise what you think about it. The power to write well and to speak well can never be acquired without practice.

J. Howell Crosby, of Arlington, received in his town, Tuesday, 617 votes for representative, out of 621 votes cast, so that Mr. Crosby may consider himself, so far as Arlington is concerned, wellnigh unanimously re-elected to his present position in the Massachusetts legislature. At his home poll, Mr. Crosby led Governor Crane's vote by a hundred and

No one is surprised that Massachusetts still remains Republican in politics, though by a reduced majority. The real fight will be on next year when Quincy

ELECTRIC

Now is the time to have your lights looked after for the Winter season. If your electric lights burn dimly call at this store and exchange old lamps for new ones.

We have a fine line of Portable Gas and Electric Table Lamps.

Gas Mantles, all kinds and prices.

Electric Novelties. We make a specialty of Refinishing Gas and Electric Fix-

Arlington, Mass. 474 Mass. Avenue.

Telephone Connection.

Our Motto: "Quality, not Quantity."

WETHERBEE BROS., lewelers and Cycle Dealers,

480 MASSACHUSETTS AVE., ARLINGTON. Telephone Connection.

WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, Eyeglasses and Spectacles. Fine Watch, Clock, Jewelry and Optical Repairing. All work guaranteed.

AND SECOND HAND Bicyles. Fine Repairing. Tires Vulcanized in a First-class Manner. Lawn Mowers, Scissors and Knives Ground.

Automobile Station &

Weltch's Market. Groceries and Provisions

941 Massachusetts Ave., Arlington. Telephone Connection, 21353.

▼olumbian afe

ARLINGTON.

Still at the Old Stand, near Railroad Crossing. The only place where a Quick Lunch or a Good Dinner can be served.

A. C. Labreque.

MONUMENT HAIR DRESSING ROOM

J. F. BARRY, Prop.

Reopened Under New Management.

Give Us a Call. Three Chairs-No Long Waits.

313 Broadway. Arlington.

MISS K. T. McGRATH, Dressmaker.

456 Mass. Ave. Arlington

GEO. D. MOORE,

Licensed Auctioneer for Middlesex County, and President Arlington Co-operative Bank.

OFFICE AT CO-OPERATIVE BANK, 624 MASS. AVE., ARLINGTON. Residence, 188 Broadway.

E. F. DONNELLAN, Upholsterer & Cabinet Maker

Furniture, Mattresses, Window Shades, Awnings and Draperies made to order. Antique Furniture Repaired and Polished. Furniture Repaired. Carpets Made and Laid.

Mail orders promptly attended to.

442 Massachusetts Ave., Arlington.

EDUCATIONAL. Elmhurst Day and Boarding School

High School, Preparatory, Grammar, Primary and Kindergarten Classes, Oct. 1st, 1901, to June 6th, 1902.

A Public Kindergarten class will be started Oct. 1, 1901. Fee for materials, fifteen dollars per year in advance. Courses preparatory to first and second primary grades.

Address Miss ELIZABETH K. VANDER VERR, 220 Park Ave., Arlington Heights, Mass.

J. J. LOFTUS, Tailor. Custom

FALL STYLES. Ladies' and Gent's Clothing Cleansed, Dyed, Re-paired and Pressed Neatly. 612 MASS. AVENUE, ARLINGTON.

B. SWENSEN, INTERIOR PAINTER.

first-class manner
Resident of Arlington 12 years. Best of references given.

10 Teel Place, Arlington, Mass.

GAS ARLINGTON LOCALS.

George A. Sawyer, one of the carpenters on the Baptist church building, slipped and fell from the roof of the building, Monday forenoon, and most fortunately escaped a deadly injury. The accident happened in this way: As Mr. Sawyer was stepping from a lower staging to the highest on the roof, he slipped, and then, falling and tumbling a distance of 30 feet on the roof he fell a distance of 20 feet from the roof to the ground. In his fall he struck a board and split it in two. Dr. Dennett was called, and found that Mr. Sawyer had broken one of the small bones of the right wrist. His escape without more serious injury was marvelous, Mr. Sawyer resides at 361 Massachusetts avenue.

The Bradshaw Missionary society gave yer resides at 361 Massachusetts avenue. The Bradshaw Missionary society gave an entertainment on Wednesday evening, in the vestry of the Pleasant Street Comercegational church. A play was rendered, entitled the "Illustrated Magazine," much to the amusement of the large audience. An enjoyable reading was given by a lady from Hollis, N. H. Supper was prepared and served by Mrs. Samuel Farweil, Jr., Mrs. A. C. Cobb, Miss May Hardy, Mrs. Charles Doughty, Mrs. Arthur Cook, Mrs. W. H. Cutler, Mrs. Walter Hilliard, Mrs. Frank Moss, Mrs. Arthur Moss and Mrs. Charles Swan.

Two slight fires, Tuesday afternoon,

Charles Swan.

Two slight fires, Tuesday afternoon, called out the Arlington fire department. The first fire occurred at 4 p.m., Tuesday, and was occasioned by the burning of leaves back of Omar Whittemore's residence, on Water street. The burning leaves made their way to an old shed and it caught fire. But little damage was done. The second fire was at Arlington Heights, near Gliboa rock, This fire was from burning leaves and underbrush. Both fires were quickly subdued by the fire laddies.

The remains of James M. Thaxter,

by the fire laddies.

The remains of James M. Thaxter, formerly a resident of this town for years who died at South Framingham, last Sunday, were brought to Arlington Tuesday for burial, the interment being at Mt. Pleasant cemetery. He was for many years janitor of the Russell school, and was prominently identified with Hiram lodge of Masons. A delegation of past officers of the lodge escorted the body on its arrival here.

Mrs. M. J. Adam, of 355 Massachusetts avenue, has returned from a visit in Philadelphia.

Miss Laura A. Whitney, one of Arlington's trained nurses, has moved to 15 M'stic street.

Judge William E. Parmenter, 85 years of age, Joshua G. Dodge, 88 years old, and William Smith, Arlington Heights, 92 years old, all voted early on Tuesday. Sy years old, all voted early on Tuesday.

The next meeting of the Arlington Equal Suffrage league will be held in Pleasant hall. Maple street. Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. This is to be an open meeting, and a large gathering of those interested is hoped for. The league is to be congratulated upon the fact that John R. Anderson will talk to them on that evening. Mr. Anderson is well known through his connection with the Boston Floating hospital; he is an ardent suffragist and all will be glad to hear his reasons. There will be light refreshments, a few stereopticon views, and an opportunity for sociability. All interested or willing to become so are cordially invited and welcome.

At the meeting of Court Pride, of Ar-

At the meeting of Court Pride, of Arlington, F. of A., Monday evening, six candidates were initiated and twelve propositions for membership were received. Chief Ranger Daniel M. Hooley, in behalf of the court, presented the solid gold watch charm which was offered by the court as a prize in the ticket sellby the court as a prize in the ticket selling contest to Michael J. Galvin, who was an easy winner. The recipient responded in a clever manner and was given an ovation.

Fred Damon, Joseph Ronco and Fred Wheeler have gone to Dead River, Me., for a two weeks' hunting trip.

The N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. gave all the subscribers free news service election night, and although the news which kept coming was not very exciting, for which the company was not responsible, the subscribers kept on the lines until every place had been heard from.

Announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Rebecca Jenks to George Livermore Fiske has been made. The ceremony will be at St. John's church, Wednesday evening, Nov. 20. Charles T. Clark, recently the keeper of the Spy Pond house, who was fined, some months ago in one of the lower courts, fifty dollars for unlawfully selling intoxicating liquors, and at the time appealed his case, on Tuesday morning withdrew his appeal and paid his fine of $50.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jarvis, of New York city, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. thur Swan, at their home on Pleasant School Superintendent Sutcliffe was in attendance on Friday on the 35th meet-ing of the Massachusetts Superintend-ents' association, held in the Art Museum building in Springfield.

S. A. Smith is putting on a pleasant and convenient addition to his house on Academy street. The addition enlarges the sitting room on the southwest by 12 feet, and it enlarges the room above by the same number of feet. There are to be nine windows in each of the remodelled rooms. Mr. Smith believes in catching and appropriating the sunshipe ing and appropriating the sunshihe.

Ex-Town Clerk B. Delmont Locke is very materially improved mentally, and is better physically. The many friends of Mr. Locke will be glad to learn of his improved condition.

Mrs. Charles Hill, 160 Pleasant street, is to have her home with her daugnter, Mrs. John Gray, 159 Pleasant street.

Mary Parker, Bartlett avenue, gave a birthday party, Tuesday afternéon, to her schoolmates in Miss Ethel Welling-lon's room.

It is reported on all sides that there is a growing interest in the ministry of the Rev. Mr. Gill, pastor of the Unitarian church. The audiences have substantially increased, of late, and pews have found a readier rental. Mr. Gill's large Bible class is one of unusual interest. Mr. Gill is one of the most scholarly men of his denomination, and is so regarded by the Unitarian church throughout Massachusetts.

A reporter of the Enterprise called on throughout Massachusetts.

A reporter of the Enterprise called on Edward T. Hornblower, on Academy street, Tuesday, to find him still confined to his room by reason of the fall he had two weeks ago.

Miss Carrie L. Turnbull, the efficient clerk in the Arlington news rooms, of which Frank P. Dyer is manager, is taking a week's vacation, and it is well earned. Miss Turnbull has been associated with the Arlington News Co, for the past five years, and she has proved herself no small factor in its success. Always at her post of duty, she invariably meets in a pleasant way the many patrons of the company. All the friends of Miss Turnbull are wishing her a week of restful enjoyment.

A reporter of the Enterprise called at week of restrui enjoyment.

A reporter of the Enterprise called at the Misses Wellington's school on Maple street, Wednesday morning. He found a pleasant group of 56 children with a full corps of teachers, Miss Helen Damon has now the room formerly taught by her sister, Miss Agnes, now Mrs. Arthur Wellington. Arlington has much reason to feel proud of its kindergarten school. A character party under the auspices of St. Agnes' parish will be given in town hall, Friday evening, Nov. 22.

of St. Agnes parish will be given in town hall, Friday evening, Nov. 22.

There is now on exhibition in the trustees' room in Robbins library a series of pictures representing scenes along the Denver & Rio Grande R. R. These scenes or photographs are twelve in number: Cathedral spires; Garden of the Gods; Monument park; Pike's peak; Roval gorge, Grand Canon of the Arkansas; first tunnel, canon of Grand river; second tunnel; walls of canon Grand river; Echo cliffs, canon of Grand river; Currecanti needle, Black canon of the Rio las Animas. These photographs are loaned the Art Library club, of Boston, and as this club has for its membership the several libraries about Boston, the home or Boston club loans from time to time pictures or photographs, which are put on exhibition. Robbins library belongs to this Art Library club. The pictures now on exhibition are well worth seeing. The public is invited to examine them.

Walter I. Fuller,

Electric Work of Every Description.
Lights, Bells, Gas Lighting, Burglar Alarms, etc. Repairing Promptly Attended To.

Electrician,

Office, Wetherbee Bros., 480 Mass. Ave., Arlington.

Residence, East Lexington.

IF YOU HAVE AN IDEA of changing your residence, let me show you houses in WINCHESTER. CEO. ADAMS WOODS, Winchester Office, Blaikle Bidg. 50 State St., Boston.

Over P. O. Tel. 123-7 Winchester.

are hard to buy unless you know where to buy.

For the best buy of

W. K. HUTCHINSON

STORES:

ARLINGTON.

is not the only consideration when is also of some importance, but this is an intangible something, the lack of which often defeats the purpose of

has not only the quality but the style that makes it valuable and keeps it

We are showing the finest line of calendars ever exhibited in town and can make it an object for the local business men to obtain them right at home. Call and see them, or let us come and show them to you at your convenience. We are booking orders

ENTERPRISE

P. O. Building,

Arlington

now for December delivery.

PRINT

CALL AT THE

Confectionery,

Tobacco, Cigars, etc.

A. O. SPRAGUE

ARLINGTON.

For the Best of Cutlery

B. Hunter & Co.

60 SUMMER STREET.

BOSTON.

Builders' and Hardware

An Upstosdate Hardware Store.

All Mechanics' Tools

of the Best Makers

H. P. LONGLEY,

QUICK LUNCH.

Confectionery, Cigars, Tobacco, Tonics, Soda, Fruit.

BOSTON ELEVATED WAITING ROOM,

Dr. G. W. Yale,

DENTIST,

At parlors, 14-16 Post-office Building,

ARLINGTON,

Arlington.

and Material.

and Specialties in

Hardware

669 MASS. AVE.

Vegetables

45 PARK AVE.,

ordering printing

Quality . .

the customer

Our Work . .

out of the waste basket.

Calendars for 1902.

is not all

Style . .

Price . .

CHRYSANTHEMUMS Fresh Fruit and Now in Bloom in Pots and Cut

CARNATIONS, FERNS,

PALMS, AURICARIAS. Funeral Designs a Specialty.

W. W. Rawson's

Corner Medford and Warren Streets. Arlington.

GEO. A. LAW,

Hack and Livery Stable.

Having practically rebuilt the inside of my stable, and added ten new stalls, I am now prepared to take new boarders. I assure first class board and right prices. Teams sent and called for.

Mass. Ave., Arlington.

HENRY A. BELLAMY, Contractor

Builder.

72 WALNUT STREET, ARLINGTON

OFFICE: 113 DEVONSHIRE ST., BOSTON. Telephone, 3488-3 Main.

ESTABLISHED 1841.

J. HENRY HARTWELL & SON.

Mystic Street Waiting-Room Undertakers, Quick Lunch.

4 MEDFORD STREET. ARLINGTON.

Telephone Connection.

WE MOVE YOU QUICKLY We Move Ourselves Sometimes. This Time to

6 MILL ST., OPPOSITE JASON STREET. Piano and Furniture Moving a specialty.

Boston Offices—36 Court Sq., 48 Chatham St., 17 Kingston St., order box, Faneuti Hall Market Arlington Offices—Cushing's Store at Heights Town Hall, corner Henderson Street, and McRowe's store.

WOOD BROS.' EXPRESS ARLINGTON.

Have Your Horses Shod Mill Street Shoeing Forge.

26 Mill Street, ARLINGTON.

Horses Shod by experienced workmen.

First-class work guaranteed. Horses called for and delivered. TELEPHONE 242-2.

FRANK J. HOLLAND.

Small Metal Signs, Door Plates, and Numbers, Signs Repolished and Refilled. Mail Orders Promptly Attended To.

TO LET.

Storage room for Furniture, Stoves, etc. We make two trips to Boston daily, first at 8.30. First team due from Boston at Special attention paid to Overreaching and Interfering Horses.

Engraving.

12 Sylvia St., Arlington Heights. Box 68.

HOUSE OF SIX ROOMS, hot and cold water and bath, furnace heat and gas. Apply at 58 Mystic street.

THE ENTERPRISE. () Telephone, Arlington 301-2.

[Entered as Second-Class Matter.]

Saturday, November 9, 1901.

THE ENTERPRISE IS FOR SALE IN LEXINGTON BY:
H. V. Smith, Lexington.
L. A. Austin, P. O., East Lexington.
W. L. Burriit, P. O., North Lexington.

DON'T BE SO SURE.

Don't be so sure that a plural substantive may not sometimes become properly the subject of a plural verb. The Poet Laureate Austin has recently used the plural subject with a singular verb and like instances of poetic license are to be found in the writings of Tennyson, Dryden and other poets. Kipling, in his "Recessiontakes this same liberty. These sticklers of grammatical rules, they "strain at a gnat and swallow a camel.

"LET US KILL HIM."

"Come let us kill him, that we may share the inheritance" is the way the scriptural verse reads. And the above is practically what many a business man is saying in an italicised way in his department of Miel | This succeeding in business by driving one's competitor to the wall should be regarded as murder in the first degree. It is against every law of political economy, as well as contrary to all scriptural teaching, that the business world should be fenced in. There is room for all, and each man is to have an equal chance in the activities of life. When a business man declares in his manner of life and in his way of ting things "There is no room in my tewn, neither has one a right to come alongside of me who is interested in my class of work," then he substantially declares "Come let us kill him that we may share the inheritance." Why not be magnanimous and give hearty welcome to sun | Why belittle ourselves and demean ourselves by saying in a whining way "We were here first"? Be a man, and no longer make a fool of yourself.

The flag pole at East Lexington might have a more dignified appearance if it stood more erect. It now tips like a ship with the ballast on one side. Why not fix it?

New York city has especial cause for thanksgiving and praise now that it is well rid of Croker and Van Wyck.

The Brick Store.

Buy Hatch Brand of Canned Goods and other Gro-

R. W. Holbrook. Massachusetts Avenue, EAST LEXINGTON.

Why Smoke

a poor cigar, of poor quality and poor manufacture when you can get a clear hand-made cigar like

The "Blue Bird" for 5 cents or the "Old Belfry"

Manufactured in East Lexington by

CHARLES G. KAUFFMANN

Mrs. J. D. Tholldeen. DINING ROOM. Good Home Dinner, 25c Transients Accomodated POST OFFICE BLOCK, Mass. Ave., Lexington.

LEONARD A. SAVILLE, Office, Post Office Building, Lexington, Farms, Houses and Land for Sale

Furnished Houses to Rent Agent for Man-chester Insurance Co., a first-class Company at regular rates.

LEXINGTON LOCALS.

From the amount of business now being done at W. L. Burrill's store at North Lexington, it can be truly said it is the center for that section. F. E. Gleason, of North Lexington, has just built a handsome wooden building for his biddies.

The attention of our readers is called the advertisement in another column The Prudential Colony of Virginia, to are offering inducements to settlers that progressive community.

in that progressive community.

Chester Fogg and Wm. Brandywine, aged 16 and 14 years, respectively, were before the Concord courf. Tuesday, charged with larceny of a gun from adgust Young, of Utica street. Officer Maguire made the arrests and the evidence against the lads was ready to confront them, but a plea of guilty was entered and the court continued the cases one month for sentence. As they are juveniles the court must confer with the state agent before deciding what shall be done. The lads have been a source of trouble to the officers for some time and complaints against them have been many. Mr. Young recovered his stolen property from another bov who had traded for it.

James A. Marden, of post 36, of Ar-

James A. Marden, of post 36, of Ar-lington, will inspect post 119, G. A. R. Thursday evening, Nov. 14. Mrs. John F. Hutchinson will give a musical treat to her friends at the Rus-sell house, Thursday, Nov. 14.

sell house, Thursday, Nov. 14.

Mrs. Christopher Hamlin, of Canton Centre, Ct., is visiting her father, A. M. Redman, at his home on Clark street.

James Comley, who has received so many prizes for his beautiful flowers has opened his hot-houses to the public this fall. His chrysanthemums are even more lively than ever this season, and are surely well worth seeing.

This week the two Dow boys, George and Harry, were tried in court for assault upon two young girls. George was fined $100 and put on probation for a year, and Harry was also put on a year's probation.

H. V. Smith has a fine collection of souvenir china in his window this week. This is a new business venture, and one which is bound to pay, because everything which he has is attractive and useful, besides being something new. The St. John place, on Hancock street which has been undergoing repairs and improvements for some time, is now hearly finished, and is so changed that one would hardly recognize it. There will be a Christian Endeavor so-cial at the Hancock church, Tuesday evening All are invited to attend.

The ladies of the Baptist church heid their missionary meeting Thursday afternoon, when, for the first time, they took up a new series of "Lessons in missions," which have been carefully prepared and which are interesting as well as instructive. This year the society will sew for their bethel in Boston. The meeting was made unusually interesting meeting was made unusually interesting by a talk on Cuba by Mrs. Merrow, who has been there a year. She told of the peculiar customs of the Cubans their mode of living, and also told some very amusing stories concerning them. Her accounts were so entertaining and vivid that one could not help being interest-ed, and her kindness was surely fully appreciated by the ladies of the society.

Next Wednesday the sewing circle will meet at Mrs. Bertwell's at 2 o'clock. There will be no supper, but a sociable will be held in the evening, when light refreshments will be served.

The largest thimble party that has ever been held, met at the Hancock church, Friday noon. Mrs. A. M. Tucker, chairman of the lunch committee, served an excellent spread, which the ladies all enjoyed very much. In the afternoon Miss Eberman sang a solo; Miss Emma Nichels gave a very entertaining account. Eberman sang a solo; Miss Emma Nich-ols gave a very entertaining account of the Christian Endeavor convention at Cincinnati, which she attended last sum-mer; then there was news from Miss Stone, and in connection with this Mrs, Cyrus Hamlin, whom everyone is always eager to hear, gave an interesting ac-count of missionary life, telling its bright and dark sides.

At the last meeting of the Tourist club, at the home of Miss Emma Hamlin, on Bloomfield street, Mrs. Willard read a paper on "Frentenac." All the papers were well written and show careful consideration, Next week the society will meet with Mrs. French on Merriam street.

street.

The old high school building has been moved this week, but it will be some time before the furnaces can be put in place, and everything ready for occupancy. The pupils of that school are now in the grammar school building, where some of the classes have to be dismissed at 11 o'clock in order to accommodate them. All are glad it is only a temporary arrangement.

Fiske Bros. have a new plate glass.

Fiske Bros. have a new plate glass window in the front of their store in the Hunt block. The old one was recently broken. John McKay made the change for Mr. Hunt.

J. P. Daley, of Massachusetts avenue has gone to Maine for a hunting trip. Augustus Dow, Walter French, Michael McDonald, George Waitt, T. J. Griffin and J. Sargent expect to go soon to the Adirondacks for a three weeks' hunting

M. J. Jacobs and family, of Richmond, Vt., have moved into Mr. Vailles' house at North Lexington. The house has never been occupied, although erected five or six years ago.

five or six years ago.

The directors of the Lexington Fellowship of Charities have been making arrangements to secure a district nurse for the town, whose services shall be available for daily calls in cases where the constant attendance of a nurse is not required. The plan has been carefully wrought out and will be presented at a public meeting of the society, to be held

A. S. MITCHELL, AUCTIONEE

Sales of Real Estate and Personal Property mad bought or money advanced into it. Parties wis any property appraised in settling estates or of charge by sending me a postal to call. Boston Office, 113 Devenshire Street. Telephone 1509 Main. Residence, Hunt Block, Lexington.

You can have your Bicycle Cleaned and Repaired; Your Tires Plugged and Vulcanized; Moun Sewing Machine Cleaned and Repaired;

Your Lawn Mowers Cleaned and Sharpened; Your Grass Shears, Household Scissors and Knives Sharpened;

Your Locks Repaired and Keys Fitted; Where? Why! at

MOTTERISKE BROS.

ATOWNS AVE, TOTAL LEXINGTON, MASS.

LUMBER...

FOR ALL PURPOSES

Lexington Lumber Co.,

Telephone 48.

LEXINGTON.

in the chapel of Hancock church, Wednesday evening, at 7.45. As this is a matter of public interest, all are cordially invited to attend. It is hoped that the nurse will enter upon her duties about the first of next month. The plan will be fully explained and discussed at this meeting.

Charles A. Phelps, milkman, has filed a bankruptcy petition. His fiabilities are $10,076 58, most of which is secured. The largest unsecured creditor is Mary L. Brigham, $512. Assets are $1557. There was an auction sale of farming property and household furniture. Thurs-day on the farm on Waltham street, op-posite Allen street.

HANCOCK CHURCH.

HANCOCK CHURCH.

At the Hancock church Sunday morning. Rev. Mr. Carter preached the first of three sermons, from the text, "All things are yours, ye are Christ's, and Christ is God's." From the first clause he drew the subject, "Man's Rightful Place in this National World." Next Sunday morning the theme will be taken from the next phrase, "Ye are Christ's."

Christ's."

The subject for Sunday morning will be "Determination" as an element of manly character. This will be specially illustrated from the life of Booker T. Washingon, a section being read from his graduating essay which has never been published and which came into Mr. Carter's hands last summer.

published and which came into Mr. Carter's hands last summer.

Arthur Tucker will lead the next meeting of the Christian Endeavor, the subject of which will be our nation; bondage. This is a temperance meeting.

The Christian Endeavor society has decided to hold its meetings Sunday evenings during the winter, instead of Monday evenings.

LEXINGTON GOLF.

(From the Sunday Post.) The Lexington Golf club is one of the nost enterprising of the Boston clubs.

The club was organized in 1897, nine The club was organized in 1897, nine holes being laid out. This ground had to be abandoned and a new nine-hole course was laid out last year. The course possesses fine greens and is well supplied with artificial hazards. The course is somewhat short, but will be lengthened shortly.

Miss Emily A. Lockwood, one of the most prominent lady players in America, is one of the most enthusiastic members of the club. Some prominent members are H. I. Sewall, R. G. Lockwood and W.

ESTABLISHED 1864.

Our . . . Grain Trade Is Increasing. WHY?

Because we sell the very best quality at lowest cash prices. Try us and see for yourself.

C. A. BUTTERS

POST OFFICE BLOCK. LEXINGTON.

LEXINGTON FRUIT STORE C. CATERINO, Proprietor.

Foreign and Domestic Fruits, CONFECTIONERY, CIGARS, Etc. All kinds of Fruits in their Season. Sherburne Block,

As Good As New.

Carriage building a specialty. Good work in short order. H. A. SHAW, off Depot Sq., Residence, Muzzey St. LEXINGTON.

H. V. SMITH. Periodicals, Confectionery, Cigars,

Boston and New York Newspapers Boots, Shoes, Bicycles, Gent's Furnishings, OPP. P. O. LEXINGTON.

J. J. TOOMEY, Fashionable Hairdresser

Pompadour and Children's Hair-cutting a Specialty. Razors Honed and Re-concaved HUNT BLOCK, MASSACHUSETTS AVENUE

J. W. GRIFFIN. Horse Shoeing, Wagon & Carriage Building, (Shop rear of Hunt's Building.) LEXINGTON.

CHARLES ROOKE, Upholsterer and Cabinet-Maker, CARPET and Shade Work, Mattresses Made Over, Furniture Repaired and Polished. Antique Furniture Repaired and Refinished same as Original. Reproduction of Antiques. Furniture Bought or Taken in Exchange. Lexington.

LEXINGTON GRAIN MILLS. M. F. WILBUR, Prop.

Flour, Grain, Hay and Straw AT WHOLESALE OR RETAIL

Hay shipped direct from Michigan and delivered at lowest market prices. Grains are received direct from western growers and are sold at prices which cannot be

Office, off Massachusetts Ave. LEXINGTON.

MOAKLEY'S PHARMACY Drugs and Medicines.

Massachusetts Ave. and Waltham St., LEXINGTON.

FEAR SMALLPOX. A 10.

Lexington Pupils to be Vaccinated to Avoid Danger of the Disease.

The Lexington board of health does not wish to have a small pox scare in the town, and it is requested that all pupils in the public schools who have not been vaccinated be treated at once, and those who have been vaccinated, but not recently, should go through the ordeal a second time. The request also applies to places where there are persons employed, but the board has not issued any decisive orders, preferring to manifest the request, in the hope and expectation that it will be acted upon by the larger number of persons, and thus avoid as much of the danger as possible. The presence of small pox in neighboravoid as much of the danger as possible, The presence of small pox in neighboring towns causes the officials to feel some anxiety in the matter, but unless the disease comes to Lexington or spreads rapidly in other places, the request will not be enforced in an order. The board of health at its meeting Tuesday evening elected Dr. J. O. Tilton, who is a member of the board, to the office of clerk in the place of F. O. Downer, Charles M. Parker was chosen inspector of meat.

East Lexington.

The change of grade on Massachusetts avenue, made necessary by the laying of the macadam, has made it necessary to raise and rebuild several lengths of concrete sidewalk; also the approaches to several driveways. G. H. Lowe's men have been busy, this week, doing the

A platform has been built over the old A platform has been built over the old town pump and a pump will be put on it to supply water for the watering-cart, which has been kept out of service so long that the macadam on the avenue has commenced to loosen up, allowing the crushed gione to become scattered over the surface.

The Finance club held its regular meeting at its room in the Stone building, Monday evening.

Under the anspices of the Young People's guild, James H. Phillips will give a graphophone concert in Folien church, Friday, Nov. 15, 127, 745 o'clock. It will be an entertainment which will amuse the children and please the older people. The Jolly Four held their second assembly in Village hall, Tuesday evening. The hall was well filled with dancers from this village and surrounding towns. Doane's orchestra furnished music and refreshments were served during intermission. The next assembly will be held Tuesday, Nov. 19.

Mrs. Oliver Brown remains quite seriously ill and is still under the doctor's George D. Estabrook was out about the street again, this week. Mr. and Mrs. C. Herbert Lowe have returned from their wedding trip. They were met at the station by Mr. Lowe's ather, who drove them to his house on Massachusetts avenue, where an agreeable surprise awaited them. The house was full of relatives and friends who gave them a hearty welcome home and extended their warmest congratulations.

Mrs. Ernest D. McDonald has been extended their warmest congratulations.

Mrs. Ernest D. McDonald has been seriously ill at her home on Maple street.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Watkins held their first at home Wednesday evening at their Pleasant street home. Many out of town relatives and friends were present, who made the evening very enjoyable and one long to be remembered by Mn. and Mrs. Watkins. They received many beautiful and useful presents, including an elaborate dinner set and a fine Morris chair.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Tyler re-

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Tyler re-urned from their wedding tour, Wednes-lay, and have taken up their residence day, and have taken up their resid in their new house on Maple street The Telephone company is still at work on the lower end of the avenue. The long stretch of ledge they encountered bequired considerable blasting.

FOLLEN CHURCH.

The subject of the pastor's sermon at Follen church, Sunday, was "In God ... Folleh church, Sunday, was "In God ...e Trust." He said, in part: "we must have trust and hope; it is necessary to our life. We cannot live a self-centred life, but must have faith, hope and trust in those around us if we would succeed in this world. We are apt to start out in life with a feeling that we are the centre of all things, that we can accomplish what we attempt through our own individual power. Then we come to a second stage, when our eyes are open to see what poor excluses for men we are and how little we alone can do. Lastly, we come to a stage of faith and trust, both in ourselves and those around us. We must met four proportion with hope both in ourselves and those around us. We must meet our fomorrow with hope and courage. We must trust God for the future. This higher faith and trust comes not without effort. We must pay the price it is worth. 'If God be for us, who can be against us?' To those who love and trust God all things work together for good.'

The Y. P. guild had charge of the evening meeting, the subject of which was "Christianity and What It is to Us."
Rev. L. D. Cochrane will preach tomorrow on "Evidences of Good in the Heart." In the evening the subject of his sermon will be "Heroism."

BAPTIST SOCIETY.

C. D. Easton preached a very interesting sermon Sunday from John 6; 28-29, taking for his subject. "The Bread Winners' Burden Lifter." The usual services will be held tomorrow in Village hall. Sunday school at 3 p.m. Evening service at 7 p.m. All are cordially invited.

OLD BELFRY CLUB.

The Looking Backwards party at the club Saturday evening might more appropriately be called an "April fool," since, after all the talk, only twelve had the courage to appear in full rig. But there were plenty who came to "look on," and perhaps they didn't make life miserable for those poor mortals. Those twelve, who truly deserve special mention, are; Miss Antau Dale, who, disguised as a spinster, carried out her part finely; Miss Clara Bigelow, dressed as a country lassie; Miss Mary Hunt; the Misses Bertha Hutchinson and Ruth Galoupe, who made fine coon twins; Mrs. J. F. Ballard, who in her disguise, made a typical "Bridget"; Miss Alice Harrington, whose disguise, was eo good that her identity was not discovered until after the second dance when the whole company unmasted. John Ballard, who made a fine country clown, Frank Mason, who, although his head was somewhat swelled made at admirable skeleton; and William Ballard. Edward Worthen and Richard Wellington. The dance was to have opened with a "Portland Fancy." but on account of the small number of participants, a waltz was substituted. It was made a great deal of fun for everyphe, but as the twelve did not wish to be the only ones," they asked the lookers on to join them, which they did after the second dance, The music was all that could be asked, and although the party was rather small, it was, nevertheless, a joily dance.

The ladies wishing to bowl were evidently few, judging from the altendance at the meeting Tuesday of this week. A second chance is to be given those who were unable to attend the last meeting, another being arranged for Friday. The four last names added to the membership list are Edward Glynn and the Misses Austiss Hunt, Minerva Smith and Corinne Locke.

The Old Belfry club bowls "sfirst match on the home alleys against Ar-

Misses Austiss Hunt, Minerva Smith and Corinne Locke.

The Old Beirry club bowls is first match en the home alleys against Arlington, Thursday evening.

In the second series of Cowbow pool, which began Monday evening Nov. 4, Messra, West and Luke defeated James Smith and Dr. Osgood in a score of 201 to 192. Wednesday evening, Mrs. Mead and Hendley won against J. F. Turner and Mr. Bigelow, with the score of 201 to 193.

Miss Packard had a very large class in daneing at the club, Thursday, between 251 and 26 children being present. Miss Packard is one who will succeed wherever, she goes for her attractive personality and her pleasant manner win her many friends.

P. J. STEVENS,

Custom TAILOR.

Special Attention Given to ORDER WORK. eansing, Dyeing and Repairing Neatly Done Sherburne Row, Mass. Ave., LEXINGTON.

THOMAS SPEED, Jobbing and - -Ornamental Gardener. Men always on hand by the day or week. Contracts promptly attended to.

Residence, - - - Vine St., Lexington

E. B. McLALAN, (Successor to Wm. E. Denham)

HORSESHOER, Special attention given to Over-reaching, Interfering, or Lame Horses.

Shop at the Old Stand, Adjoining R. R. Station, Westerly Side, Lexington.

On September 26, 1901. the Misses Brooks reopened their SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, to the preparatory department of which boys will be admitted. For terms and further particulars, address MISS BROOKS, Warren St., Lexington.

NOURSE & CO., Lexington Express.

Furniture and Piano Moving. 32 COURT SQUARE, 75 KILBY STREET, 42 F. H. MARKET, LEXINGTON OFFICE,

BELMONT AND WAVERLEY.

(Continued from Page One.)

evening. A graphophone entertainment was furnished by a visiting member from Arlington Heights, after which a clam chowder lunch was served, well prepared by one of the local culinary Miss Blanche Houlahan, of Millbury, spent Saturday and Sunday at her home on White street. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Richardson have given up housekeeping and are rooming at Mrs. Deborah Holt's house, corner at Mrs. Deborah Holts hous. Lexington and Sycamore streets. Harry Bate commenced an engagement Monday as first cornetist at the Bijou Opera house in an orchestra of twenty musicians specially selected for the season of opera which opened this week at that house with "Il Trovatore." Next week's opera will be "Iolanthe."

week's opera will be "lolanthe."

Daniel Twomey has lately sold two handsome houses in Watertown, built on the Hiram Whitney estate, and is about to break ground for two others. He is engaged to build a hall on Sycamore street opposite Davis, and is completing another on Thayer road. He is also putting up a $15,000 house in Cambridge. He is an enterprising and successful builder who can be relied on to do satisfactory work.

Lyndon Clapp, of Waitham, will move into a suite on Dwight street this week. Willis Gannett has engaged a suite of coms in the Wentzel house near Trapelo oad on Sycamore street.

Mrs. Marjie Heald has been in Maine this summer, and has buried her son and father. In returning to Waverley she will occupy the apartment in Mr. Bradbury's block recently vacated by Howard H. Slocomb. Mrs. Howard H. Slocomb has gone to St. John, N. B., to attend her mother, who is seriously ill, and is hardly ex-pected to recover.

Miss Nellie Chase has accepted a posi-tion with the N.-E. Tel. & Tel. Co., as telephone operator, and commenced her duties at the Cambridge "exchange" Monday.

The many friends of Miss Annie Johnson will be pleased to learn that she has resumed her duties at the Dan-iel Butler school.

Col. E. C. Benton has boarded in the south side of his veranda to form an alcove from one of the rooms. It is understood that a beautiful stained glass window is to be placed therein.

L. G. Dennett is having a neat stable built at the rear of his estate on Burn-ham street.

ham street.

Thursday, Noy. 7, Founder's day at Carnegie institute. Pittsburg, was marked by able addresses by ex-President Grover Cleveland and Joseph Jefferson, and the announcement of the awards of the Carnegie international art jury. The awards, announced by President Frew of the institute, were as follows: First prize, $1500 and gold medal, "An Arrangement," by Alfred Maurer, New York; second prize, $1000 and sliver medal, "Sewing—a. Portrait," by Ellen M. Ahrens; third prize, $500 and bronze medal, "The Venetian Blind," by Edmund C. Tarbell, of Boston; honorable mention, "The Hour Glass," by Mary L Macomber, Waverley, Mass., and "Light," by Henri Le Sidaner.

WAVERLEY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The following persons were received into the membership of the Waverley Congregational church last Sunday: Miss Midred F. Houlahan, on confession of faith; Miss M. A. Aflen, Miss Carrie B. Dean, Mrs. Pollard and son, Richard Pollard, by letter from other churches.

Richard Pollard, by letter from other churches.

The church has voted to adopt "In Excelsis" as its hymn book. The books will be purchased at once.

Mrs. W. R. Lamkin led the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting last Sunday evening; subject, "God's Leading in Our Lives," A large number were present.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY SOCIABLE.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY SOCIABLE.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Waverley Congregational church held the first of its regular series of monthly sociables in Waverley hall, Wednesday evening. Supper was served from 7 to 8, by a corps of waitresses under the direction of Mrs. Little, Mrs. Guest, Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Kendall.

The entertainment, which commenced at 8, was arranged by Harry E. Carpenter and Miss Clara A. Poor and consisted of the following well rendered numbers: Piano duet, Misses Blanche Jarrett and Katharine Flett; reading, Miss Viola, Vivian, of Emerson '02; tenor solo, "Choir Invisible," Mr. Creighton; duet, piano and mandolin, Misses Smith and Stinson; reading, Miss Vivian; piano solo, Miss fire Smith; tenor solo, "An Irish Love Song," Mr. Creighton; series of tableaux, "Popular Ada," arranged by Miss Clara A. Poor.

WAVERLEY UNITARIAN SOCIETY.

Rev. Mr. Allen spoke last Sunday about "Overcoming Evil with Good." He began by referring to the crucifixion of Jesus as the most conspicuous instance in all history of a perfect magnanimity by which evil was at last overcome by good. In this magnanimity his life was indeed an incarnation of God; and his gospel tells the world that only by good can evil be finally overcome, because the root of all evil is the unloving, selfish heart, and nothing but love can ever transform this unloving spirit. Still we must remember that there is need of wrath to prepare the way for love. There must be inexorable penalties which not even divine forgiveness can remove. Without such wrath and penalty, magnanimity would only demoralize WAVERLEY UNITARIAN SOCIETY in most cases; i on the for there are man in the formal appreciate magnanismity undisciplined by suffering. Abraham coin's character was singularly magnatismous, but McClellan and Chase to whom he had been very generous, never appreciated it. Nevertheless it is our duty to be magnanismous first by never chest. imous but McClellan and Chase to whom he had been very generous, never appreciated it. Nevertheless it is our duty to be magnanimous, first by, never cherishing any personal resentment, which will increase the evil feeling in others, instead of overcoming it, and, secondly, by always cherishing love in even the midst of wrath. Many anecdotes illustrate this way of overcoming evil. John Roach, of New Bedford, employed 25,000 men at one time or another and found 5 of these criminally guilty, but he saved 20 out of these 75. A man who had been repeatedly forgiven for drunkenness, at last asked to be discharged. Mr. Roach wrote out a form of resignation and told the man to carry it with him, and, whenever about to give way to the drink-appetite, to sign and send it. The man was never drunk again. A western physician was stopped at night by a robber and shot at, but, returning the shot, seriously wounded the man. The doctor then took care of the man for many weeks and employed him afterwards, and the man led an honest life. The good overcame the evil. And must not this be the divine way of ealing with evil in this world?

The Ladies' Union society met with Mrs. G. A. Putney on Whitemore street. Tuesday afternoon.

A very interesting meeting of the Young People's Religious union was held in the church, Sunday evening. Vice-president Malcolm Hall presided Docothy Routledge led the services, and Frank Stearns the topic, "William, Ellery Channing." The subject was well taken up by all the members.

Mr. Allen's subject tomorrow is "The Unity of the Spirit."

The Young People's Religious union was well represented at the "holidsy fair" at Hotel Vendome, Wednesday and Thursday this week.

BELMONT PUBLIC LIBRARY. NEW BOOKS

Philosophy. Hamong, Leigh, Count de, Cheiros language of the hand 133-H18

Religion. Fiske, John. Life everlasting .. 218. F54L Sociology.

Hadley, Arthur Twining. Education of the American citizen 304 HIP Hersey, Heloise Edwina. To giris: A 396-H42

Philology. Matthews, James Brander, speech: Essays on English Parts of 420-M43

Science, Trevere, Edward, Experimental elec-Fine Arts.

Marchesi, Mme. Mathilde. Ten singing Arlo, Talks on writing Eng-Secma series ... 808-B31 Herbert Woodfield Men and rs ... 824-P28M letters History. Southwick, Noah. Evolution of a state: or recollections of old Texas days ... 976.4.SM6

Arnim, Countess von, Benefactress Barr, Amelja E. Lion's whelp ... B27LI Besant, Sir Walter. Lady of Lynn B464L Brooks, Noah, Lem: A New England

village boy
Burnett, Frances Hodgson, Fair barbarian
Cable, George Washington. Cavaller C112C C122ET Caine, Hall. Eternal city C122ET Farquhar, Anna. Her Washington experience
Flandran, Charles M. Diary of a
FeisDI Flandran, freshman Hawkins, Anthony Hope. Tristram of Hawkins, Anthony Hope. Tristram of HalfTR Henty, G. A. With Roberts at Prejusyrwa. Hyne Cutcliffe Adventures of Captain Kettle

Kettle H993A

Jewett, Sarah Orne, Tory lover J65TO

Mitchell, S. Weir, Characteristics

Mitchell, S. Weir, Circumstance M696CH

Mitchell, S. Weir, Circumstance M696CH

Parker, Gilbert, Right of way 1, 123R1

Philipotts, Eden, Striking hours, 1000

other stories

BELMONT ADVERTISERS.

E. PRICE. Blacksmith and Wheelwright

Horseshoeing and Jobbing promptly attended

Carriage and Sign Paint-

Belmont, Mass.

Fruit, Candy, Tonics.

Quick Lunch, Bakery and Tobacco.

SAMUEL ORTOLANO,

Leonard Street, Belmont.

W. L. CHENERY. Insurance.

Belmont, Mass.

GEORGE E. MARTIN. Harness Maker.

Repairing of all Kinds of Leather Good Trunks, Bags, Etc., Whips, Harnesses an Stable Supplies. LEONARD STREET. BE BELMONT

Choice Confectionery,

Hot Drinks, Lunches to Order JOHN B. PERAULT.

PAINTING, DECORATING, ENAMELLIS

Madeleine's Love

HOW IT WAS THWARTED BY

A VILLAIN.

Perhaps I ought not fo tell this story, for it redounds little to the credit of man's sex. However, it is a good story all the same, so here it is:

The chief events occurred at Mme. Rousselin's country house, near La Rochebillere, in a wild, densely wooded country where bunting is the chief amusement of the inhabitants. The house is one of the best I know, and Mme. Rousselin had added to its attractions by taking her young niece Madeleine, who had just lost her parents, to live with her. Madeleine had no fortune, but she was divinely pretty. She had those soft, mild eyes that go straight to your heart, and the most charming and indescribable air of delicacy, refinement and affectionateness, She was, indeed, by far too tempting a morsel to put under the very claws, so to speak, of that scoundrel Louis, Mme. selin's son, who had developed from an incorrigible spoiled child into a man of igh manners and violent emotions, as a result of his life in the woods and his constant association with boors. Algh he was far too stupid to appreciate Madeleine as she deserved, he was yet strongly attracted by her beauty.

The girl's frank contempt and dislike him furious, and before long he became jealous as well. For, though Made-leine had no feeling but aversion for her blackguard of a cousin, she did not extend that sentiment to men in general. Certainly not to one man in particular, Edmond Renaud.

Edmond was a handsome youth and fully capable of appreciating Madeleine's character as well as her beauty. So, when he came home after completing his legal studies in Paris, he fell in love with her at once. At church he never took his eyes off her face, and on weekdays he bunted the vicinity of the Rousselin house in the hope of getting a stolen glimpse of her beautiful features. He was very happy in this unavowed love, the more so that Madeleine's conscious look, blushes and air of embarrassment plainly told him that his feeling was re-

He was emboldened to make a formal proposition of marriage. This was promptly rejected by Mme. Rousselin, and Edmond's parents also had objections to offer on account of Madeleine's lack of fortune. Mme. Rousselin gave her niece's youth as the ground of her refusal, but in reality she was obeying the suggestion of her son, whom Madeleine's obvious attachment to his rival had made more furious than ever.

And now the story becomes dramatic. Edmond remained in the country during half of the winter, his love only increased by obstacles, until he was forced to choose between two plans submitted to him by his father. He must either return to Paris or accept a colonial post which was offered to him. At all events, he must leave the spot, and forthwith.

Madeleine on her return from church one Sunday found a note in her muff. There were only a few passionate lines, in which Edmond assured her of his love and begged for a meeting in which she could tell him whether it was returned or not. If she loved him, be would wait for efface himself forever. But he must have an answer, if only a word. He would steal into her garden that evening, conhimself behind the big snowman which the gardener's sons had erected, and there wait patiently for her - for hours, if necessary. If she did not come at all, it would mean "no," and he would

He carried out his programme, but the wharp eyes of a servant, who reported the temporary use. matter to Louis Rousselin.

"Hiding, you say?" Louis asked. Yes, sir; behind the snowman, like his shadow, opposite the house, which he is watching as if expecting some one. At

"Nothing. You may go."
"Ah, my fine fellow," Louis said to himself, "so you come and put yourself in my hands, do you?"

Rousselin was on very good terms with himself that evening. A successful boar hunt and an excellent luncheon had conspired to make him more animated than usual. There was a wicked light in his eyes, the reflection of a diabolical thought that had crossed his brain. He went up stairs, musing. At the first landing he stopped and stood watching the door of Madeleine's room. He suspected that she knew who was hiding behind the snowman.

Assuming a careless air and whistling, he approached a collection of weapons hanging on the wall and took down a gun. He was trying the lock when Madeleine "Beastly weather for a walk, Madeleine," he said.

Madeleine stopped in confusion. After a long conflict with herself her tender ssion for Edmond, combined with the fear of losing him forever, had decided her to go to the rendezvous, and now she found herself confronted by her de-"You had better take a wrap, if you must go," sneered Louis; "overshoes, too, would not be amiss for a tramp in the

"What makes you think I am going

"The bright gleam in your pretty eyes, the rich color of your cheeks and the violent beating of your heart-I can almost hear it. But you will be very foolish to run the risk of taking cold in the off chance of finding a lover out there in the snow. It is too cold a night for lovers; they would be chilled. You won't find any, take my word for it."

Rousselin, who was getting a good deal of enjoyment out of his cousin's embarrassment and mortification, threw open a window which overlooked the snowclad

"There is nobody," he said, "absolutely nobody—except the snowman. He isn't in love with you, is he? What a splendid target he would make, with the light from the window falling on him and everything else black!"

He played with his gun, slyly watching and enjoying the look of terror that over-spread Madeleine's face.

"That fellow has been an eyesore too long," he added. "I think I will put a bullet through him. Bet you I hit him in the head at the first shot!"

"Louis, do not shoot, I beg of you,"
Madeleine cried impulsively.

"Why not? Just for the fun of the thing!"

Poor Madeleine could scarcely speak distinctly in her excitement and despair. "The noise," she stammered. "The report-so late in the evening. It might frighten some one."

"Whom? My mother will not hear it, and you are forewarned. Are you afraid of scaring the servants?" Please, Louis, I beseech you!"

"Bah! All this fuss about not even a sparrow—only a snowman!" "But if-if-by chance-there should be some one" "In the garden, at this hour? A thief, perhaps? All the better. It will be killing two birds with one stone. However, I can point a gun, I hope, and I intend to hit the snowman alone - right in the heart. Here goes!" She sprang forward and grasped the gun, exclaiming: "No, no; you shall not shoot!" "Then there is some one there?"

"Yes."

all danger was passed.

"Your lover?" "I-I do not know," Madeleine retreated in confusion, dreadfully shamed by the confession that had been wrung from her, but thinking, in her ignorance of the workings of Rousselin's mind, that now

Meanwhile Rousselin stood nervously fingering his weapon, with his face distorted with rage, until another atrocious thought came to him and made him laugh

"A fine arrangement, truly, and a pretty confession!" he sneered. "Mademoiselle has lovers who come prowling about my house at night. That is only an additional reason why I should exercise my rights. If I should wing this lover of yours, what complaint could be make against me? But, pshaw, it is only a fancy of yours! There is nobody behind the snowman."

"There is." "Edmond?"

"Yes."

Rousselin laughed no longer, and the girl made no further attempt at conceal-"Well," he said, "I give you your choice.' "How?" "Either you swear to marry me"-

"Oh!" "Or I fire."

This brutal threat so shocked and overwhelmed Madeleine that she could find no answer but a sob. "Or I fire, I say!"

"Oh! Then-well-yes!" Rousselin closed the window.

'Do not cry," he said. "We shall get on well together, I have no doubt. It is something, you must remember, to be Mme. Rousselin."

That great honor, however, won by so painful a sacrifice, Madeleine was destined never to enjoy. Edmond, convinced of her indifference and ignorant of the facts in the case, left the country on the following day, and Rousselin, after enjoying several weeks of hateful triumph, suddenly changed his mind. His cupidity was inflamed by the financial charms of an heiress whom his mother had discovered, and he coolly left Madeleine to nurse in secret her poor little aching heartlacerated cruelly, wantonly, uselessly.

It happens that way in love now and then.-Translated From the French in R. W. Le Baron, Arl. 79-2. the New York Evening Post.

Immortal Raphael.

Raphael, the artist, was so conscientious in everything he did that he could not be induced to do anything half way, even for temporary use. His famous "Sistine Madonna," which has been the admiration of the world and which the great art critics have classed among the few marvelous pictures in existence, was painted for temporary use—for a banner to be carried at the head of a procession. Millions of dollars would not buy this banner today, because Raphael put the best of genius into it; he put immortality the best of genius into it; he put immortality the best of genius into it; he put immortality the best of genius into it; he put immortality the best of genius into it; he put immortality the search he resired it just as well 31.2 into it, because he painted it just as well snowman did not conceal him from the as he knew how, even though it was for

And today in Rome, ners of the Vatican, high up on the ceiling where no one is supposed to ever look for its existence, the traveler finds the same exquisite touch, the same perfection first I thought he was a thief, but on coming nearer I recognized him. What shall I do?

The shall I do?

The shall I do? found in any of his pictures. It would take many millions of dollars to buy his works today, not only because he transferred his genius to the canvas in a masterly way, but because the minutest detail is finished with the same exquisite pains as attended the chief figures.

The Original Santa Claus.

St. Nicholas, the patron saint of children, was bishop of Myra and died about A. D. 326. He was fond of children and young people, and many charitable deeds in their behalf are recorded of him. is the recognized patron of the Christmas season, but Santa Claus, or Knecht Rupert, is a product of Germany, where it was formerly the custom for the parents of a village to put all the gifts designed for their children into the hands of a man who, disguised in long robes, a mask and a monstrous wig, went from house to house, rapped, was admitted, and severely questioned the parents as to the behavior of the little ones during the past year, judiciously leading the questioning up to a point where the intended present could be appropriately introduc-The fiction of his descent through the chimney accounted for his absence when the annual round of this masked personage ceased to be made.

Life's Contrasts.

According to Noah Brooks, in his volume "Washington In Lincoln's Time," "it was natural, but to a lover of Lincoln almost surprising, that while the lifeless form of the martyr was being borne home to Illinois the newly installed president, Andrew Johnson, was surrounded, courted and flattered by eager crowds of courtiers and office seekers in Washington. Multitudes from every part of the country rushed upon Washington, some with windy and turgid addresses to the new president and many more with applications for official favor. To a thoughtful man this exhibition was disgusting beyoud description."

Birds of Iceland.

The bird fauna of Iceland is credited by Henry M. Slater with 103 species. Of these three are residents, twenty-seven summer migrants, twenty-one occasional visitors and eighteen rare stragglers. The land birds are few, including only seven residents and five that come in summer to breed, but the most interesting birds now probably are the northern wren, the great northern dive and the Iceland falcon. Singing birds are few. There are sixteen species of ducks and geese and seven birds of prey, but the rock ptarmigan is the only game bird.

LOCKED IN HIS CELLAR.

Arlington Man in Durance Vile Bays at the Moon and Neighbors.

When a certain Arlington commercial traveler goes into his cellar to have a quiet smoke of a Sunday morning in the future, it is likely he will hang a sign on the door which will tell of his whereabouts, else he will remove the lock. His failure to do either of these things His failure to do either of these things resulted in his losing his temper last Sunday morning while the others of the family were at church. In fact had it not been for the assistance of a neighbor it is believed he would have used more swear words than could be atoned for by church attendance for a year. The way of it all was this:

way of it all was this:
Mr. H. arose late Sunday morning, and after breakfast bethought himself of his briarwood dudeen and his pouch of nicotine mixture, which having been secured he wended his way quietly down into the smoking parlor, namely the celar. The Sunday papers were read and the fumes of tobacco smoke filled the room, but the commercial traveler heeded not the clipk in the door of the celar to the clipk in the door of the celar to the clipk in the door of the celar to the clipk in the door of the celar to the clipk in the door of the celar to the clipk in the door of the clipk in the door of the clipk in the door of the celar to the clipk in the door of the celar to the clipk in the door of the clipk in the door of the celar to the clipk in the door of the clipk in the door of the clipk in the door of the clipk in the clipk in the door of the clipk in the door of the clipk in the door of the celar to the clipk in the door of the celar to the clipk in the door of the celar to the clipk in the door of the celar to the clipk in the celar to the ed not the click in the door of the cel-lar which was the unconscious snapping of the lock by one of the members of the family. After a while Mr. H. thought it time to go upstairs and be sociable, so extinguishing the sparks in the du-deen, ascended the stairs. He tried the door but it would not open and Mr. He deen ascended the stairs. He tried the door but it would not open and Mr. H. discovered he was a prisoner. Calls for help were of no avail, for the family was reverently sitting in the family pew at church, thinking of higher things than the man on the cellar stairs. Mr. H. fumed and stormed, but for a time he could only hear the echo of his voice which seemed to say "Go away back and sit down."

and down.

After what seemed to him to be an hour of torture, he could detect a feminine voice from behind the cellar partition and he confided his secret to the voice. It was a neighbor in the other part of the house, and although they had never been introduced the neighbor. was enabled to gain an entrance and unfaster the aggravating bolt. When the family came home — well, it is a case of supposition what was said, but it perhaps can be imagined.

CALL 'EM UP.

Telephone Directory of Live Business Enterprise.

Below will be found a list of the Enterprise advertisers whose places of bus-iness or residences have a telephone con-nection. The list is published for the nection. The list is published for convenience of Enterprise readers, may desire to communicate with these establishments.

Lucius A. Austin, Lexington 14-3.
Arlington House, Arlington 156-2. Arlington Insurance Agency, Arl. 303-5.
Belmont Coal Co., Arl. 36-3.
A. L. Bacon, 123-3. Henry W. Beal, Arl, 141-3; Boston office,

Main 1686. A. E. Cotton, Arl. 238-4. David Clark, Arl. 89-3. Charles Gott, Arl. 88-3; house, Arl. 38-2. C. H. Gannett, Main 3856-3. N. J. Hardy, Arl. 8-2; house, Arl. 112-2.

James O. Holt, grocer, Arl. 137-2. James O. Holt, provision dealer, Arl. 337-2. V. K. Hutchinson, Arl. 339-3 or 149-3; Heights branch, Arl. 321-5; house, Arl. 329-3. Henry Hartwell, Arl. 127-4; house, Arl. 194-4. H. B. Johnson, Arl. 184-2. Johnson's Arlington Express, Arl. 122-3. Litchfield's Studio. 307-3. George A. Law, Arl. 73-3. Lexington Lumber Co., La John J. Leary, Arl. 37-2.

Lexington Grain Mills, Lex. 34-3; house,

Lexington Grain Mills, Lex. 34-3; house, 31-3.

A S Mitchell, Main 1509.
Perham's Pharmacy, 116-3; pay station, 21, 350; house, 329-6.

W. W. Robertson, Arl. 128-4.
E. Price, Arl. 98-2.
Peirce & Winn, Arl. 2-2.
Dr. Ring's Sanatarium, Arl. 206-2.

W. W. Rawson, Arl. 15-3; house, Arl. 15-2; Boston office, Main 2346.
George W. Sampson, Lex. 24-2; house, Lex. 61-7.

Lex. 61-7. C. H. Stone, Arl. 131-4. W. P Schwamb & Bro.

31-2. Wetherbee Bros., Arl. 149-6.

606 Mass. Avenue, Arlington.

Caps, Hats, Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods, Periodicals,

Cigars & Tobacco. For Candies, Fruit,

Cold Sodas. with pure juices, and a

CURTIN'S Arlington Express Boston Office, 128 State Street.

Telephone, 1185, Main. Residence, 1027 Mass. Ave., Arlington

J. W. RONCO. HAIR DRESSER Is Still in the Business, POST OFFICE BUILDING, ARLINGTON.

ALEXANDER BEATON,

PARK AVENUE, Arlington Heights.

ARLINGTON HARNESS CO. HORSE HARNESS STABLE CLOTHING SADDLERY OUTFITS

448 Massachusetts Avenue, ARLINGTON.

L. C. TYLER. Dealer in Boots, Shoes and Rubbers. Ladies' Queen Quality Shoes, the Best $3.00 Ladies' Shoe made. Children's School Shoes a specialty. Men's Fine Shoes in full stock. Headquarters for Men's Gloves, etc.,

BANK BUILDING,

SEARCHING FOR OIL.

PERSEVERANCE OF THE MAN WHO SET TO WORK TO FIND IT.

Edward L. Drake and His First Well In Pennsylvania-Reduced at One Time by His Experiments to Abso-Inte Poverty.

Edward L. Drake was a man of one Uca, but he managed to use it to such sdvantage that he added $2,000,000,000 the industrial wealth of the United litates. He was the man who drilled the first oil well in Pennsylvania. A handtome tomb in Woodlawn cemetery in Titusville is the final resting place of the remains of Colonel Drake.

The actual story of the first oil well has never, in my opinion, been told.

Fragments of the truth have been given, with additions of more or less romantic error, and there have been many stories published which have been entirely talse. I have endeavored in this article to relate only facts which can be vouched for, and in the task of digging them up I am indebted to J. A. Mather and M. N. Allen of Titusville for much valuable as-

One bright spring morning in the year 1857 a tall, dark bearded man wearing the uniform of a railway conductor appeared at the office of Eveleth & Bissell at New Haven and purchased 500 shares of stock in a newly organized company having for its object the gathering and sale of oil in western Pennsylvania. Along the banks of Oil creek crude petroleum had been found, and the excitement was still high when the New Haven capitalists organized their company.

Rock oil, or coal oil, as it is sometimes erroneously called, was obtained from betural springs or from broad trenches dug in oil bearing soil. These trenches were from four to six feet deep and were allowed to fill with oil and water that Houses, Which Advertise in the boxed from the seil. The oil, being lighter than the water, rose to the top and was absorbed in woolen blankets especially made for the purpose, a practice borrowed from the Indians, who had long used petroleum as a liniment. Another procrss was known as "dipping." The oil and water were dipped from trenches into tubs, and when gravity had separated the two liquids the oil was skimmed off or else the water was drawn by means of a vent in the bottom of the tub.

Mr. Drake believed that if he could pierce the rock stratum that lay below the soil of the company's land oil would gush forth. He was firmly convinced that a subterranean lake of oil existed beneath the rockbed.

His conviction was based on study. Geplogical formations had ever proved fascinating to him, and he had spent much of his spare time when a farmer's helper in pursuing this line of inquiry. He was lacking in scientific training only.

Convincing the officers of the new oil company that there was "something" in his plan of boring for oil, he went to the district supplied with $1,000 for experiments.

He ordered a steam engine and after much difficulty secured the services of an experienced salt well driller. The arrival of the engine was long delayed, and after waiting for several weeks the driller, believing that the colonel was a seer of visions, refused to have anything to do with the enterprise. Thus the summer wore away without any new develop-ments. The company lost faith in Drake and his idea and refused to advance any more money. Titusville people had begun to believe that Drake was a monomaniac. He seemed to live on his one idea. Boys in the street jeered him and men tapped their foreheads with their fingers as he passed.

Early in the winter his money gave out, and credit was refused him at the village shops. He faced absolute poverty and supported his family by doing odd F. R. DANIELS, jobs. He kept a strong heart, however, and his faith in the final outcome of his project remained unshaken. Early in the spring of 1859 he succeeded in convincing two friends, R. D. Fletcher and Peter Wilson of Titusville, of the soundness of his idea, and they provided him with sufficient capital to renew his experiment. He secured the services of William Smith and his two sons of Tarentum, who were practical salt well drillers. They brought with them a complete outfit of tools. The soil along the banks of Oil creek was porous and water soaked, and as fast as the hole was made the soil crumbled, and the well filled with mud. No prog-ress could be made. Although work was at a standstill for a number of days, Drake's ingenuity soon showed itself, and after many costly experiments he finally GOOD DINNER bit upon a plan to overcome the difficulty. He secured cast iron pipes six inches in Visit Callaghan's Lunch Room diameter and endeavored to drive them into the ground. The pipes, being too light, were soon shattered by blows from into the ground. The pipes, being too light, were soon shattered by blows from a battering ram which he devised. There was another vexatious delay, and finally a thicker piping was secured in lengths of ten feet. These were readily driven into the soft earth, one pipe on top of another, until they came in contact with the rock. Drake had solved the problem.

On Thursday, Aug. 25, the drill began to pound through solid rock, and on the following Saturday it found its way into a crevice in the stratum, and the tools were withdrawn. Indications on the bit showed the presence of oil, but the well was not a "gusher," as Drake expected. Though disappointed, he waited a couple of hours for the well to flow. It was only sixty-nine feet deep. He intended to drill deeper. Smith lived in a shanty not far from the well, and early Sunday morning he went on an errand to the tool-house, near the derrick, when he beheld a sight that brought joy to his heart. The long sought for amber fluid was bubbling Contractor and Builder long sought for amber fluid was bubbling over the piping of the well, saturating over the piping of the well, saturating into the floor of the derrick and soaking into the ground. Crude petroleum was worth over a dollar a gallon at that time, and smith was wild over the waste.—John McGraw, Jr., in Success.

A Broad Hint. Landlady-Our Shakespeare club is to fiscuss the character of Cassius tonight. Boarder-Did you know Cassius? Landlady-What a question! Of course

Boarder-I didn't know but he boarded here; he was lean and hungry, you know.
-Brooklyn Life.

Men, as a class, eat too much meat and are prone to kidney troubles. Women eat too much starch and sweets, bread and butter and preserves, puddings, pies and cakes, which produce corpulency.—Ladies' Home Journal. ARLINGTON

A LITTLE FISH STORY.

The Trout That Was Frozen Solid For Eleven Years.

In 1873 I was residing at Junction City, pretty little town located in a romantic spot on the banks of Mill creek in central Wisconsin. The country at that time was new, and fish and game were plentiful. Mill creek was at the time famous as a trout stream, it being no trouble at all to catch fifty pounds of speckled trout in a half day's fishing. On Feb. 15, 1873 -I remember that date because it was my twenty-first birthday-I took down my rifle and struck out into the forest for the purpose of killing a deer. I had wandered along the banks of the stream for a distance of perhaps two miles when I ran on to an old hunter who had cut a hole in the ice, through which he was fishing for trout. He was meeting with great success, for scattered all around him could be seen the speckled beauties, where he had thrown them as he took them off his hook. I was invited to help myself, which invitation I cheerfully accepted, and I proceeded to put a number of the fish in my gamebag. It was just 4:47 o'clock when I returned home that afternoon, tired and hungry, and after hanging up my rifle took one of the largest of the trout and placed it out in a large cold storage warehouse that stood near my house, intending to present it to Uncle Sam Carson for his breakfast the next morning. The fish was forgot ten and, as a result, lay in that ware house solidly frozen until June 10, 1884. Now comes the strange part of my story. On the night of the date last mentioned just about eleven years after this fish had been placed in the cold storage, the build-ing was totally destroyed by fire. During the process of the fire the fire department, in the effort to save the property, had thrown sufficient water to fill up the cellar, which, by the way, was walled up in rock and cement and was therefore water tight. Three years later it was decided to rebuild the cold storage warehouse upon the site originally occupied, and men were set to work pumping the water out of the cellar, which the rains had kept well filled. To our amazement 447 fair sized speckled trout were taken out, besides the old one, which had evidently fallen into the cellar at the time the warehouse was destroyed, thawed out and spawned. The original trout was easily identified, one of its eyes having been accidentally knocked out and a part of its tail broken off before it was placed in the warehouse.-Chicago Inter Ocean.

ANIMAL ODDITIES.

Mosquitoes and other gnats furnish almost the sole food for a very large family of insect cating birds known as flycatchers.

Mosquitoes are not, as is popularly supposed, a hot climate insect. They are far more numerous in places where the winters are severe.

The age of fishes can be told by their scales. These show under the microscope stripes similar to the bands in the cross cut of a tree, which indicate the age of the fish.

Norwegian fishery commissioners have been measuring the salmon's leap by means of standards erected below water falls. They have found that the fish can leap to a height of twenty feet. A horse owned in a Kentucky town has developed carnivorous inclinations. He rejoices in dining on spring chickens and recently ate fourteen for a square meal. He does not stop to remove the feathers. There is a quaint little fish which haunts the weed tracts of the gulf stream and there builds its nest and lays its eggs like a bird rather than a fish. This animal, the antennarius, imitates in color the weed it lives in and, like the chameleon, constantly changes its color. One kind of wasp found in Brazil and Guiana makes its nest of a brilliant white pasteboard, suspending it from the highest branches of the tree so as to escape the attention of the monkeys, which in those regions have a troublesome habit of investigating everything, even a hornet's nest.

Advertising For a Mayor.

"I believe that the Americans will finally come to accept the German method of choosing mayors for their cities," said M. L. Leitz of Stuttgart to a re-"In our country," he continued, "when a city wants a mayor it adver-tises for one. It is not uncommon to find in the advertising columns of a Berlin newspaper such a notice as this: Wanted, a mayor for the city of Mannheim.' The mayor is employed the same as pastor of a church or the president of a corporation. He follows the mayor's business from youth, just as an Amer ican would follow the iron or dry goods business. Such a man will generally begin as the executive of a small town. If he shows ability in cutting down the tax rate and at the same time improving the town, he will soon be called to a larger community. Thus such a man is advanced to places of high salary and honor as he shows ability and worth."—New York Tribune.

Original Home of Golf.

The Scotsman contends that golf is a Scotch sport to which poetical reference was made in Adamson's "Muses Threnodie," published at Perth as long ago as 1638. The terms used in the sport are for the most part Scotch. But the Dutch assert that it was first played in Holland on the ice, and before 1638 the Dutch poet Bredero described how "the golfer, with ice spurs on, stands ready to smite with ashen club weighted with lead or his Scottish cleek of the leaded box. But while this may be the earliest poet ical reference to the game, it does not show that Holland is the original home of golf. The reference to the "Scottish cleek" seems at first sight to point rather to Scotland.-Baltimore Sun.

Big Visiting Cards.

In Korea visiting cards measuring a foot square are in vogue. The savages of Dahomey announce their visits to each other by sending in advance a wooden board or the branch of a tree artistically carved. When the visit is Plastering and Brickwork, paid, the "card" returns to the possession of its owner, who probably uses it for many years. The natives of Sumatra use for a visiting card a piece of wood about a foot long decorated with a bunch of straw and a knife.

The Sydney lighthouse has the most powerful light of any. It is electric and of 180,000 candle power. It can be seen for fifty miles.

"It is better to give than to receive," said the street car conductor as he sized up the plugged nickel.—Philadelphia Rec-

RAILROAD TIME TABLES.

Boston Elevated Railway Co. SURFACE LINES.

TIME TABLE.

Subject to change without notice.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS TO BOW-DOIN SQ.—(via Beacon st., Somerville), 4.30, 5.09 a.m., and intervals of 8, 10, 20 and 30 minutes to 11.16 p.m. SUNDAY—7.02 a.m., and intervals of 20 and 30 minutes to 11.15 p.m. NIGHT SERVICE—to Adams So. 11.25, 12.07, 12.37, 1.07, 1.37, 2.37, 3.37, 4.42 (4.37, 5.37 a.m., Sunday) a.m. ARLINGTON HEIGHTS TO SUB-WAY.—6.01 a.m., and intervals of 8, 10, 15 and 20 minutes to 11.20 p.m. (11.30 to Adams sq.) SUNDAY—6.01, 6.31 a.m., and intervals of 10, 15 and 20 minutes to 11.12 p.m. (11.30 to Adams sq.)

ARLINGTON CENTRE TO SULLI-VAN SQ. TERMINAL via Broadway.— 5.28, and intervals of 10 and 15 minutes to 12.03 night. SUNDAY.—6.31 a.m., and in-tervals of 10 and 20 minutes to 12.03 night. Via Medford Hillside, 5.33 a.m., and 10, 15 and 20 minutes to 12.05 night. SUNDAY-6.36 a.m., and intervals of 10 and 15 minutes to 12.05 night.

C. S. SERGEANT, Vice President.

Arlington and Winchester Street Railway.

Leave Arlington for Winchester Stoneham, Wakefield, Reading, Lowell and Lynn at 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.15, and every 30 minutes until 10.45, then 11.30 p.m. Leave Winchester for Arlington, 5.46, 7.55 a.m., and every 30 minutes until 11.05, then 11.45 p.m.

Cars at Winchester connect with Stoneham, Reading, Woburn and Lynn.
Sundays.
Leave Arlington Centre at 8.45, 9.15 a.m., and every 30 minutes until 10.45 p.m., then 11.20 p.m.
Leave Winchester square at 9.05, 9.45 a.m., and every 30 minutes until 11.05 p.m., then 11.45.

Boston and Maine R. K. Southern Division.

IN EFFECT, OCT. 14, 1901.

TRAINS TO BOSTON FROM

Lexington—5.20, 5.56, 6.26, 6.56, 7.26, 7.56, 8.31 8.43, 9.59, 11.10 A. M., 12.09, 12.50, 2.09 3.45, 4.15, 4.30, 5.10, 6.36, 8.00, 9.09, 10.09 2.40, 3.45, 4.39, 5.10, 6.36, 8.09, 9.09, 10.09 P. M.; Sunday, 9.14 A. M., 1.29, 4.25, 7.55 P. M.

Arlington Heights—5.30, 6.50, 6.35, 7.04, 7.34, 8.04, 8.37, 8.53, 10.07, 11.19 A. M., 12.18, 1.00, 2.18, 3.54, 4.45, 5.19, 6.47, 8.18, 9.18, 10.18 P. M. Sunday, 9.24 A. M., 1.38, 4.35, 8.05 P. M. day, 9.24 A. M., 1.38, 4.35, 8.05 P. M.

Brattle—6.32, 6.08, 6.38, 7.06, 8.06, 8.56, 10.02, 11.21, A. M., 12.20, 1.02, 2.20, 3.56, 4.25, 4.48, 5.21, 6.50, 8.20, 9.20, 10.20, P. M. Sundays, 9.27 A. M., 1.40, 4.38, 8.08, P. M. Arlington—5.35, 6.12, 6.42, *7.09, 7.12, *7.39, 7.42, 7.56, *8.09, 8.16, *8.41, 9.09, 19.12, 11.24 A. M., 12.23, 1.06, 2.23, 3.59, 4.25, 4.51, 5.24, 5.46, 6.20, *6.53, 6.56, 7.15, 8.23, 9.23, 10.23 P. M. Sundays, 9.30 A. M., 1.43, 4.49, 8.11 P. M. Lake Street—5.38, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 7.58, 8 19, 9 03, 10 15, 11.26 A, M., 12.25, 1.97, 2.25 4.01, 4 30, 5.27, 5.49, 6.23, 6.59, 7.18, 8.25, 9.25, 19 25 P, M, Sundays, 9.32 A, M., 1.45, 4.43, 8.14 P, M. TRAINS FROM BOSTON FOR Lexington—6.25, 7.17, 8.17, 9.09, 19.17, 11.17 A. M., 12.17, 1.47, 2.47, 3.47, 4.17, 4.47, 5.17, 5.31, 5.47, 6.17, 7.04, 7.50, 9.15, 19.29, 11.30, P. M.; Sunday, 9.15 A. M., 22.50, 6.00, 7.00 P. M.

Arlington Heights 6.25, 7.17, 8.17, 9.09, 16.17, 11.17 A. M., 12.17, 1.47, 2.47, 3.47, 4.17, 4.47, 5.17, 5.47, 6.17, 7.04, 7.50, 9.15, 10.20, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 9.15 A. M., 12.50, 6.00, 7.00 P. M.

Brattle-6.25, 7.17, 8.17, 9.09, 11.17 A. M., 12.17, 1.47, 2.47, 4.17, 5.17, 6.17, 7.04, P. M. Sunday, 9.15 A. M., 12.59, 6.00, 7.60 P. M. Arlington-6.25, 6.42, 7.00, *7.17, 7.29, 7.46, 8.17, 9.09, 10.17, 11.17 A. M., 12.17, 1.47, 24, 3.47, 4.17, *4.47, 5.04, *5.17, 5.31, *5.47, 5.55, 6.04, *6.17, 6.34, 7.04, 7.60, 9.15, 10.20, 11.30 P. M. 1.25 P. M. Saturday only, Sunday 9.15 A. M., 12.50, 6.00, 7.00 P. M. Lake Street—6.25, 8.17, 9.00, 10.17 11.17 A. M., 12.17, 1.47, 2.47, 4.17, 5.04, 5.31, 5.55, 6.04, 6.34, 7.04, 7.50, 9.15, 10.20, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 9.16 A. M., 12.50, 6.00, 7.00 P. M. *Express.

D. J. FLANDERS, General Pass, and Ticket Agent.

CHAS. GOTT. Carriage Builder.

450 Mass. Ave.. ARLINGTON, MASS Jobbing in all branches Fine Painting a Specialty

JOHN G. WAAGE. House, Sign, and Decorative Painting.

Jobbing Promptly Attended To.

28 Moore Place, Arlington

JAMES H. FERMOYLE, HOUSE PAINTER.

GRAINER AND DECORATOR.
Glazing and Jobbing as Required.
Ceilings a Specialty.
Agent for Thibault's Wall Papers.
404 Mass, Ave., Arlington,
Over (lark's Farness Shop.
Residence, 112 Franklin St.

A. E. COTTON,

Whitewashing, Tinting and Kalsomining.
FIRE-PLACES A SPECIALTY.

Jobbing of every description executed in the best manner. Residence, 10 Webster St., Arlington.

Tel. 238-4

ARTHUR L. BACON, Mason and Contractor.

All kinds of Jobbing, Whitening, Fire Places and Boller Setting. Residence or Mystic street and Davis avenue LOCKER 58 (YSTIC. Lock Box 45, Arlington Telephone 51-4. Order Box at Peirce & Winn Co.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON VI. FOURTH QUARTER, INTER-NATIONAL SERIES, NOV. 10.

Text of the Lesson, Ex. i, 1-14-Memory Verses, 8, 9, 13-Golden Text, Ex. ii, 24—Commentary Prepared by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1901, by American Press Association.] 1. "Now these are the names of the thildren of Israel which came into Egypt." He led them into Egypt, knowing that it would be for them a house of bondage, an iron furnace (Deut. iv, 20; He foresaw everything and told Abram that his seed should be afflicted in a strange land (Gen. xv, 13, 14) and that afterward He would bring then out with great substance. He permits IIis people to be tried that He may be glorified in them and that He may show His mighty power, that people may know the hand of the Lord that it is mighty and may reverence Him (Joshua iv, 24; I Kings viii, 42, 43; II Kings xix, 19). The records of names throughout the Bible make us think of our Lord's words to the 70 in Luke x. 20, that they should rejoice rather that their names were written in heaven than in being able to work wonders. The Bible contains the names of bad as well as good people, but the Lamb's book of life has only the names of those redeemed by His blood (Rev. xxi, 27; xx, 15; xiii, 8). Happy are all who hear Him say: "Fear not, for I have redeemed thee. I have called thee by thy name. Thou art Mine" (Isa. xliii, 1).

2-4. These are the names of the 11 sons, besides Joseph, whom God gave to Jacob. The order in which these names are given varies greatly. Here the first six are Leah's sons, Benjamin with Joseph were given to Rachel. The last four were given to Bilhah and Zilpah, the maids of Rachel and Leah. We must recognize Israel everywhere in Scripture either as Jacob personally or the descendants of Jacob through these sons. No others have any right to the name. A very high honor yet awaits them, inasmuch as their names are to be written on the 12 gates of pearl of the New Jerusalem (Rev. xxi, 12, 21), not by virtue of any merit in them, but only by the blood of Christ, in whom alone is salvation. The significance of these names according to the margin of Gen. xxix and xxx is-Reuben, see a son; Simeon, hearing; Levi, joined; Judah, praise; Issachar, hire; Zebulun, dwelling; Benjamin, son of the right hand (Exxv, 18); Dan, judging; Naphtali, wrestling; Gad, a troop; Asher, happy, which, paraphrased, might read, thinking of Christ and our relation to Him. 5. "Seventy souls." Compare Deut. x.

22; also Gen. xlvi, 26, 27, where Jacob and Joseph and his two sons, added to the 66, make up the 70. We are reminded of the 70 nations of Gen. x, among whom the earth was divided according to the number of the children of Israel (Deut. xxxii, 8), and also of the other 70 whom the Lord sent forth (Luke x, 1) into every city and place whither He would come. As Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and Joseph passed through trial and much patient waiting, so must all Israel, and so must every disciple of the Lord

6. "And Joseph died and all his breth ren and all that generation." All who died as Joseph did, with a firm faith in God and reliance upon the great sacrifice for sin, gained by their dying, and a greater gain awaits them at the resurrection of the just (Phil. i, 21, 23; Luke xiv, 14; Rev. xx, 6). To a child of God absent from the body means present with the Lord, and there is no funeral or grave for the redeemed.

"And the children of Israel were fruitful and increased abundantly and multiplied and waxed exceeding mighty, and the land was filled with them." God had said to Jacob when he was leaving Canaan, "Fear not to go down to Egypt, for I will there make of thee a great nation" (Gen. xlvi, 3), and all His promises are sure, for He is the God of Truth or, are sure, for He is the God of Truth or, are sure, for He is the God of Truth or, are sure, for He is the God of Truth or, are sure, for He is the God of Truth or, are sure, for He is the God of Truth or, are sure, for He is the God of Truth or, are sure, for He is the God of Truth or, and the first of the sure literally, the God Amen (Isa. lxv, 16). The blessing of the Lord was upon them, and that was everything, for toil without that accomplishes nothing, but that without toil maketh rich indeed (Prov. x, 22, 8-11. "Now there arose up a new king over Egypt, which knew not Joseph. Neither did he know the Lord of Joseph, for he talked about dealing wisely with Israel so that they might not multiply, and he did his best, by taskmasters who afflicted them with heavy burdens, to keep them from multiplying, but the counsel of the Lord standeth forever, the thoughts of His heart to all generations. The Lord bringeth the counsel of the heathen to naught. He maketh the devices of the people of none effect (Ps. xxxiii, '10, 11).

12. "But the more they afflicted them the more they multiplied and grew, and they were grieved because of the children of Israel." Every purpose of the Lord shall be performed, and He says, "I will work, and who shall let or hinder it?" (Jer. li, 29; Isa. xliii, 13.) The Lord of Hosts hath sworn, saying, Surely as I have thought so shall it come to pass, and as I have purposed so shall it stand (Isa. xiv, 24). The enemies of God may associate themselves and gird themselves and take counsel together, but it shall come to naught, and they shall be broken in pieces (Isa. viii, 9, 10).

13, 14. Made to serve with rigor, made bitter with hard bondage—these are statements concerning the life which the Egyptians caused the Israelites to live, yet under a life like that they prospered, for God was with them. True prosperity does not consist of freedom from trial, but of God's presence and blessing in the trial. David, persecuted and fleeing for his life from Saul, was truly prosperous, but Saul was not. Daniel and his friends prospered in the lions' den and in the fiery furnace, but their enemies did not prosper. However severe our trials may be, there hath no trial taken us but that which is common to man, and God is faithful, who will not suffer us to be tried above that we are able, but will with the trial make a way of escape that we may be able to bear it (I Cor. x, 13). Those who are not the children of God often prosper in this world and have comparatively few trials. "These are the ungod-ly who prosper in the world. They in-crease in riches; they are not in trouble crease in riches; they are not in trouble as other men; neither are they plagued like other men" (Ps. lxxiii, 5, 12). When we turn our backs on the prince of this world, then he will seek to make us know his hatred, and we shall find the contention with the world, the flesh and the devil often very severe. It will seem a hard bondage, and our lives may be made very bitter, but He will deliver in His time and meanwhile give us grace.

CAUTION TO REMONS HAVING KEYS.

Never open boxes except to give an alarm.

You cannot remove your key until an engineer releases it, and it will then be returned to you.

Never allow the key out of your possession except to some responsible party, for the purpose of giving an alarm, and then see that it is returned.

If you remove from your place of residence or business, return the key to the chief engineer.

LEXINGTON CHURCHES, SO-CIETIES, ETC.

CHURCH OF OUR REDEEMER.

Episcopal. Services—Sunday, preaching 11 a.m.; Sunday school, 9.45 a.m.; holy communion first and third Sundays of each month. FIRST PARISH UNITARIAN CHURCH Rev. Carleton A. Staples, pastor, residence Massachusetts avenue, near Elm avenue. Services—Sunday, preaching 10.30 a.m.; Sunday school 12 m. Sewing circle every other Thursday. Young People's guild every Sunday evening in the vestry FOLLEN UNITARIAN CHURCH. Massachusetts Avenue, near Pleasant, west, E. L.

Rev. Lorenzo D. Cochrane, residence Locust avenue, East Lexington, Services—Sunday, 10.45 a.m., 7 p.m.; Sunday school, 12.00 m. Follen Alliance, fortightly, Thursdays, at 2 p.m. Follen guild meets 6.30 p.m., Sunday. Lenda-Hand club and Little Helpers.

HANCOCK CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. Massachusetts Avenue, opposite the Common.

Rev. Charles F. Carter, pastor, residence, Hancock street. Services—Sunday, 10.36 a.m., 7 p.m.; Sunday school 12 m. Week days, Y. P. S. C. E., Monday evening; prayer, Thursday, 7.45 p.m.

LEXINGTON BAPTIST CHURCH.

Massachusetts Ave., near Wallis Place. Rev. J. H. Cox, pastor, residence Waltham. Services—Sunday, preaching. 10.30 a.m., 7 p.m.; Sunday school, 12 m.; Tuesday, 7.45 p.m., Y. P. S. C. E.; Friday, 7.45 p.m., prayer meeting.

Branch, Emerson Hall, East Lexingdon, Sarvices Sunday Services—Sunday, 3 p.m.; Sunday school, 4 p.m.; Thursday evening, 7.45, prayer meeting.

ST. BRIDGET'S ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH.

Massachusetts Ave., near Elm Ave. Rev. P. J. Kavanagh, pastor, residence next to the church. Services—Alternate Sundays at 9 and 10.30 a.m.; vespers 4 every Sunday; Weekdays, mass at

FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS. Simon Robinson Lodge. Meets at Masonic hall. Town Hall building, second Monday of each month at 7.30 pm.

ORDER OF WORKMEN. OF UNITED ANCIENT Meets in A. O. U. W. hall, Hancock street, corner Bedford street, second and fourth Tuesday evenings in each month. MPROVED ORDER OF HEPTA-SOPHS.

Lexington Conclave. Meets at A. O. U. W. hall, second and ourth Wednesday evenings. GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC. George G. Meade Post 119.

Meets in Grand Army hall third Thurstay of each month. KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Council No. 94. Meets in Lexington hall, Hunt block, Massachusetts avenue, first and third Tuesdays of each month. EXINGTON HISTORICAL SOCIETY. Meets in Corey hall second Tuesday venings of winter months. THE LEND-A-HAND OF THE UNITA-RIAN CHURCH.

Meetings second Tuesday in each month at 3 p.m., in the church vestry.

ART CLUB.

Meetings held Monday afternoons at nembers residences, from November 1st

EAST LEXINGTON FINANCE CLUB. Meets first Monday each month at Stone building, East Lexington, LEXINGTON MONDAY CLUB.

Meets in winter every week at homes of members. Membership limited to 16. SHAKESPEARE CLUB.

Meetings held Monday evenings, at nembers' residences, from October 15 to May 15 THE TOURIST CLUB. Meetings held at members' houses, Monday, 2.30 p.m.

LEXINGTON FIRE ALARM.

Ash and Reed streets.
Woburn and Lowell streets. 63 cor. Woburn and Lowell streets.
64 Lowell street near Arlington line.
75 Warren st. opp. Mrs. W. R. Monroe's.
76 Cor. Mass, avenue and Woburn street.
77 Cor. Bloomfield and Eustice streets.
78 Mass. avenue and Percy road.
79 Mass. avenue and Pleasant street.
79 Mass. avenue and Pleasant street.
79 Mass. avenue and Sylvia streets.
81 Bedford street near Elm street.
82 Centre Engine House.
83 cor. Grant and Sherman streets.
84 cor. Merriam and Oakland streets.
85 Hancock street near Hancock avenue.
86 cor. Mass. and Elm avenues.
87 Chandler street opp. J. P. Prince's.
88 Mass. avenue near town hall.
PRIVATE BOXES.

PRIVATE BOXES. 231 Morrill estate, Lowell street. 561 Carhouse, Bedford st., No. Lexington, DEPARTMENT SIGNALS

Second alarm, repetition of first; general alarm, eleven blows; all out, two blows; brush fire, three blows followed by box number. SPECIAL SIGNALS.

Test signal, one blow at 12 m.; no school signal, three blows repeated three times; police call, five blows three times; special signal, 22 five times from electric light station. LOCATION OF WHISTLES, ETC.

Whistle at electric light station, bell on Folien church, East Lexington, tapper at residence of chief engineer, tapper at residence of first assistant engineer, tapper at residence of second assistant engineer, tapper at pumping station, tapper at residence of Wm. B. Foster, police, tapper at residence of C. H. Franks, police, tapper at centre engine house, tapper at East Lexington engine house, tapper at residence of James E. Shelvey.

INSTRUCTIONS. Before giving an alarm be sure a fire exists.

Give the alarm at the nearest box.
Pull the hook way down, only once, and let go.

Never give an alarm for a fire seen at

Never give an alarm for a fire seen at a distance,
Wait at the box, if possible, and direct the firemen to the fire.

Never give a second alarm for the same fire; all second alarms are given by the engineers or other persons in authority.

Never give an alarm for a brush fire unless buildings are in danger; but inform the engineers and they will take action to extinguish it.

Citizens are requested to inform themselves as to the location of keys. Signs over the boxes will give the necessary information.

CAUTION TO PERSONS HAVING KEYS.

LEXINGTON ADVERTISERS. ON MERCHANIMAN MARKANAMAN CONTROL OF THE PROPERTY OF TH

JOHN A. FRATUS, Jeweler, Watches, Clocks, lewelry, etc. All Repairing Guaranteed.

camellia place Conservatories

Store At Post Office,

Lexington.

Off Hancock Avenue and Bedford S reet, Lexington, Mass.

Call and see our choice collection of Flowers.

We have a large variety. ALSO CHOICE PLANTS FOR Decorations of Halls and Churches 🎩 Flowers for Funerals, Receptions, and other occasions furnished and arranged very promptly. Orders solicited.

JAMES COMLEY. T

LEXINGTON

ICE CO.

GEO. M. WILSON, Prop. PURE RESERVOIR ICE.

Families Supplied all Seasons of the Year.

P. O. BOX 403. Parker Street. Lexington.

G. W. SAMPSON, Fire Insurance Life

Hartford Fire Insurance Co., Established 1794
Fire Association of Philadelphia, Estab. 1817
Imperial Fire Iss.Co.of London, Eng., Est. 1803
Worcester Mutual Fire Ins. Co., Estab. 1823.
Equitable Lite Assurance Society.
Office, Sherburne's Block, Lexington.

$2.50 Radcliffe Shoe FOR LADIES. FOR SALE BY

FRANK O. NELSON. Massachusetts Avenue,
Town Hall, LEXINGTON. Near Town Hall,

CHARLES T. WEST, General Fire Insurance, Opp. P. O., Lexington.

Telephone Connection.

Your Patronage Is Solicited. R. W. BRITTON

HAIR DRESSING ROOM RAZORS HONED AND CONCAVED

Massachusetts Ave., Opposite Post Office LEXINGTON, MASS.

J. H. FRIZELLE & SON. EAST LEXINGTON,

Teaming, Jobbing

PERFECT EQUIPMENT. CAREFUL DRIVERS. Satisfaction Always Guaranteed.

H. MALCOLM TORREY. BLACKSMITH

Practical Horse Shoeing and Jobbing. Hand-made Shoes For Driving Horses a Specialty. Horses Called for and Returned.

Lock Box 8. East Lexington.

C. A. MANDELBORG, GODDARD BUGGY, ROAD CART And Three Express and Provision Wagons

FOR SALE.

chusette Avenue, Near Post Office EAST LEXINGTON.

LUCIUS A. AUSTIN. DEALER IN Choice Groceries, Fancy Goods

Stationery, Daily Papers and Small Wares of all Kinds, Tel. 14-8 Lexington aundry Agency, East Lexington Post Office

W. L. BURRILL, DEALER IN Cigars, Tobacco,

Confectionery, DAILY AND SUNDAY PAPERS, ALSO GROCERIES. POST OFFICE, NORTH LEXINGTON. Public Telephone, 688 Lexington.

EDWARD HUNNEWELL, Expressing, Jobbing & Furniture Moving.

JOHN GRANGER'S OPPORTUNITY

Calabababababababababababababab Dunwood was not a promising field for an ambitious young pastor. It was an old town, conservative, dull, nonprogressive. It was a particularly unpromising field for John Granger, pastor of the dullest and most conservative congregation in all Dunwood. John Granger's hands were tied, so to speak. He knew what was expected of him, and he knew that he mustn't overstep the lines. Tradition and precedent governed his board of trustees. They had selected him because a safe man had recommended him, and John had gladly accepted the offer.

He had been the assistant of an aged pastor who had persisted in holding fast to all his privileges, keeping John carefully in the background. And John had come to Dunwood in the belief that here he would be his own master; that here he could cut loose and try his wings. Never was a man more mistaken.

"We might as well have a clear under-standin' at the start," Deacon Blodgett had said to him as they walked up from the railway station. "We are a quiet people, and we think our fathers' ways of doin' things was just about as near right as they could be. We want straight gos pel sermons on the good old texts, and we want 'em without frills. And we want 'em carefully prepared, too, and written out word for word, and read just as written. That's what we're payin' you seven hundred dollars a year to do, and that's what Dr. Skimmerhorn assured us you would do."

"And of course if I don't suit," said John, "you will drop me at once?"

"Put you will suit," said the deacon "It would never do for you to have us drop you without a reference. You'll fall right into our ways soon enough. My uncle, Ichabod Bogardus, is commonly reckoned one of the most upliftin' of all the preachers we've ever had. I've got a stack of his sermons at home, and I'll let you take some of 'em to look over for models, if you like."

It was a very dull position for a hopeful and energetic man of twenty-nine Yet John held on. Perhaps he felt that it was a moral discipline that he needed. No doubt he realized that it was wrong to throw up one position until he was certain of snother. Then, again, it is quite possible that the bright eyes of Mary Dillworth had something to do with his spirit of resignation.

Mary was a teacher in the town high school, and John boarded at her mother's home. Perhaps if the board of trustees knew how much of his time-that time for which they paid so liberally-was spent in Mary Dillworth's company they would have called him to account in short order. In short, it was Mary who finally reconciled him to his surroundings.

No doubt she soon began to realize this, and the thought worried her.

"You mustn't let yourself vegetate here." she said to him one evening. "There's something in the atmosphere that acts like the fabled lotus and makes the Dunwoodite quite forget that there is an outside world. You mustn't breathe it too long."

"But I can't hold L.; breath much longer," said John. "I feel that I'm becoming a fixture here." "This will never do," said Mary. "You are wanted and needed elsewhere, I'm sure of it." "Alas," said John, with a little smile at her vehemence, "I'm afraid that those who want and need me will have difficulty in finding the talents that are hidden beneath the Dunwood bushel!" Mary was silent for a moment.

"I think I see a way to help things ong," she presently said. "My father's first partner in business was Richard Carmody, the manufacturer. He is a leading member of one of the foremost of the city churches. He would gladly do me a favor, and I'm going to write and ask him to let you fill the pulpit there one Sunday. They have sent their old pastor abroad, and he may not return, and the pulpit is being supplied during the spring by such talent as can be secured here and there. I will write to Mr. Carmody at once, and you shall post the letter."

John's eves sparkled. "Oh, that would be fine!" he said. Then he hesitated. "But how can you explain your-your confidence in me?" A little blush tinted Mary's rounded cheek. "I am not writing the letter in my own way," she langhingly said, "and the man who is to receive it is a friend who has known me since I was a very little girl. I am sure that he will be glad to trust me and favor me and ask no questions.'

And John had watched her as she bent over her writing, her gentle eyes intent upon the work, and a new ambition crept into his heart - the ambition to prove worthy of this dear girl's trust and con-

So the letter was sent and in due time John received an invitation to fill the pulpit of the city church for a certain Sunday. The trustees had no objection to his going as long as he arranged to fill his place during his brief absence. even felt a little flattered in their slow way at this mark of recognition from the city church.

"At the same time," said Deacon Blodget, "it is an unusual thing for one of our pastors to go gallivantin' round the country. And I should judge it might not be a safe thing, neither. It could happen that the congregation would take a fancy to the substitute and forget all about the reg'lar."
But John laughingly said he'd take his chances on that for just this one time. That evening be told Mary that he didn't intend to write out his city sermon. "I'm going to try my hand at the unincumbered style," he said. "It may mean a breakdown, but I don't expect it."

"Good," said Mary. "Of course you will not break down. You will be too well prepared and too anxious to succeed to fear any such catastrophe. You are not only to please on your account, but at the same time you are going to prove the excellence of my judgment.

Furniture Moving.

Baggage Delivered to and from all Trains.
Stand: Centre Depot. P. 0. Box 506, LEXINGTON,

D. J. VAUGHAN,
Practical PLUMBER,

Repairing in all its Branches.

Furnace Work and Hot Water Heating a Specialty.

Sherburne Row, Mass. Ave., Lexington.

Baggage Delivered to and from all Trains.
So John set forth on his brief pilgrimage and preached his sermon and did not break down. They were kind to him and said pleasant things to him, and Mr. Carmody was especially agreeable. And they all hoped to hear him again. So he came back quite elated and shared his elation with Mary, who shook her fair head in a manner that plainly indicated that she had said so all along.

It was the second week after John's return that a startling tragedy shocked the town. One of the oldest and most prominent citizens was killed in a brawl in the disreputable section of the place familiarly known as the Inlet. He was not a man of the strictest morality. He had periods of overindulgence in intoxicants, and he had fallen in with the gang of rowdies who made the Inlet notorious. The assault on him, however, was entirely unprovoked, and this fact, together with his prominence, made the affair the greatest sensation of many years. A memorial meeting was called by a number of citizens, headed by the editor of the leading local journal, and a programme of speakers was carefully arranged. The last speaker in the list was John Granger. He had been chosen because he represented a leading denomination and not through any belief that his eloquence would add to the success of the meeting.

The citizens assembled in the great wareroom of the agricultural works and long before the meeting opened the seats were filled and there were many standing. It was a rather long meeting and the great audience grew a little uneasy crowding about the doors when the chairman briefly introduced the Rev. John Granger.

John walked to the front of the platform and paused a moment before he commenced. He had no manuscript to restrain him, but he was full of his sub- carried, a good many come in to be ject, and he knew just what he wanted to mended.

His voice was calm and strong and at though at times misguided citizen. His tion of the place. He called upon all good citizens to awake and join hands in this work. The pastors alone could do noth-Talk would accomplish nothing. nothing. The sore of vice was there and it must be removed by heroic treatment.

He had begun his address in a quiet suggested, of course, the idea of complete tone, but presently he warmed to his subject and his voice grew louder and the words poured forth more rapidly.

He called upon the politicians to use their power to abolish the plague spot. He called upon the town officials, the scrvants of the people, to do their sworn duty. He called upon the press to agitate reform until the word rang in all He asked good men and men's ears. women of all denominations and creeds New York Sun. and race and color to come together shoulder to shoulder in this cause. "Make this a subject of daily conversation," he cried to them. "Take it with you to your stores and your shops, carry it to the polls, mingle it with your prayers."

And when he suddenly flung up his hand it was as if he had a sheaf of invisible wires that led from his tense fingers to every heart in the vast audience and a storm of applause followed. Again and again they applauded, the enthusiasm rising as he proceeded until an eloquent climax closed his address with the audience standing and vigorously cry-"We will, we will!" ing. As he stepped from the side door he encountered three gentlemen who were waiting for him. One of them he had met before, the others were strangers. But they shook hands warmly and were chatting in the most friendly way as they slowly passed up the street toward John's boarding place. The people who overtook and passed them turned and looked at John, and many of them nodded and some shook hands. It was really an ovation, as one of the gentlemen with John remarked, and John blushed and said it was rather embarrassing as well as undeserved. And when the four men reached the Dillworth gate the man who had met John before said something to him in an earnest tone, and John made a brief reply, and then the three men shook hands with John and bade him goodby.

That evening John had a caller. It was little embarrassed as he sat in the parlor edy For Dysenterical Fluxes.—Take the twirling the hat that he had refused to yield into Mary's hands.
"Mr. Granger," he presently said, "I'm a committee of one to represent the trus-tees of our church. They have sent me over to close a little deal with you. It's somethin' that should have been attended to before. An' they want me to say to you that they are very well pleased with your efforts. Yes. An' I want to say for myself that your speech this afternoon was an astonisher. Yes, sir. I didn't think you had it in you. Why, you fairly 'lectrified the folks. You've got 'em stirred up as they never were before, an' good will come of it. And now, Mr. Granger, I want to say that I'm empowered by the trustees to contract with you for two years at $800 a year-an' it's the most we ever paid a pastor, with one or two exceptions.'

John shook his head. "You're a little too late, Mr. Blodgett," he smilingly said. "I agreed this afternoon to become associate pastor of a city The deacon looked disappointed. "It's too bad," he said. "I s'pose that was the committee I saw you talkin' with after the meetin'. Of course I fancy you're gettin' a good thing out of 'em. But I'm real sorry you ain't going to stay with us. It's a good field." He paused and turned to Mary. "Can't you persuade him to change his mind, Miss Dill-

Mary blushed a little and laughed. "I don't see how I can, Mr. Blodgett," she said. "You see, we are to be married soon, and I have promised to go with him.'

"I want to know!" said the deacon .-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

One War With Few Mistakes. The war with Mexico, whether just or unjust, from a political standpoint is one of the most brilliant pages in the history of the army. While a large volume of volunteers was called out, it was fought in the main by the regular army and with scarcely a reverse from start to fin-ish. The commanding generals were still young enough for active service, but they had all had military experience in the war of 1812 and the Indian campaigns, and the regiments were filled in the lower grades with intelligent, ambitious and well educated cadets from West Point, of whom over 1,100 had been graduated between 1817, when Thayer became super-intendent, and 1845.—General F. V. Greene in Lippincott's.

"The English Mind."

You have comprehended some points of my works much more clearly than many of my compatriots and have treated them in a manner quite unknown here (in England). Broad generalization cannot be grasped by the English mind. I am pleased to see that it is otherwise in Italy.—Letter of Herbert Spencer to an Italian. MENDING POCKETKNIVES.

Sentimental Reasons That Lead People to the Cutler's Shop.

A man of an inquiring turn who had read on the front of a cutler's shop the 'Pocketknives Rebladed and handled," and who recalled the fact that when he was a boy he used to get a new blade put in sometimes when he broke one out of his knife, found, upon inquiry, that boys still get new blades put in knives just as they used to, but that, as a matter of fact, the people who have pocketknives repaired are mostly older person and that the knives are likely to be valued for their associations.

"I've carried that knife for fifty years," says one gentleman, and he hands over a knife that he's carried since he was a boy and that he'd hate to lose.

Many knives brought in for repairs are prized because they are gifts, or they were bought in some foreign country, or they just suit the hand of the man that uses them. There are various more or during the closing addresses. They were less sentimental reasons why a man may prefer to keep the old knife rather than discard it for a new one. Then it may be that in some other cases the knife is too valuable to be thrown away. So that first and last and for one reason and another, out of the vast number of pocketknives

The repairs made to pocketknives are of a varied character. They may conhis first words the people who were push sist, for example, in the putting on of one ing toward the doors paused. He was new pearl side on a pearl handled knife not repeating what had been said before. to replace a side cracked or flawed. With He made no allusion to the loss the town long use the blade at the hinged end or suffered by the demise of this liberal the spring in the handle or the rivet by which the blade is held may get worn so address was a cry for the moral purifica- that the knife blade won't close properly, or maybe the spring is no longer as it should be, flush with the back of the knife. In fact, a great many things can happen to a pocketknife, and of course Prayers without practical effort availed the more blades the more things can happen, but the cutler repairs them all.

The phrase "rebladed and rehandled" renewal, and the inquirer wondered if it might not be possible that with the repair of a knife in one part and anoth such a renewal might occur. And the cutler said that not only was it possible. but that sometimes it actually did happen that with successive renewals of its various parts the whole knife came sometimes to be entirely renewed, and there was left of the original knife nothing .-

CURIOUS MEDICINES.

Prescriptions Which Were Used Early In the Eighteenth Century. The following prescriptions which were published in 1731 show a degree of credulity hardly to be expected from "the father of modern chemistry and brother of the Earl of Cork." The book is said to be written by 'the Honorable R. Boyle, Esq., late Fellow of the Royal Society, for the benefit of "those poor Upholders of Families who cannot find or fee a Sur geon or a Doctor." Here are a few specimens:

For Convulsions, Especially In Chil dreu.-Take Earth-Worms, wash ther well in White-wine to cleanse them, but so as that they may not die in the Wine: Then upon hollow Tiles or between them, dry the Worms with a moderate Heat, and no further than that they may be conveniently reduced to Powder; to one Ounce of which add a pretty Number of Grains of Ambergrise, both to pertune the I'owder (whose Scent of itself is rank) and to make the medicine the more effica

To Prevent the Toothache and Keep the Teeth Sound .- Let the Patient frequently rub his Teeth moderately with the Ashes that remain in Tobacco-Pipes, after the rest of the Body hath been con-sumed in Smoak; some time after, washing (if need be) his Mouth with fair Water not too cold. An Uncommon but Experienced Re Bone or the Thigh of a hang'd Man (perhaps another may serve), calcine it to Whiteness, and having purg'd the Patient with an antimonial medicine, give-him 1 Dram of this White Powder for one Dose, in some good Cordial, whether Conserve or Liquor.

A Choice External Remedy For a Sore-Throat.—Take Millepedes alive, and sew them up between the Foldings of a piece of Linnen, and apply them to the Throat in the form of a stay, which is to be kept on all Night.

For an Ague.—Take of the Bone called "Platella," of the Knee of a dead Man, and having reduced it to fine Powder, give of it as much as will lie upon a groat or a six-pence for one Dose, in any proper Conserve, or fit Vehicle.-Lancet.

The Indian's Retort. Early in his career as a missionary to the Indians Bishop Whipple had journeyed into the Indian country to preach a sermon to the assembled Chippeways in Chief Good Thunder's village. Bishop Whipple had with him the costly garments of his office, which he wore on such occasions, and it became necessary to leave them unguarded in the chief's tepee. It seems that the bishop had his doubts at that time as to the inherent honesty of the average leaving he the average Indian. Before leaving he asked, turning to Good Thunder: "Chief, do you think it will be safe to leave them here?"

"Never fear, bishop," was the reply; "there isn't a white man within three miles of here."

The Mistletoe.

The mistletoe is a Druidical contribution to Christmas. It was held in great veneration by the Druids in ancient Eng-land, and the cutting of it was attended by sacrificing and feasting. With weird incantations the priest climbed the tree on which the mistletoe grew and cut it away with a knife of purest gold, no base metal being allowed to touch it. As the twigs fell they were received below in a mantle of spotless whiteness.

A Wise Boy. First Boy-It's 6 o'clock. Let's go

Second Boy—Nit. If we go home now, we'll get licked fer stayin' out so late. If we stay till 8 o'clock, we'll get hugged an' kissed fer not bein' drowned.—Puck.

Needed a Big Feed.

"I am suffewing fwom bwain fag, doc-tah," said Sapphedde. "Fish is good for that, isn't it?" "Very good," replied the doctor. "Sup-pose you begin with a medium sized whale every morning for breakfast."

The idea of driving piles with a water jet was borrowed by engineers from the clam, a small shellfish which burrows twelve to fourteen inches into hard sand or mud by this process.

TRIAL THURSDAY.

Arlington's Manslaughter Case In Order, That Day.

John G. Smith, the Colored Slayer of Patrolman Cody, Is Practically Wild at Times, Says Sheriff Fairbairn-Counsel Morgan Tries Unsuccessfully for a Delay.

John G. Smith, the slayer of Patrol-man Cody, of Arlington, has been or-dered to be ready for trial next Thurs-day. Since his arrest he has been con-fined at the East Cambridge jail. Mean-while the grand jury has returned a bill of manslaughter against him. He wus arraigned last week and refused to plead, but when of not guilty was entered. out a plea of not guilty was entered gainst him.

The case was brought to the attention against him.

The case was brought to the attention of Judge Lawton, who is presiding over the superior criminal court of Middlesex county, late Thursday afternoon, by District Attorney Wier. Mr. Wier said to the court that in his opinion the man outh to be tried this term. He is a great deal of trouble to the jail officers. The sheriff has said that the jail was no fit place for him, and that he ought not to remain there three months longer. The district attorney suggested next Wednesday as a time for trial. Clement G. Morgan, Smith's counsel, addressed the court in opposition to setting that day for the trial. He said that he had experienced a great deal of trouble in getting the man's story from him, and that he had been obliged to get it piecemeal. His greatest handicap was in the fact that the man's condition would not allow him to talk with him but a few moments at a time. Said the court: "Are you going into the irsanity part of the case?"

Mr. Morgan replied: "I do not think to, but it may turn out later on in the case, that I had better do so."

Mr. Morgan said that his client was a poor fellow, who must get his witnesses as best he can. He asked that the case, or fellow, who must get his witnesses best he can. He asked that the case, least be put at the end of the trial

Mr. Wier opposed this. He said that if it was put at the end and then some good reason developed why the case should not be tried at that time, it would that to go over to the next term. He thought that the worst predicament for the man was to leave him in Jail with mothing to do. He was willing to have the case put down for Thursday, but obdected to letting it go to the end.

Mr. Morgan expressed his opinion, which was to the effect that no great suffering on the part of the commonwealth would follow, if the trial was not held immediately.

Mr. Wier said that he thought there would be no dispute on the facts in the case. It was unjustifiable shooting, and case. It was unjustifiable shooting, and that is all manslaughter is.

Sheriff Fairbairn was called to the witness stand at this point. He said that the prisoner was a great deal of trouble at the jail. At times he was practically wild and the services of four or five men were required to care for him.

Judge Lawton said that he thought the case had better be set down for Thursday morning.

ALFRED TUFTS.

ALFRED TUFTS.

Alfred Tufts, who died early this week was born in Medford, July 8, 1818, and was a member of one of the oldest families of that city. He was a lifelong resident of the place, with the exception of the last six years, which have been spent with his daughters, Mrs. A. M. Redman, of Lexington, who died nearly three years ago, and Mrs. George D. Moore, of Arlington.

His occupation was that of ship joiner, being employed in the Charlestown navy yard for many years after the ship-building interests declined in the vicinity of Boston, Quiet and retiring in disposition his only public service was as a member of the school committee of Medford several years. An excellent multima and musical critic, he found his recreation in that line, and for many years had charge of the musical services of the Mystic church, Medford, which he had attended since its organization, and enjoyed giving freely of his time and talent in that directon. He is survived by an only orother, Larkin T. Tufts, of Malen, for many years cashier of the First onal bank of that city, and three daughters. Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Fred T. Farnsworth, of Taunton, and Mrs. Fannie G. Peckham, of West Medford.

Don't Make a Mistake

when you buy meat. If it costs a trifle less, you may think it is good economy, but if you can't est it, what then? You can est and enjoy the mests you buy of us. They are all the choicest of the best, and the prices are the lowest at which such the prices are the lowest at which such meats can be sold.

C. H. STONE & SON, Cor. Mass. and Park Aves. Arlington Heights.

Telephone 131-4 Arlington.

TTSTNFLUENCE permeates every walk

We can apply this potent force to the necessities of your business or home life. Let us send a representative to talk over details. We can interest you not only on score of excellence, but likewise economy.

Somerville Electric Light Co. P. ELLWOOD SMITH.

General Manager, 210 Willow Ave., West Somerville.

NEW STORE OPENED.

Walter K. Hutchinson of Arlington

Spection and Are Well Received.

The opening of the new store of Walter K. Hutchinson in the new block erected by the Twenty-one Associates was largely attended Thursday evening, and proved to be an unqualified success despite the fact that notice of the opening was not announced until Thursday morning. The store was thronged with people from early evening to a late hour, and the genial proprietor was busy receiving the congratulations of a host of friends. The store was closely inspected and on every hand it was remarked that a finer arrangement was never seen. ed and on every hand it was remarked that a finer arrangement was never seen. Every shelf was loaded with articles for sale and were all displayed to advan.age. The store, which covers the entire lower floor of the block, with two large entrances in front, is carefully laid out. Groceries on the one hand and meats and provisions on the other fill up the store to a convenient degree. Both desired and provisions on the other hil up the store to a convenient degree. Both de-partments are elegantly furnished with the most modern store fixtures, includ-ing plate glass show cases, computing scales, cash registers, etc. They are brilliantly lighted with combination elec-tric and gas fixtures, and the many brd.lantly lighted with combination elec-tric and gas fixtures, and the many colored lights produce a pleasing effect. Two telephones have been installed to afford the very best service possible. In the center of the store is a large pri-vate office, and in the provision depart-ment is a carefully arranged refrigerat-ing room for meats. Here was as fine a display of dressed meats, vegetables and fruits as was ever shown in Arling-ton, the two latter reminding one of a and fruits as was ever shown in Arlington, the two latter reminding one of a county fair on a small scale, while all looked "good enough to eat." The work of preparing for the opening in the very short time allotted was one of no small proportion, and the employees of Mr. Hutchinson afforded an exhibition of hustle. During the evening the clerks were all attired in new white garments, and assisted in showing the apartments. and assisted in showing the apartments were all attired in new white garments, and assisted in showing the apartments to interested visitors.

The floral display consisted of a few very choice pieces, as follows. A wreath of roses and white chrysanthemums bearing the inscription, "With best w.shes," from Mrs. W. K. Hutchinson; a large bouquet of yellow and pink chrysanthemums with the compliments of Messrs. Webster, Cook & Co., wholesale grocers of Boston; a basket of roses, chrysanthemums and ferns, with the motto, "One step higher," from Simonds Bros., wholesale fruit dealers of Boston; basket of roses, chrysanthemums, ferns, etc., from J. F. Kimball Co., dealers in butter, chesse and eggs, of Boston; basket of pinks, roses and chrysanthemums from Messrs. Sproul, Paul & Co., wholesale beef and lamb dealers, of Boston; vase of yellow chrysanthemums with inscript on "Good Luck," from J. W. Newman, the Boston florist; vase of chrysanthemums with the compliments of A man, the Boston florist; vase of chrysman, the Boston florist; vase of chrysanthemums with the compliments of A. & O. W. Mead, dealers in fruit and produce, of Boston.

Among the special displays were the Worcester Salt exhibit, the National Biscult exhibit, and the principal demonstrations were by Heinz with a display of pickles and other relishes, with Miss Becker, of Providence, as demonstrator, and a demonstration by the Mother's Oats Co. Moxie was served to all visitors. Caterer N. J. Hardy served liquid refreshments to the company, and his Victor talking machine furnished a variety of entertainment. riety of entertainment.

STOPFORD—TURNER.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alert E. Turner, 23 Jason street, Arlingon, Wednesday evening, their daughter. Miss Ella Beatrice Turner, was married to Lieut, Frederick William Stopford, U. S. A. The groom is a son of Col. Wil-liam Stopford, of Beverly. He served as liam Stopford, of Beverly. He served as captain of Co. E. 8th regiment, during the war with Spain, and in the Philippines as captain in the 42d regiment, U. S. V. At the end of his foreign service he was appointed a lieutenant in the regular army, and is now attached to the 8th coast artillery, U. S. A., stationed at Fort Trumbull. New London. The marriage was in the large pariors of the Turner home at 7 o'clock. As the party stood in the alcove of the parlors, the stars and stripes, handsomely of the Turner home at 7 o'clock. As the party stood in the alcove of the parlors, the stars and stripes, handsomely grouped formed an effective background. The mantels were banked with red chrysanthemums and a profusion of palms and ferns added to the display. The other apartments of the house were also attractively decorated with palms, ferns, pinks and chrysanthemums. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frederic Gill, pastor of the Arlington Unitarian church. Percy A. Wallace, of Beverly, was best man, and Miss Alice E. Turner, a sister of the bride, was nuaid of honor. Miss Emma Turner, a sister of the bride, was nuaid of honor. Miss Emma Turner, a sister of the bride soie, point lace and chiffon trimming. She wore a tulle veil with wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of bride roses. She also wore a sunburst of pearls, the gift of the groom, The maid of honor wore yellow peau active mings, and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Miss Emma Turner wore white mus-

mums.

Miss Emma Turner wore white mus-lin, trimmed with lace and white sat-in ribbons, and carried a basket of pinks. lin, trimmed with lace and white satin ribbons, and carried a basket of pinks. A reception was held from 8 to 10, and was attended by several hundred guests. Many prominent officers of the state militia were present, also many brother officers of the groom in the regular army Among the officers were Col. William A. Pew, of Gloucester, Lieut. Col. Bailey, Major Eldridge and other officers of the 8th regiment, Lieut. Stopfords old regiment. Mr. and Mrs. Altert E. Turner, parents of the bride, and Col. and Mrs. William Stopford, parents of the groom, assisted in receiving.

Mrs. Turner wore black peau de soie, with white and blue velvet trimmings and sequins. Mrs. Stopford was attired in gray taffeta silk, with light pink chiffon trimmings and sequins.

The ushers were Lieut. Re. Howard Williams, of Fort Warren, Lieut. Wm. C. Kitts, 21st U. S. A. Daniel II. Woodbury, of Jamalea Plain, and Carl II. Sampson, of Roxbury. During the hours of the reception a program of choice concert music was given by the orchestra. The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful presents.

The gifts to the ushers were handsome pearl stick pins. The maid of honor also received a handsome pearl pin.

Lieut and Mrs. Stopford will reside at pearl stick pins. The maid of honor also received a handsome pearl pin.

Lieut and Mrs. Stopford will reside at Fort Trumbull, where the groom is stationed.

LYDIA A. BROWN.

Mrs. Lydia A. Brown died from heart disease last week Friday evening, at the home of the Haley family in East Lexington, where she had resided for the past ten years. Funeral services were held at the deceased's residence, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. C. A. Staples, of Lexington, officiated, and spoke very feelingly on the life of the deceased. The interment was at Mt. Auburn cemetery. Deceased was 65 years of age. The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful.

SLOD TOANE'S HORSE TALK N. J. Hardy has purchased Libby P. 2.271/2). She will keep some of the boys (2.2%). She will keep some of the boysguessing this winter.

Mrs. J. G. Paine is driving Sleepy Dick
(2.24) on the road.

Ben Pike bought a new pacer this week. He is a good little one.

E. C. Turner's coach team look handsome since they were clipped.

Nancy Hanks is now the fastest mare

Nancy Hanks is now the fastest mare living.

Jere O'Neil won second money at Westheld in a free-for-all race with Chehalis last week.

Arlington (2.08½) won second money at Manchester. N. H., this week. This horse was once owned by W. B. Farmer. Dr. Alderman has bought back the colt that he lost at the Combination Park colts race, from Mr. Parker, of Bedford.

G. A. Law just got a new pacer that can go some in a sleigh.

F. P. Stearns. Arlington Heights, owns a gray horse that can step on the road with any man's borse.

Mr. Langlan, who had charge of the new car house, has been ordered back to his old place at Roxbury.

ARLINGTON LOCALS.

Has Model Apartments in Associates' Block—Visitors Make Tour of Inspection and Are Well Received.

The opening of the new store of Waller K. Hutchinson in the new block rected by the Twenty-one Associates and proved to be an unqualified successes and proved to be an unqualified successes as the fact that notice of the opening. The store was thronged with copie from early evening to a late hour, not the genial proprietor was busy remained to open this week, and the services of a safe expert were in demand. Less than 30 minutes after he started upon his task he had the safe unlocked.

A whist party was given in K. of C. hall last evening by Arlington council, K of C. There were 25 tables of whist. Dancing followed until a late hour. The committee in charge was: J. Lane, J. Hearn, H. J. Welsh, B. F. O'Nell, and B. B. Corrigan. The prize winners at whist were: First, Miss Josie Lane and T. F. Welch; second, Miss Alice Sullivan, of Somerville, and Gerald Keenan.

The first of a series of eight assemblies The first of a series of eight assemblies was given in the town hall last evening by Miss Alice Horner, of Pleasant street. There was a very large attendance.

The fourth annual ball of Bar State Loyal Orange lodge will be held in the town hall. Thursday evening. Dec. 12. Martin's orchestra will furnish an nour s oncert, to be followed by dancing until

At Odd Fellows' hall, Wednesday evening, the classic impersonator, Newton Beers, will characterize in monologue. "David and Jonathan." He will represent a large list of characters and his reputation will doubtless give him a arge audience.

Mrs. S. G. Damon will read a paper before the Historical society at its next meeting, having for her subject the un-graded district school, following its graded district sensor, following his growth up to our present system of graded schools. It had been announced that the Rev. Mr. Bushnell at this next meeting of the society would read a paper, giving a history of the Pleasant Street Congregational church, but other eroagements and demands have so en-croached upon Mr. Bushnell's time, that his paper is deferred until a subsequent date.

date.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ilsley, of Pond lane, were pleasant evening, by a control of friends, the occasion being the their marriage. If their marriage, the date of the marriage of the marriage of the manufacture of the number.

S. C. Bushnell and Selectman Crosby were of the number. were of the number.

An entertalment was given Thursday evening by the Ida Butler Rebekah ledge. The plane solo was by Miss Eth-el Goodwille: singing by Mrs. W. B. Nangler: violin solo by Master Needham. A collation was served.

Any family desiring a man to care the furnace, look after the stable, and a good coachman, and a man handy about the house, and faithful in every way, can hear of such a man by calling at the Enterprise office.

W. E. Wood, of the firm of W. T. Wood & Co., returned from Enffalo on Wednesday morning. The exhibit that this company has made at the exposition of its hardware tools of all sorts and kinds, has attracted the attention of ice tool dealers and icemen throughout the country.

W. K. Hutchinson recently lost a female dog, which he valued highly. It was an irish terrier and had a number of pups born recently. The little ones are now taking nourishment from a bot-

William A. Murray, of 1450 Massachu-William A. Murray, of 1450 Massachusetts avenue, formerly conductor on the Boston Elevated, and later a substitute transfer man at the centre station, who has on several occasions been engaged in the claim department of the road in Boston, is at present doing duty again at the latter place, and his many friends hope he will be allowed to remain at that post, as he is regarded as an efficient official. He has been very popular with the public as well as the officials of the road, and his promotion, if it is such, is believed to be deserved.

Frank P. Tilton, a prominent citizen

Frank P. Tilton, a prominent citizen of Whiteface, N. H., gave the Enterprise office a pleasant call recently. Daniel L. Tappen, 269 Massachusetts avenue, entertained Mr. Tilton at his home, and took him oraund Arlington and other suburbs of Boston behind a pair of his fiet roadsters.

The Arlington contingent of Clan The Arlington contingent of Clan Lindsay, Order of Scotish Clans, of Norch Cambridge, among whom are Messrs, Thomas Parker, Wm. Massey Alex. Bowman and J. M. Monahan, attended a smoke talk and social of the order in Odd Fellows hall, North Cambridge, Wednesday evening. A part of the musical program was furnished by Clansman J. M. Monahan, the popular Janitor of the Arlington Boat club, who operated his phonograph to the delight of all present.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. Communion service was observed at the Congregational church at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Next Tuesday the ladies of the Congregational churches of Arlington and Arlington Heights will give a supper and entertainment at the Seaman's Bethel on Hanover street, Boston, to a large company of sailors. Over 200 are expected.

company of sailors. Over 200 are expected.

The Bradshaw Missionary society held a meeting at the Congregational church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock which was largely attended. Miss Cole, a missionary from Bulgaria, spoke. Tea was served by Mrs. Myron Taylor and Mrs. Edward I. Grover. Miss Cole met with the missionary Miss Stone just before her capture.

ASSOCIATES BLOCK.

The Associates block, as the new structure in Arlington Center is called, is nearly completed, and the lower floor is now occupied by Walter K. Hutchinson, grocer and provision dealer. The second floor will contain offices well finished and the previous half, which will accommodate. a banquet hall which will accommodate 125 persons. The third floor has a good sized hall 40 x 42 feet, which is capable of seating 375 persons easily. The main entrance for the offices and hall is at 661 Massachusetts avenue.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

The annual harvest supper of the Universalist parish was held in the vestry of the church. To satay evening, and was attended by a large number of the parishioners. The stepy was attractively decorated with autumn follage dresses pertines of the occasion were delivered by Rector, Rev. S. H. James Albion, (Malden, and rev. F. A. Rishee, A. musical program was giv-James Albion, (Maiden and Rev. F. A. Bisbee. A musical program was given by Mrs Sargent, soprano, Miss Caira Higgins, planist, and Henry A. Leeds, flute soloist.

THE GOOD TEMPLARS.

THE GOOD TEMPLARS.

The audience was not large which gathered in Knights of Columbus hall, Arlington, Wednesday evening, but those present were thoroughly interested, as was evidenced by their staying until the hour of ten.

The grand chief templar of the state, Sidney W. Hitchins presided and made an address, Grand Secretary Mrs. Sarah A. Leonard, District Lecturer for Middlesex Arthur Willis and Rev. James Yeames, of Arlington, also spoke. Mr. Yeames has been thirty years a member of the order, and has held its highest office. He strongly recommended the organization for its thoroughness, its educational value and missionary enterprise.

Seven persons took the obligation of the order, and about as many more are ready to join. A meeting will be called at an early date for the institution of a lodge.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH. Sunday services at St. John's church, Academy street: Morning prayer and sermon, 10.30; evensong and sermon, 7.30, The rector, Rev. James Yeames, will preach at each service.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

John White will lead the C. E. meeting tomorrow at 6.30. The subject is "Our National Bondage."

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.
The Middlesex Endeavor union is to hold a grand rally in the Pleasant Street.
Congregational church Nov. 20 both afternoon and evening. Live topics are to be discussed and good speakers are to take part. It promises to be a meeting of unusual interest.

ARLINGTON BOAT CLUB.

The bowling record at the club for the last week is: Saturday, Marcien 1888; Monday, G. Homer and W. S. Durgir 1864; G. D. Hill and J. Coleman 961; W. Homer and R. Homer 1888, Whittemore and Allen 1015; Tuestlay, Jordar and Johnson 864, Hunton and Cobb 780, W. Homer and R. Homer 1000, Reed and Elwell 1000; Wednesday, Wood and James 884. Whittemore and Allen 992; Brooks and Mansfield 966, Durgin and Puffer 865; Thursday, Wheeler and Atwood 774, Freeman and Fiske 892; Wood and Jones 785. W. Homer and R. Homer 923; Radcliffe and Marden 855, Hartwell and Puffer 884.

SERIOUSLY BURNED.

The three year old son of J. Joseph Hurley of 18 Cleveland street, Arlington was seriously burned Wednesday noon, while playing with a group of boys while playing with a group of around some piles of burning leaves around some piles of burning leaves. An older boy threw some of the burning for ligate by means of a stick against the Hurley child, whose clothes caught fire. His mother seeing the danger rushed up and attempted to extinguish the blake, but was unsuccessful although considerably burned herself. A passing ice man, however, put out the fire by rolling the young lad in his cost. The child was skilffully treated by Dr. Dennett and it is now believed he will recover, although at first the worst was feared.

ARLINGTON WOMAN'S CLUB

A large audience gathered at G A. R. hall, yesterday morning, at the opening meeting of the Woman's club to hear the first of a very fine program provided for the winter's entertainment. After the usual business and reports, showing the club to be in a most promising condition, over thirty new names being proposed for membership, the audience listened to two 'cello solos rendered very finely by Leon Van Vilst. The speaker, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, was then introduced by the new president, Mrs. Caroline M. Y. Dennett. Her subject, most entertainingly treated, was brief outline of the growth and development of woman from her position velopment of woman from her position a brief outline of the growth and development of woman from her position of merely a slave to man, to her present one, that of an individual equal to him, striving constantly for the betterment of self and her fellow-women. Following the address, light refreshments were served by Mrs. R. D. Greene and Mrs. George Russell in the hall below. Several classes were formed and will begin work shortly.

The art class will meet with Michael Robbins, Friday, at 4 p.m.

The mothers' class, under Miss Margaret W. Morley, whose subject is the Renewal of Life: How and when to Tell the Story," will hold its meetings at G. A. R. lower hall, on alternate Fridays at 10 a.m. (provided a class of 75 can be procured). Applications for the course of six talks may be made to Mrs. W. H. Heustis, chairman of home department.

The class in cooking will begin a course partment.

The class in cooking will begin a course of six lessons under Miss Ewart, Nov. 19. meeting alternate Tuesdays in G. A. R. lower hall. Applications may be made to Mrs. W. H. Heustis. First lesson will be "A Thanksgiving Dinner."

The next meeting of the club will be Nov. 21 at 2.45 p.m. at the town hall. Mrs. Elizabeth. B. Custer will sneak on "Garrison Life on the Plains." Each member may obtain one guest ticket before Nov. 19 from the treasurer.

PIGGERIES MUST GO.

At the session of the court at Cambridge, Tuesday, Judge Fox announced that he approved the town by-laws which were passed at the town meeting last March by which it is provided that after Jan. 1, 1902, the large piggeries maintained by Arlington citizens, and which have been considered a dangerous nuisance and menace to public health for some years past, will be abolished. The decision of the judge apparently ends a long and interesting struggle.

BELMONT WINS.

The Belmont high school second foot-ball eleven defeated the Arlington Boys' Athletic club on Harrison's field in Bel-Athletic club on Harrison's field in Belmont, Wednesday afternoon by a score of 29 to 0. The lineup of the Belmont team was: Bakeman, f.b.; Langley, l.h.b.; Hernandez, r.h.b.; Troy, c.; A. Langley, l.h.b.; Hernandez, r.h.b.; Troy, c.; A. Langley, l.e.; Husband, r.e.; Loftus, l.g.; Wikins, r.g.; Donahue, l.t.; Clye, r.t.; Whalen, q.b. Tbe Arlington lineup was: Marriga, f.b.; Gée, l.h.b.; Holt, r.h.b.; Bacon, c.; Hall, l.e.; Riley, r.e.; Dunn, r.g.; Bacon, l.g.; Quinn, l.t.; Gott, r.t.; Roden, q.b.; Grannoh, l.t. Husband captained the Belmont team and Gott captained the Arlington boys. The latter claim they were deceived by the Belmont boys who pretended the ninth grade Belmonters would play the visitors, but instead brought out the large upper grade boys. For all that a return game may be arranged between the two teams.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Next Monday night will be a premiere occasion of double interest, for there is announced an initial presentation by Charles Frohman of a new star and a new play together, the first being Virginiar Harned, who has hitherto been equally starred with her husband. E. H. Sothern, and the second being the late Maurice Thompson's romantic Indiana novel, entitled "Alice of Old Vincennes," which has been dramatized for Miss novel, entitled "Alice of Old Vincennes," which has been dramatized for Miss Harned expressly by Edward E. Rose. Seldom will there have been seen at the Colonial a pombination of such strength as the forthcoming one—a trained star, a brilliant novelist, an often-successful dramatist and a resourceful manager. The wide popularity of the novel itself leaves small doubt of the acceptability of the stage version Mr Rose has prepared for Mr. Frohman's exploitation. Suffice it to say that Miss Marned is pared for Mr. Frohman's exploitation. Suffice it to say that Miss Marned is credited with a possession of confidence in the new play that should at least ensure as good reputation in the new play as it enjoyed at its recent premiere in Cleveland. The work is described as a romance of the early days of Indiana during the American Revolution. The outlines of the heroine are nobly drawn in the novel, and are said to be as invitingly repeated in Mr. Rose's stage copy. It is the picture of a type of American womanhood with which the struggles of the colonies abounded. Miss Harned's individual fitness for the impersonation of the role of Alice, was first Harned's individual fitness for the impersonation of the role of Alice, was first intimated by the author, to which the dramatist and manager, judges who should be well qualified to decide on such a point, at once assented. It is, therefore, a natural sequence that public anticipation for this attraction should be strong thereabout. Numberless theatre parties are in formation here and in the suburbs to attend the engagement. The scenes of the play are in Vincennes, Indiana, and the period 1778. The cast and mounting given by Mr. Frohman are beyond question creditable to that manager. Mathrees on Wednesday and Saturday are announced during the Colonial engagement, which same is limited to two weeks.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

'Winchester.'' the new war meld-drama will receive its first production in Boston at the Grand Opera House next week. It is a new war play with scenes in the Shenandoah Valley, and like most plays of its kind has to do with the love of a Southern girl for a Northern officer, who always arrives just in time, in spite of her great devotion to the South, to save her lover from calamity or death. In "Winchester" there are many thrilling scenes, one where the heroire (Miss Margaret May) saves her Northern lover, coming on horseback with the pardon just a second before he is to be shot.

CTITOSON-MATTSON-In Arlington, Saturday, Nov. 2, by Rev. L. F. Johnnsson, John W. Otttoson and Mary Mattson, both of Arlington,

Grey's orchestra is prepared to resume engagements for all orchestral work the coming season. Single planist furnished when desired. For terms, etc., address Frank H. Grey. 32 Addison street, Ar-lington. Telephone 237-7. of Shereuras Pow, Mass. Ave., Lanta

Arlington Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Flint, of Mansfield, Ct., have purchased the house at 37 Hillside avenue and will reside there. The place was the property of George A. Lloyd. Mr. Flint was until recently the president of the Connecticut Agricultural college.

Agricultural college. The Severy Process Co.'s works have been closed for the past week.

George W. Thompson has sold his estate in Dundee road and Arnold street, Arlington Heights, consisting of dwellirs house, stable and about 9250 square feet of land, to Joseph I. McLaugnin, of Boston. Who buys on private terms. John B. Fitzpatrick and D. J. Cronin were the brokers. were the brokers.

Mrs. H. H. Kendall and daughter re Mrs. H. H. Kendall and daughter turned last week Friday from a long and delightful visit to Buffalo and Chicago. The Sunshine club will hold a food sale at the residence of Mrs. T. J. Jernegan. 177 Park avenue, Saturday, Nov. 16, from to 5 pm. All are welcome.

Everett Simpson, who has been ill with rneumonia, has returned to his home to recuperate before attacking books again. Herbert A. Snow is sick with a slow fever. While it is not serious, it will confine him to the house for some days. The Sunshine club held its monthly business meeting on Wednesday after-noon, with Mrs. John G. Taylor on Az-ton street, who proved a delightful hostess. Refreshments were served, and it was voted by the club to hold a food sale on the third Saturday afternoon of each month, at the residence of Mrs. Jeregan, on Park avenue. The public is invited. Hours of the sale from 3 to o'clock

The beautiful residence of Mrs. Farm er has been given a new coat of paint, and looks more attractive than ever. The old Timothy Eaton mansion has been enlarged at both ends and makes quite an imposing appearance among the row buildings round about.

The Baxters have moved to Brookline and their house is for sale. George Lloyd, who has sold his house has gone to Cambridge.

Mr. Snow and family, from Somerville, have moved into the new house on Tanager street. Mr. Snow was in business at Quincy market years ago, and was well acquainted with Mr. Robbins, who gave Arlington its public library.

Miss Adeline M. Barr, from Caveras, Florida, is visiting her brother, Russell W. Barr, at his home on Lancaster road.

Russell W. Barr has just completed a new cottage on Lancaster avenue.

Miss Martha Wentworth, principal of the Locke school, has moved from her home near the corner of Park and Appleton streets to the new house at the corner of Appleton and Hillside streets. T. H. Baxter, of Park avenue, has moved to Jamaica Plain.

The Missos Dwelley intend to run subscription party in Crescent ha Chanksgiving eve. Mrs. Ayer, who has been lately travel-ing in California, intends to spend the winter on Park avenue.

winter on Park avenue.

Dr. Ring. of the Sanitarium, Arlington Heights, is an unusually pleasant man with whom to converse, whether face to face or through the telephone. One of the Enterprise reporters had a 'phone talk with the doctor, recently, and learned that his sanitarium is well filled with patients. The delightful site on which the sanitarium is stuated goes far in restoring the unfortunate sick, while the doctor does the rest.

The grounds around Mr. Swett's house while the doctor does the rest.

The grounds around Mr. Swett's house on Claremont avenue, the place formerly known as the Cushing place, have been wonderfully improved, and another summer will show a lovely lawn and surroundings. The contrast is very marked, as the grounds had been allowed to grow up to weeds and showed marked neglect for surroundings of a new residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Farmer

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B Farmer expect to occupy their new and delightful home at Coolidge Corner. Sewall avenue Brookline, the first week in December. A reporter of the Enterprise had an interview, last week, with Miss Beatrice Farmer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Farmer. Beatrice leads the baby kind in all that goes to make up an attractive infancy. She promises well for her teens. The fond parents may feel proud of her.

feel proud of her.

Capt. J. N. Mann, of 49 Wollaston avenue, has returned from the Maine woods with his company of Nimrods, C. A. Currier, H. M. Munroe and G. A. Vickery, of Lexington, E. A. Norton and E. S. Locke, Roxbury, W. F. Cobb, Allston, J. W. Smart, Arlington, and Samuel L. Noyes, Somerville. This goodly company, with the captain, were on the hunt for deer for six days, and during this brief time they brought down eighten deer, an unusual record in the shooting line. Mr. Cobb shot a buck weighing 240 pounds. Capt. Mann came across ing line. Mr. Cobb shot a buck weighing 240 pounds. Capt. Mann came across the skeleton of a big moose. Mr. Cobb got lost one day in the dense woods and after wandering about for a long while, and firing three shots into the air, that some one of the company might come to his help, he was found within 90 feet of the company's camp. A jolly, successful hunt was had by this company of nine.

EX-PUBLISHER DEAD. Warren Dow, of Plattsburgh, N. Y., a brother of Joseph Dow, of Arlington Heights died at his home recentiv after a long and active career. The deceased was deputy U. S. marshal during Buchanan's administration, and had held the position ever since. He was a printer and publisher for several years, and was the instigator of several telegraph and telephone companies. He held the record for deporting Chinamen to China of those who had violated the Chinese exclusion who had violated the Chinese exclusion

YOUNG LADIES ENTERTAIN.

The Farther Lights, a missionary circle of nine young ladies, connected with the Arlington Heights Baptist church, gave an entertainment and social in Union hall, Monday evening. The following program was rendered:

Greeting seng; scripture reading Farther Lights; prayer Rev. A. W. Lorimer; secretary's report; song, Father Lights; plea for China, Miss Florence Bacon in Chinese costume; reading, Miss Florence Streeter; song. "The Gospel's Moving On"; plea for Japan, Miss Sadie Huckins in Japanese costume; song, "The Farther Lights Are Shining"; dialogue by Misses Bacon, Florence Bacon, Miss Hart, Miss Gundrum, Miss Finley, Miss Huckins, Miss Beaugland; reading. "The Maid and the Mite Box," Miss Florence Streeter; reading. "Her Gift," Miss Florence Bacon; opening of the mite boxes; treasurer's report; remarks, Mrs, Burtt; song, "Send the Light," Miss Tingley, planist; motto of the circle, "The light that shines brightest, shines farthest from home."

At the close of the entertainment, Miss Huchins and Miss F, Bacon served tea and cake. Miss Tingley and Miss Beaugland attended at the candy table where home made candies were sold; Miss Bacon, and Miss Streeter; presided over the table where native ferns and leaves from Burmah were tastefully arraged on cards.

The proceeds of the entertainment cards.

The proceeds of the entertainment were $22.50. clearing free of expenses. $19. The Farther Lights circle was formed last March through the influence of Mrs. Isa Burtt. The officers are as follows: President, Miss Sadie Bacon; vice president, Miss Lena Tingley; secretary, Miss Sadie Huckins; treasurer, Miss Florence Streeter, Under the leadership of Mrs. Burtt the circle is prosperous and helpful. The circle is studying the different foreign countries where missions are ful. The circle is studying the different foreign countries where missions are found. The next meeting will be held Tuesday in the church at 7.30 p.m. Young ladies interested are invited to visit the circle.

PARK AVENUE CHURCH.

The congregations at the Park Avenue church were large last Sunday. The pastor preached on "The Church, the Body of Christ."

In the evening the Endeavor society held an instructive and impressive meeting, the subject being, "The Piedge to Read the Bible." The guestion of the piedge as a principle in life was emphasized. Miss Josie Learned was leader.

Monday and Thursday Rev. Mr. Taylor was called to Melrose Highlands to attend the funerals of former parishlonattend the funerals of former parishioners.

Tuesday evening Mr. (Taylor spoke at the Wood Memorial church, Cambridgeport, in a series of special services being held at that place.

The missionary committee of the Endeavor society is anticipating an interesting meeting the third Sunday evening in November, taking the Miss Stone kidnapping as the subject.

The chorus, under the leadership of Wm. E. Lloyd, is doing fine work, and contributes not a little to the worship. It meets Saturday evenings.

It meets Saturday evenings.

Mr. Patterson having resigned the janitorship of the church, Mr. Callahan, who takes care of the Locke school, has been appointed in his place. He began work Nov. 1.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Young Men's league held its usual meeting with Walter Harris at his home on Lowell place, on Tuesday home on Lowell place.
evening.
The Ladies' Sewing circle of the church held its meeting at Mrs. Salter's. Lowell street, Wednesday after-

METHODIST CHURCH.

Services tomorrow at the M. E. church will be of special interest, Preaching by the pastor, W. G. Smith, in the morning, and by Rev. Mr. Buzza after the Epworth league in the evening. Special music. The Sunday school is preparing a harvest concert program to be rendered soon.

PARK THEATRE.

"Lovers' Lane" is an enormous popular success. There is curtain call after curtain call at the end of every act, in fact the enthustasm is greater than has been vented upon any other new entertainment of the Boston season. "Lovers' Lane" is a hearty, wholesome play of the finest fibre, aglow with honest. tainment of the Boston season. "Lovers Lane" is a hearty, wholesome play of the finest fibre, aglow with honest, cleanly fun and sparkling with sentiment. It sends one away refreshed and diverted. It compels people to talk about it. It keeps an audience in a tumult of merriment, and once in a wante there is a sprinkle of tears like a passing April shower that leaves the sunshine all the more grateful and general. Such a play is a sermon. It does everyone good: it charms the children and teaches the old folks. It goes home to the hearts of the people; even the smallest part is admirably acted, and the ensemble is delightful. Under this season's schedule at the Park, an excellent orchestra seat is to be had for $1.00. Thousands have seen and enjoyed "Lovers' Lane," and many other thousands will enjoy it.

IMPORTANT NOTICE. VACCINATION.

In view of the increasing number of In view of the increasing number of cases of small pox in our vicinity, and the persistent way in which it assert itself, the Board of Health respectfully urges all persons who have not been successfully vaccinated within five years, to attend to the matter at once, that we may assist in staying the progress of this disease before in gets a firm hold in our centre of population.

EDWARD S. FESSENDEN, EDWARD P. STICKNEY, M. D. EDWIN MILLS,

STOP WORKING FOR OTHERS

You'll never get ahead that way. Join the PRUDENTIAL COLONY OF VIRGINIA

a progressive community composed of northern people, and enjoy life as Nature intended you should. Get out of the rut. A small truck farm on easy terms—$8 down and $1 a month-will make you independent. Delightful climate; within easy reach of the largest markets in the world; two crops a year; good hunting; fish and oysters in abundance. Write for pamphlet fully describing the plans of the Colony, and learn what others are doing. Address THE PRUDENTIAL COLONY OF VIRGINIA 105 EAST 14TH ST., NEW YORK, N. Y.

T. M. CANNIFF, Hairdresser,

943 Mass. ave., Arlington JAMES E. DUFFY,

Hair Dresser,

Pool Room Connected. 461 Massachusetts Avenue, Arlington.

MY SPECIALTY correcting such Eye troubles as are caused by Defective Vision, etc. Oculists' Prescriptions Compounded.

OPTICAL REPAIRING. Prices as low as is consistent with requirements. FRED W. DERBY, Refracting Optician, 458 Massachusetts Ave. Arlington.

THE BEST ICE CREAM is to be had at KIMBALL'S, Arington Heights.

His Lunch service is unsurpassed. Try our Ice Cream Soda-none better.

C. H. GANNETT. CIVIL ENGINEER AND SURVEYOR. Room 112, Exchange Building, State St., Beston. Telephone 3856-3. Residence, Academy St., Arlingt n.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.
The co-partnership heretofore existing between J. Stedman and Alfred Duncan, between J. Stedman and Alfred Duncan, both of Arlington, under the firm name of Stedman & Duncan, is hereby dissolved by mutual consent, the said J. Stedman assuming all liabilities of, and receiving all amounts due, the firm.

J. STEDMAN,
ALFRED DUNCAN,
Arlington, Mass., Nov. 7, 1901.

TO LET.

BOARD AND ROOMS. Steam heat.
One room suitable for two gentlemen.
Lovely view across Spy pond. Call and see them. Adam's house, 355 Massachusetts avenue, corner Wyman street, Ar

TO LET.

EXCEEDINGLY ATTRACTIVE FLAT of five rooms, bath and store room in new house, All improvements, 1253 Massachusetts avenue, Arlington Heights.

FURNISHED ROOM, one minute from depot, hot and cold water in bath, furnace heat, nicely furnished. Address X. Y. Z., Enterprise office, BUSINESS MAN, some capital, to manage co-operative granary and ware-house. American Farm Co., Buffalo, N.

A SMALL GOLD AND ENAMELLED WATCH between Robbins road and Arlington Heights, on Massachusetts avenue, Park avenue or Lowell street. The finder will please return to 1171 Massachusetts avenue and receive reward,